ECON 4111-001 (3). Money and Banking Systems. Discusses money, financial institutions, and the monetary-financial system in a modern economy. Prereqs., ECON 1000, or 2010 and 2020. The home page for this course is at: http://culearn.colorado.edu/

OFFICE HOURS: Mondays and Wednesdays Monday and Wednesday 8:30 a.m.- 9:45 a.m. in Econ 115 and by appointment.

Given the large size of the class, please avoid phone messages. Make use of the office hours and if not, we will try to set an alternate time schedule permitting.

Important Note: If you have not met the prerequisites for this class, you would need to drop it per the Department of Economics' policy. Please check the prereq' listed above. The class usually has a wait list. As a faculty, I do not control or have anything to do with it. If you are on a wait list, the best is to check your status on a daily basis. Finally, please consult the new honor code and the policy for student classroom behavior. These can be viewed at: http://www.colorado.edu/policies/index.html

IMPORTANT NOTE: Please read the syllabus carefully and do so immediately. The course will cover material that is NOT in the text or in the lecture notes and this will be driven by events in the Financial markets both domestically and globally. I will be using other sources such as The Economist, The Wall Street Journal, The Financial Times and others. Case studies and guest speakers may also alter the pace of the course, so be in class. That is the only way to stay informed and do well. The lecture notes found on CULearn are dated. They can still help you but they are not a replacement for class lectures.

OBJECTIVE OF THE COURSE:

First, let me advise you that attendance is mandatory and if you miss class, do so at your own risk. Exams will be drawn from class lectures/discussion as well as text and other sources discussed in class. These will only be announced IN CLASS. Neither the text nor the class notes are replacement for being in class. We will be showing a number of case studies and these audio visual tapes are not and cannot be put on reserve nor can they be lent out. They are equivalent to a lecture. This course has a number of objectives, but one of them is to teach you the fundamentals but then go far beyond them by applying the theory to what is taking place in the U.S. and overseas. The assigned text is your standard source for some of the material covered in class, but sometimes lectures will go beyond the text. You are expected to be prepared for each unit by reading ahead of time and attending regularly. We will try to apply what we know and use a lot of examples from current financial and banking developments in the U.S. and other countries or regions such as the Subprime market mess that started in the US and spread to other markets, Asian Currency turmoil etc. Reading of The Wall Street Journal, The Economist and The Financial Times is extremely important. I will be assigning specific articles to read for class discussion from one or all of these sources as an assignment for the exam(s). Make note of these when they are announced. The pace and coverage of topics will be fluid and the lecture format will be interactive, with discussion of topics, issues, articles etc.. and will not recite the text.

GUEST LECTURES and case studies:

Finally, one unique and important aspect of this course is the use of outside speakers as well as the showing of case studies. The dates of these events are tentatively listed in the outline below. Any change will be announced in class. One will be from the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City on Bank Examination by a bank examiner from the Examination Department. Another will be from the Securities and Exchange Commission and one from a hedge fund on derivatives. This is conditional on the guest lecturers being able to come to our campus on the dates that they are available. Any material covered during these guest lectures is considered fair game for upcoming exams.

Main Text: Money, the Financial System, and the Economy, Fifth Edition by R. Glenn Hubbard, Addison Wesley, 2005. Please note that I am using the old edition. Do NOT buy the newest one. You should be able to get one at a very low price. Pls see below.

Here are a few sites that you may want to check to purchase the class text:

http://www.cubookswap.com/
http://www.half.com/
http://www.amazon.com/
http://www.barnesandnoble.com/
http://www.cheapesttextbooks.com/IM/?gclid=COK65Z2e-YYCFSbuPgod-F_WXw

To practice using quizzes from your old edition's home page at: http://www.awl.com/hubbard and click on student resources. Remember that the publisher may remove this at anytime. If the old site is still working, you will see a list of chapters and you can click on the chapter that you need. On the left menu, you will see an icon for quizzes. Do as many as you can.

Other texts and references that are optional reading for the course:

Check the different sites of the Federal system listed on the class homepage

E-Reserve: Before the Fall, The Wall Street Journal. This article is part of the assignment for Exam 3. Material will be added to the E-Reserve and an announcement will be made in class when the material is added. CU's E-Reserve can found at: http://libraries.colorado.edu/screens/coursereserves.html

Back to the top:
READING OF The Wall Street Journal IS A MUST:

Articles from The Wall Street Journal that pertain to our class will be discussed in class throughout the semester. Given that we are using an old edition of the text, you should seriously consider getting a subscription to the Journal. You can always have access to it at the campus Library. Through the University Library resources, you will also have access to a number of other newspapers and magazines such as The Economist provided you have the full title, date and author of the article.

Once you subscribe to The Wall Street Journal, you will have access to the Interactive Edition via the Internet and will have access to a 90 archive. The whole journal will be accessed via the web with your special password (instructions will be sent you by the WSJ on how to access the Internet edition). You will also get access to the following journals and magazines: (This may change):

2. Barons' Weekly
3. Smart Money magazine
4. The Wall Street Journal Europe
5. The Wall Street Journal Asia (as of last spring, all these were accessible).

For the one semester subscription you need to go to:

http://subscribe.wsj.com/semester

Steps to subscribe for the WSJ:
1. For the zip code, type in: 803
2. Then choose, University of Colorado, Boulder
3. Then fill in the fields and for your professor it should be (is) the first one: Akacem

You should get the paper rather quickly. If you have any problem, please do let me know.

GRADING:

You will have a TOTAL of three (3) EXAMS. Please read the following carefully. There are NO Make Up exams so plan ahead. A missed exam is an automatic "F" and you will have the remaining weights only. The only exception will be for a well documented medical emergency for that specific day.
The final will have to be taken on the date indicated above. There are NO EXCEPTIONS. Weddings, travel plans etc. will not do. Cheating will result in an automatic F for the course and will be reported as per the University policy.

Three Exams:

The weights on your exams will be 30% each for the first two mid-terms and 40% for the final.

Policies:

Religious Holiday and ADA policy:

I will enforce the religious holiday policy as well as the ADA policy for anyone who requires it. I would need to be notified early in the semester if anyone needs special accommodation together with a letter from the ADA office.

Withdrawal

Check the Spring 2008 class schedule. It has the full calendar for the Spring 2008 with all the dates that you need (drop dates deadlines, refund etc...). I urge you to take a moment to look at it and note the important dates.
