Lecture:  MTWRF 9:15am – 10:50 am, EDUC 220

Course Description:
This is an introductory course to the concepts of microeconomics. Microeconomics is broadly defined as the study of individual’s and firm’s decisions – why do people do what they do in a market setting? The course is served to introduce you to the basics of economic theory, which tries to model features of the economy. These concepts include supply and demand, determination of prices, international trade, taxes, and welfare analysis. The introduction to theory will prepare students for future study of economics at the intermediate and advanced level.

This course serves as an excellent foundation for future study in economics, business, law, political science, sociology, and just generally being an informed human being. Understanding economics goes a long way for understanding why things are the way they are.

Textbook:

You can find this at the bookstore, or online. Used copies and old editions are okay to use.

Prerequisites:
This is an intro class with no prerequisites, though a basic understanding of algebra and graphical analysis will be expected.

Teaching Assistant:

Recitations:  Section 101: Monday and Wednesday 12:45 – 2:05, ECON 205
Section 102: Tuesday and Thursday 11 – 12:20, ECON 117
Grading

• Midterm 1 – 25%
• Midterm 2 – 25%
• Recitation – 25%

Best 2 of the Above 3 – 50%

• Final – 35%
• Clickers – 15%

Note: I will drop the lowest grade of Midterm 1, Midterm 2, and Recitation. Make-ups for exams will not be given for any reason. The Final will not be dropped. You must meet with my personally to discuss grades, I cannot release information via email.

Midterm 1 – 25% - Wednesday, June 12th (tentative)
Midterm 1 will cover the topics of the course up until June 12th. It will consist of multiple-choice questions. I will provide you with more information about this as the exam approaches.

Midterm 2 – 25% - Monday, June 24th (tentative)
Midterm 2 will cover the topics of the course since the first Midterm until June 24th.

Midterms will be given in the classroom (EDUC 220), during the second half of class (10 – 10:50).

Recitation – 25%
These recitations are led by Alexander Hill and will meet weekly. Your recitation leader will decide how the recitation grade will be determined, and it will be a combination of quizzes and class participation. This is a four credit course with one credit coming from the recitation (thus 25% of the grade), so I expect you to take it seriously. TAs are an EXTREMELY VALUABLE resource and please go to their office hours as much as possible if you have a question.

Clickers – 15%
You need to get and register a CU Clicker for this course. Clickers will be used to answer questions that are posed periodically throughout class. To get full credit in this section, you will be present in class and answer the question correctly. You will still get partial credit for answering questions.

Your lowest 10 clicker scores will be dropped. One individual using multiple clickers constitutes as cheating. If you are caught using more than one clicker all individuals tied to the offense will lose 5 percentage points off of their final grade.
Final - 35% - Friday July 5th, 9:15 – 10:50 am

The final exam will be comprehensive and will cover the full course. About half of the final will cover topics since the second midterm, and the first half will cover topics previous. The questions on the first half of the final will not be too technical, but will cover topics that any student of economics should understand.

Laptop/Classroom Respect Policy

There are no laptops allowed in this classroom. You can print out lecture slides and bring them to class in advance. If I see a laptop in the classroom, I will take away points from your clicker grade. The only exception to this rule is if disability services mandate that you must be allowed to use a laptop for note taking purposes. In this case, an official letter from disability services is required.

Class Attendance

You are responsible for all material covered in class lectures. Attendance at all lectures is strongly recommended and necessary to achieve the best possible Clicker grade.

Tentative Course Outline:

Below are the topics that I want to cover, but this is tentative and as the semester continues topics may be added or dropped.

ADDITIONAL NOTES

Students with Disabilities
If you qualify for accommodations because of a disability, please submit to me a letter from Disability Services in a timely manner so that your needs be addressed. Disability Services determines accommodations based on documented disabilities. Contact: 303-492-8671, Center for Community N200, and http://www.Colorado.EDU/disabilityservices.

If you have a temporary medical condition or injury, see guidelines at http://www.colorado.edu/disabilityservices/go.cgi?select=temporary.html.

Disability Services' letters for students with disabilities indicate legally mandated reasonable accommodations. The syllabus statements and answers to Frequently Asked Questions can be found at http://www.colorado.edu/disabilityservices.

Religious Observance Policy
Campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to deal reasonably and fairly with all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled exams, assignments or required attendance. In this class, if you have a conflict, please contact me at the beginning of the term so that we can make proper arrangements. See full details at http://www.colorado.edu/policies/fac_relig.html.

Classroom Behavior Policy
Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Those who fail to adhere to such behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Professional courtesy and sensitivity are especially important with respect to individuals and topics dealing with differences of race, color, culture, religion, creed, politics, veteran's status, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, and gender expression, age, disability, and nationalities. Class rosters are provided to the instructor with the student's legal name. I will gladly honor your request to address you by an alternate name or gender pronoun. Please advise me of this preference early in the semester so that I may make appropriate changes to my records. See policies at http://www.colorado.edu/policies/classbehavior.html and at http://www.colorado.edu/studentaffairs/judicialaffairs/code.html#student_code.

Discrimination and Harassment Policy
The University of Colorado at Boulder Discrimination and Harassment Policy and Procedures, the University of Colorado Sexual Harassment Policy and Procedures, and the University of Colorado Conflict of Interest in Cases of Amorous Relationships Policy apply to all students, staff, and faculty. Any student, staff, or faculty member who believes s/he has been the subject of sexual harassment or discrimination or harassment based upon race, color, national origin, sex, pregnancy, age, disability, creed, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression or veteran status should contact the Office of Discrimination and Harassment (ODH) at 303-492-2127, or the Office of Student Conduct (OSC) at 303-492-5550. Information about the ODH, the above referenced policies, and the campus resources available to assist individuals regarding discrimination or harassment can be obtained at http://www.colorado.edu/odh.

Honor Code
All students of the University of Colorado at Boulder are responsible for knowing and adhering to the academic integrity policy of this institution. Violations of this policy may include: cheating, plagiarism, aid of academic dishonesty, fabrication, lying, bribery, and threatening behavior. All incidents of academic misconduct shall be reported to the Honor Code Council (honor@colorado.edu; 303-735-2273). Students who are found to be in violation of the academic integrity policy will be subject to both academic sanctions from the faculty member and non-academic sanctions (including but not limited to university probation, suspension, or expulsion). Other information on the Honor Code can be found at http://www.colorado.edu/policies/honor.html and at http://www.colorado.edu/academics/honorcode/.
