

Looking for Writing Advice?

The Writing Center can help.

Meet one-to-one with a consultant for sound advice at ANY stage of the writing process. We can teach you strategies to formulate and organize strong thesis statements, use and cite evidence appropriately, improve style and grammar, and overcome writer's block. Our services are FREE to all CU Boulder students, faculty, staff and alumni.

2009 Fall Hours (August 31st – December 15th)
By appointment only

M-Th	10am-7pm
Fri	10am-1pm
Sun*	1pm-6pm (*During Mid-term and Finals, dates TBA)

Norlin Commons E-111
(303) 735-6906

Visit: <http://www.colorado.edu/pwr/writingcenter.html>
Register for a free account on our scheduling page
Schedule a one-to-one appointment

Sponsored by the Program for Writing and Rhetoric
You've got the PWR!

Writing Center Overview

Who we are

- Trained experts in teaching collegiate writing—many of our consultants are also teaching faculty in the Program for Writing and Rhetoric

What we do

- Offer FREE one-to-one appointments with Writing Consultants to discuss a piece of your writing
- Provide feedback and advice about all aspects of writing from thesis statements, organization and development to evidence, logic, and audience issues
- Work with writers of ALL levels and disciplines from freshmen writing composition papers to graduate students writing dissertations and faculty writing conference papers
- Accept papers at any stage from outline to revision; we also help with resumes and personal statements
- Help you learn about and address grammar, style and citation concerns
- Show you how to cite, quote and paraphrase correctly to avoid plagiarism

What we don't do

- “Fix” papers FOR you—we won't edit/correct/proofread your paper. However, we are always glad to work WITH you to understand your grammar, style and clarity concerns so you can learn to fix them yourself
- Offer drop-off, online or telephone consultations. We believe that face-to-face conversation about writing, much like visiting a professor's office hours, is the best way for you to learn how to improve your writing
- Provide tutoring outside of writing and rhetorical concerns—if you need help with a specific concept from your class, we suggest visiting the professor or TA.
- Assist with papers that count for exam or test grades UNLESS you can provide proof of professor permission for us to work with you

How to book an appointment

1. Visit: <http://www.colorado.edu/pwr/writingcenter.html>

2. Click the words "Click here." The logon page for the Writing Center schedule will appear.

3. Click the words "Click here to register" to create a free account on our online scheduling software. You'll be asked to create a username and password and provide some demographic information.

4. Log on to the Writing Center schedule once you've completed the registration page.

5. Navigate schedule by scrolling down to view this week's schedule.

6. Use the color key to find an available time that works for you. White boxes represent available appointment times.

7. Click on an available time slot. A pop-up window will appear.

8. Click “Save” to reserve the appointment. A confirmation announcement will appear on your screen and you'll receive an email reminder about your appointment. Please don't forget to fill out the appointment confirmation form before you meet with us.