Dean’s Club Results

As a fiscal year 2014 (FY14) member of the Dean’s Club, you are an essential part of the most successful Dean’s Club year since the program’s inception in 2009! Through your commitment, Dean Robert H. Davis is able to provide critical aid to talented students and faculty as well as outstanding departments and programs here in the College of Engineering and Applied Science. In FY14, Dean’s Club members’ annual contributions of $1,000 or more accounted for 60 percent of the Dean’s Fund for Excellence. The Dean’s Engineering Advisory Council (EAC) was responsible for 26 percent of the Dean’s Club total, in a showing of dedication to the college in the form of not only time, but also philanthropic support.

Dean’s Club Impact in FY14

How has Dean’s Club impacted the college this year? As the College of Engineering and Applied Science continues to grow in both size and reputation, resources to support both the physical growth of the college as well as its departments and programs, have become increasingly important. The newest physical addition to the college is the Idea Forge. This new flexible, cross-disciplinary and collaborative space allows students to imagine, design, create and test products and solutions. Additional aid to programs such as the Colorado Space Grant Consortium and the BOLD Center were made this year in an effort to increase the college’s stature while also maintaining its commitment to diversity. In FY14, Dean’s Club dollars recognized outstanding faculty including Kurt Maute, who won the Dean’s Award for Outstanding Teaching. The College of Engineering and Applied Science, as the largest producer of engineering talent in Colorado, continues to attract the best and brightest students to CU-Boulder’s engineering programs through undergraduate apprenticeship and graduate fellowships bolstered by Dean’s Club funds.

The FY14 Dean’s Club enjoyed many successes, such as the largest annual membership and funds raised in the club's history. This would not be possible without your commitment and that of your fellow members (listed above). By being a powerful advocate you allow Dean Davis to address the challenges and pursue the opportunities with which he is presented each new academic year. Contributions like yours provide the means for the College of Engineering and Applied Science to do more than simply maintain status quo.

Your care and commitment to the College of Engineering and Applied Science is felt everyday and we thank you, the FY14 Dean’s Club members, for your support!
