WELCOME

From Dean Phil Weiser

Selecting a law school is a big decision. For those choosing to join us at the University of Colorado Law School, the most important factors are that we offer an impressive all-around legal education, unique opportunities for hands-on experiential learning, an unparalleled location, a supportive community, compelling opportunities for specialization and interdisciplinary engagement, outstanding and dedicated faculty members (with a favorable student-to-faculty ratio), a terrific career development program, and a public service tradition.

Selecting the right law school for you is becoming an even more important decision amidst a series of disruptive changes in legal education: increasing student debt and, in recent years and likely for the near future, a more difficult employment environment for newly minted law school graduates. Those strains on legal education also create opportunities — opportunities for law schools to be entrepreneurial and to find ways to elevate their students and prepare them to thrive. Colorado Law is doing just that and is well positioned to continue to provide its students with a high-value experience at a reasonable cost. Tuition has stayed flat since I have been dean and I intend to keep it that way.

Colorado Law has shaped legal professionals for more than 120 years. Our 7,000 alumni, located in every state and around the world, are leaders in the profession, politics, and business, and they generously support the school and our graduates.

I welcome your interest in Colorado Law and all that it has to offer for a student seeking an extraordinary legal education among talented colleagues and faculty in an environment conducive to learning and an excellent quality of life.

STUDENTS

Talented, Hard-Working, Service-Oriented Leaders

Our impressive, diverse, and collaborative students choose Colorado Law over other prestigious schools, bringing their intellectual curiosity and exciting backgrounds to the classroom and our community. They represent a rich blend of geographic and ethnic diversity. Many are distinguished by their leadership experience, career achievement, and community service. Although intense competitiveness among highly qualified students is typical, our students have a proud history of placing collegiality first.

colorado.edu/law/students

IN THEIR OWN WORDS

"Many schools point to 'collegiality' as a strength of their student body, but at Colorado Law it is more than just talk. Students truly help each other in times of need. I could not have made it through law school without support from the Colorado Law family."

Kevin Brown ('13)
Co-Founder, Military Law Society
Former AH-1W Super Cobra Attack Helicopter Pilot,
U.S. Marine Corps

"I chose Colorado Law because of its engaging and approachable professors, wide range of courses, low student-to-faculty ratio, high quality clinics, supportive Career Development Office staff, and genuine, driven culture. Colorado Law is an all-around great deal."

Genet Tekeste ('14)
President
Black Law Students Association

"Colorado Law has fostered a collaborative environment where students are willing to share information and cheer for each other's success. Law school can be a stressful time, but being at a university that emphasizes community goes a long way toward creating a positive environment for students."

Charlie Clark ('15)
Latino Law Students Association and Sports Law Society

"In the last two years, I have faced several difficult challenges in my life outside of law school. I would not have been able to continue to succeed as a law student without the kindness and generous support I have received from other students."

Christiana McCormick ('14)
Intern, Office of Civil Rights
U.S. Department of Education

CAREER DEVELOPMENT OFFICE

[CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT]

Todd Rogers, JD
Assistant Dean for Career Development

"We are here to help students find satisfying, meaningful employment after graduation with individualized career counseling. As an office, we have a real dedication to helping students put together a portfolio of skills that will be marketable to employers by making sure that they have job experiences throughout law school that will help them achieve their professional goals."

Karen Trojanowski, JD
Director of Alternative and Emerging Careers

"We have many opportunities for students to network with employers and mentors, both on and off campus, through our on-campus interview program, JD Pathways conference, and various career fairs and panels. We expose students to traditional law practice careers and, also, to non-traditional career paths for students seeking alternative ways to use their law degrees."

Alexia McCaskill, JD
Director of Government and Public Interest Careers

"In addition to placing about 160 students in externships with government and nonprofits while in school, we also offer loan repayment assistance for those in qualifying public interest jobs after graduation."

Rachel Sheikh, JD
Director of the Private Sector and Judicial Clerkships

"We help prepare students for career placement with mock interviews, practicing attorney speaker series, résumé collections for in-state and out-of-state employers, and our online job bank. Students get great experience through our internships in the private sector, diversity internships, and summer and post-graduate fellowships."

CAREERS

Leader and Innovator in Developing Legal Professionals

Our commitment to helping you excel in your professional endeavors revolves around legal professionalism, inclusive intellectual community, and career ownership. You are responsible for identifying, developing, and pursuing your career goals and investing in yourself. We give you the tools to succeed.

Our Career Development Office supports you throughout your career by offering individualized advising by four career advisors with JDs and experience with helping students and alumni succeed in the current job market.

We will connect you with employers both during the academic year and during the summer. Starting with 1L Orientation, where career development is a central theme, we will encourage you to take an intentional and creative approach to planning your career.

colorado.edu/law/careers

IN THEIR OWN WORDS

"We have a wonderful Career Development Office at Colorado Law. Not only are the staff members friendly and approachable, but I've been very impressed by their desire to get to know students personally. They call you by name in the halls and email opportunities that fit your career interests."

Ari Stiller-Shulman ('13)

President, Class of 2013

"The quality of education at Colorado Law is of the highest caliber. Colorado Law also offers a robust professional network that is extremely passionate about the success of its graduates. Those alumni and friends make the difference in today's difficult job market."

Therese Kerfoot ('11)

Sales Enablement Manager, CoreSite

ALUMNI NETWORK

Colorado Law provides our graduates with the benefits of a 7,000+ strong alumni network and a wide range of placement opportunities that go well beyond traditional legal practice.

PUBLIC SERVICE

As a public institution, public service is a central part of our culture. Our courses, extracurricular offerings, committed faculty members, and engaged community provide intellectual, social, and career support that will help you cultivate and maintain a strong commitment to public service, whatever your career path. We believe that our faculty and students all have obligations to the law school, the university, the profession, and the local and global communities for the privilege of being part of an honored endeavor. Moreover, a commitment to service is an ingredient of a full and satisfying life. To support that commitment, our Loan Repayment Assistance Program (LRAP) awards $6,500 per year to graduates who choose qualifying employment.

ADMISSIONS

JD Admission Standards

Above all, Colorado Law values leadership, character, diversity, and commitment to service in its students. The small size of the student body — about 170 in each entering class — and the large number of applicants require a very selective admissions process. Admissions decisions are based on many factors, including undergraduate grade point average (GPA) and the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) score, and take into account other indicators of ability, motivation, and achievement as well. In the faculty's judgment, a diverse student body improves the educational experience of all students.

JD Application Process

Find complete application instructions at lsac.org and on the Colorado Law website. The Admissions Committee considers applications beginning in October. Applicants are notified of decisions on a rolling basis from October until the class is filled, usually in May. Admission from the wait list, which is not ranked, can occur as late as August, and the number of offers varies from year to year.

International Students

International applicants have additional requirements as explained on the school's website, including transcripts showing completion of the equivalent of an American bachelor's degree, foreign degree verification, and transcript translation, if applicable. The TOEFL is required of all students whose native language is not English, as a thorough and excellent command of written and spoken English is crucial to success in law school. After admission, international students must submit a financial affidavit stating that they have the financial resources to support themselves while attending school in the United States, since Colorado Law cannot offer loan assistance to international students.

Transfer Students

Students who have completed at least one full year of JD study (approximately 30 semester credits) at a law school accredited by the American Bar Association may apply for fall transfer admission to Colorado Law. The number of transfer students admitted varies each year, and only those who have done very well in their law studies elsewhere have a substantial chance of admission.

Visiting Students

Colorado Law admits some students who are receiving their law degree from another law school to study here for the fall or spring semester. Admission as a visiting student is available to applicants who have completed one or two years of high-quality work at another law school and have demonstrated a compelling need to attend Colorado Law. Financial aid for visiting students is usually handled by a consortium agreement between Colorado Law and the degree-granting institution.

LLM Application Process

Find complete application instructions at lsac.org and on the Colorado Law website. The Admissions Committee will review applications on a rolling basis. Applicants will be notified in writing of the committee's decisions. Please submit all materials electronically at lsac.org.

FINANCIAL AID

All admission decisions are made without regard to students' financial need. Every attempt is made to provide full financial assistance through federal and private educational loans, grants, work study, and scholarships. Students applying for financial aid, private law scholarships, or grants based on financial need must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA, fafsa.ed.gov), as soon as possible after January 1. Eligible students are awarded Federal Direct Stafford/Ford Loans up to a maximum of $20,500 per year. Graduate PLUS loans are available to students when financial need exceeds Stafford loan limits, up to the cost of attendance. Graduate PLUS loans are federally guaranteed, but unlike Stafford loans, they have good credit requirements for borrowers. Private alternative law loan programs have interest rates and fees that vary according to the lender, the credit rating of the student, and whether there is a co-signer. Both loan fees and interest rates may be higher than those of the Stafford loans and there is no cap in interest rates. Currently, Colorado Law does not offer scholarship funding for LLM students.

Scholarships, Fellowships, and Awards

All admitted first-year JD students are automatically considered for scholarships, as recipients are selected by the Admissions and Financial Aid Committee after an offer of admission has been made. It is possible for scholarships to be awarded through August. Colorado Law also offers scholarship money to second-year and third-year students each spring. More than 100 scholarships, fellowships, and awards are given annually based on academic and financial considerations. These scholarships are awarded based on academic performance and other criteria, such as service to the law school, economic need, and demonstration of assistance in advancing the diversity of the student body.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords certain rights with respect to a student's education records. Copies of the policy are available in the Wise Law Library and the Rules of the Law School on the website.
