

University of Colorado
Department of Mathematics
Problem of the Month
February

Show that there is no continuous function taking rational values at irrational points and irrational values in rational points.