To our international students and scholars from every corner of the globe:

With the new President of the U.S. and his White House administration, there have been recent policy changes in regards to immigration. International Student and Scholar Services (ISSS) will keep you informed of any policy changes that may affect you. Currently, there are none which will impact your visa. However, we know that there are other proposed, draft immigration policies that the President may or may not sign in the near future.

We understand that this may be causing you concern. Please know that we are working with the university’s representatives in Washington, D.C. to monitor the situation and will inform you as soon as possible upon any change in immigration policy that could affect you. Please continue to check your email for messages from ISSS.

We acknowledge the anxiety that you may be feeling and we want you to feel supported, safe, and comfortable during your time at CU Boulder and in the U.S. Please know that if you need to talk or have any questions, our doors, ears, and hearts are always open.

The ISSS office is located in the Center for Community, S355 (3rd floor). We offer drop-in advising hours Monday through Friday between 10AM and 3PM. You can also email us at isss@colorado.edu anytime.

Please know that if anything changes with your visa or immigration status while studying here in the U.S., you will hear about it immediately from the ISSS office.

Further, the university offers counseling services for students and employees. Here are some resources we recommend:

- Students: Utilize our friendly on-campus counseling services to talk through feelings of anxiety, loneliness, stress, or just to have someone supportive to talk to! "Feel Better Fast" workshops are also available to you free.

- Students: Join us at an International Student Tea Talk to share your experiences with other international students.

- Faculty and Staff: Reach out to the Faculty & Staff Assistance Program to set up a time to chat with a trained counselor.

We want you to know you can always talk to us or use the other resources on campus if you have questions, want to talk to someone, share your concerns, etc. We are glad that you have chosen to be a part of the CU Boulder community! We are here to support you so please reach out to us if you need anything.

Sincerely,

International Student & Scholar Services
