Information and Application Instructions for International Undergraduate Students

Welcome

Thank you for your interest in the University of Colorado at Boulder, one of the top public universities in the world. The following pages introduce you to academic programs, student resources, and the application process at CU-Boulder. For more information on any of our programs, we encourage you to go to the websites listed here or to our international student website at www.colorado.edu/prospective/international. We look forward to receiving your application.

Who Is an International Student?

International students are those who already have or will be applying for a temporary U.S. visa, such as an F-1 or J-1. All non-United States citizens who are not permanent residents of the U.S., asylees, or refugees are international students and should use this application or the application on our website at www.colorado.edu/prospective/international.

If you are a U.S. citizen, permanent resident, asylee, or refugee—or if you have submitted the Form I-485 to the Department of Homeland Security in application for permanent residency status and have received a receipt for the form—you should use the appropriate domestic application. This application can be obtained from our website at www.colorado.edu/prospective.

Academic Programs

CU-Boulder has four colleges (architecture, arts and sciences, engineering and applied science, and music) and five schools (business, education, graduate, journalism and mass communication, and law). Over 3,400 courses are offered each year in more than 150 fields of study. The university offers 85 majors at the bachelor's level, 63 at the master's level, and 50 at the doctoral level.

CU-Boulder is classified by the Carnegie Foundation as a Level I Research University, the top rank in the U.S., and is one of only 34 public institutions in North America belonging to the prestigious Association of American Universities (AAU).

For information on our academic programs, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective/international/academics.

To see a list of courses or to order a course catalog, go to www.colorado.edu/catalog.

CU-Boulder's Students and Faculty

The University of Colorado was founded in 1876 in Boulder, and enrolled 44 students in its first semester. Today, the student body of approximately 29,500 includes about 1,100 international students from nearly 100 countries. Thirty-five percent of international students study at the undergraduate level; 65 percent study at the graduate level.

More than 1,200 full-time faculty teach at CU-Boulder, 91 percent of whom have doctorates or other advanced degrees. The faculty includes nationally and internationally recognized scholars with many academic honors and awards, including four Nobel Prize winners.

For profiles of some of our students, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective.

To access international student enrollment statistics, go to www.colorado.edu/oie/iss/stats.html.

Living in Boulder

Set in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and surrounded by open land, Boulder (population 92,000) is considered one of the nation's most scenic cities. At an elevation of 5,430 feet (1,655 meters) above sea level, the Boulder community and university provide an environment that encourages cultural activities, promotes research and business endeavors, and welcomes international students.

For information about living on campus or finding housing in the Boulder area, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective/international/aboutcu.html.

If you plan to visit campus, go to www.colorado.edu/visit.

International Student and Scholar Services

This office has five advisors who can assist you with orientation and immigration matters, and help you adjust to a new culture and educational system. Go to www.colorado.edu/oie/iss for more information.

International English Center

The center provides intensive English-language instruction to international students who intend to pursue graduate or undergraduate study at U.S. universities or who wish to improve their English for professional purposes. Go to www.colorado.edu/iec for more information.

Research Institutes

University faculty and students work together with outside researchers in a wide variety of academic and interdisciplinary areas at nearly 100 research centers, institutes, and laboratories. For more information, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective/graduate/research.

Student Services

For a list of CU-Boulder offices that provide services to students, ranging from computing to health, go to www.colorado.edu/students/services.html.

Resources for Study

Technology: www.colorado.edu/its

Museums, galleries, and observatories: www.colorado.edu/visit/museums.html

Student Activities, Clubs, and Organizations

The CU-Boulder campus has hundreds of clubs and organizations for students to participate in. To begin exploring, go to www.colorado.edu/studentgroups.

For more information on the Student Recreation Center, one of the most comprehensive facilities of its kind in the nation, go to www.colorado.edu/rec-center.

Be sure to review all the information below and on the following pages before you apply to CU-Boulder.

Where to Send Application Materials

Send all application materials to:
Office of Admissions
Regent Administrative Center 125
University of Colorado at Boulder
65 UCB
Boulder, CO 80309-0065 USA

Application Process

Your file will be reviewed after the following items have been received: 1) a complete application, 2) the application fee, 3) all complete and official academic documents, and 4) personal essays. If you are academically eligible for admission to the university, your file will then be checked for proof of adequate English proficiency, financial support, and other information required by law prior to issuing an immigration document. Once all requirements are met, the appropriate immigration documents are issued.

Undergraduate applications are reviewed and all decisions are made in the Office of Admissions. Missing information or credentials delay application processing and may affect your chances for admission.

Permanent Address

You must include a non-U.S. address to meet immigration requirements (Item 3 on the International Undergraduate Student Application for Admission).

Application Fee

A nonrefundable application fee of $70 U.S. is required. The fee should be submitted in the form of an international money order or a check drawn on a U.S. bank and made payable to the University of Colorado. Print your full name and birth date on your check or money order so that it can be properly credited to your application. We cannot accept credit cards or cash with the printed application.

Official Academic Records

Official certified copies of your previous academic records are required. All records should be submitted in the native language, and credentials written in languages other than English must be accompanied by a literal, certified English translation. See the application instructions on page 3 for more information. Students from China and India should pay close attention to the application instructions titled “Students from China and India.”

English Language Proficiency/TOEFL

To be enrolled at CU-Boulder, you must be proficient in English. Proficiency can be demonstrated through a minimum score on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). You are not required to submit the TOEFL if, 1) your native language is English; or 2) you have completed at least one year of full-time academic study at a U.S. institution, or at an institution in a country where English is the native language, at the time you apply, and within two years of your desired admission term.

For information on minimum TOEFL scores required at CU-Boulder, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective/international/admission.

For more information on the TOEFL, go to www.toefl.org. The CU-Boulder college code for the TOEFL is 4841.

Financial Support

If you are academically eligible for admission to CU-Boulder and you need a Form I-20 (for an F-1 visa) or a Form DS-2019 (for a J-1 visa), the Financial Statement for International Applicants, and appropriate documentation indicating that you have adequate financial support must be received before your admission can be finalized. Costs listed on the financial statement are estimates; your actual costs may vary from those stated on your Form I-20 or DS 2019. It is vitally important to pay attention to your financial needs, because costs of attending a university in the U.S. are generally high, and CU-Boulder rarely provides financial support to international students. Immigration regulations also severely restrict employment for international students while in the United States. Merit, music, and athletic scholarships are occasionally awarded to undergraduate applicants demonstrating superior talents in those areas. To see a sample budget and get more information on managing finances for study in the United States, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective/international/finances. For more information about financial aid, go to www.colorado.edu/oie/iss/prospect.html.

Standardized Tests

All undergraduate freshman applicants, and some transfer applicants, are required to submit scores from the SAT or the ACT. The CU-Boulder college code for the SAT is 4841; for the ACT it is 0532. For more information on the SAT, go to www.collegeboard.com; on the ACT, go to www.act.org.

Undergraduate Transfer Students

If you are currently studying at a U.S. institution, you may need to meet certain minimum grade point average (GPA) requirements or successfully complete prerequisite courses to be competitive for transfer admission. For information, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective/international/admission/transfer.html.

F-1 Students Transferring from U.S. Schools

International students with F-1 immigration status who are transferring from one U.S. institution to another must complete the F-1 immigration transfer form before admission can be finalized. This form is automatically mailed to you if it is necessary. Only admitted students who have decided to attend CU-Boulder are required to complete this form. The form is not required for an admission decision.

After Admission

To find out what you should do after you've been admitted to the university, go to www.colorado.edu/prospective/afteradmission/international.html.

Honor Code

The CU-Boulder community has established an Honor Code—a social contract between the individual student and all members of the academic community—which provides sanctions for dishonest acts and protects those who would suffer as a result. For more information, go to www.colorado.edu/academics/honorcode.

CU-Boulder Application Deadlines

	Term	Early Action	Regular Decision
Freshmen	Fall & Summer	December 15 Notified by Feb. 15	February 15 Notified by April 1
	Spring		October 1 Rolling notification
Transfers	Fall & Summer		April 1 Rolling notification
	Spring		October 1 Rolling notification

Beginning in September, all students may submit an admission application for spring, summer, or fall terms.

Freshman applicants for fall and summer terms

Early Action

If you submit your online application and postmark all supporting documents by December 15, you will be considered as an early action applicant. As an early action applicant, your application will be reviewed first. That means you will be notified on or before February 15 whether you have been offered admission, denied admission, or had your admission decision deferred to April 1.

Regular Decision

If you apply for the fall or summer term after December 15, you will need to submit your application and postmark all supporting documents no later than February 15. As a regular decision applicant, you will receive your admission decision by April 1.

Undergraduate Application Instructions

Read the following directions and footnotes carefully before completing your application form. More information about application requirements can be found at www.colorado.edu/prospective/international/admission.

Undergraduate Applicants (Bachelor's Degree)

Freshmen — have not enrolled in a college or university since graduation from secondary school

Transfers — have enrolled in another college or university, or other campuses of the University of Colorado, since graduation from secondary school

Undergraduate Application Checklist

- ___ 1. International Undergraduate Student Application for Admission
- ___ 2. $70 nonrefundable application fee
- ___ 3. Official scores on the TOEFL or acceptable equivalent
- ___ 4. Official scores on the SAT or the ACT test
- ___ 5. Official or certified copies of all secondary school records
- ___ 6. Official or certified copies of all college or university records, if applicable
- ___ 7. Personal essays (required)
- ___ 8. Financial statement and required documentation (required for F-1 or J-1 visas only)

Completing the Application

Provide all information required, including your signature and complete educational history. Missing information will delay or stop the processing of your application.

Application Fee

The nonrefundable application fee should be submitted in the form of an international money order or a check drawn on a U.S. bank (do not send cash), made payable to the University of Colorado, in the amount of $70 (U.S. funds). Important: Print your full legal name and birth date on your check or money order. We cannot accept credit cards or cash with the printed application.

SAT or ACT Test Scores

SAT or ACT scores are required of all undergraduate applicants. The ACT will be accepted with or without the Writing Test. SAT Subject Test scores are not required. If you have completed 24 or more semester hours (one year of full-time study) of transferable college or university work at the time you apply, you are exempt from this requirement. The CU-Boulder college code for the SAT is 4841; for the ACT it is 0532. For more information on the SAT, go to www.collegeboard.com; on the ACT, go to www.act.org.

Official Academic Records

Freshman applicants must submit official academic records from all secondary schools attended.

Transfer applicants must submit official academic records from both secondary and postsecondary schools attended.

For your secondary school attendance (through grades 11, 12, or 13), submit all official transcripts, mark sheets, or grade reports, and any certificates, degrees, diplomas, or statements of graduation or completion. If you are currently attending secondary school, send all available records at this time, including a list of your courses in progress.

For your postsecondary school attendance (tertiary level), submit all official transcripts, mark sheets, or grade reports, and any certificates, degrees, diplomas, statements of graduation or completion from each college or university attended. Documentation is required regardless of the length of attendance, whether or not courses were completed, and whether or not you believe the record will affect your admission or your transfer of credit. If you are currently enrolled, send all available records at this time, including a list of your courses in progress.

Transcripts from U.S. schools must be sent directly to us by the institution.

If you are admitted while still attending classes, your final records will be required upon completion of the course work or program. All records should be submitted in the native language. Credentials written in languages other than English must be accompanied by a literal, certified English translation. We do not accept unattested photocopies or notarized copies of academic documents.

Students from China and India

Students from China and India must be particularly careful to submit complete official academic credentials (for university level work). Every page of each document must bear an original stamp or seal of the institution. Chinese students must submit transcripts and diplomas in both Chinese and English and must submit diplomas showing every degree awarded. Students from India must submit individual mark sheets for each semester or year, in addition to separate diplomas showing every degree awarded.

Personal Essays and Letters of Recommendation

Your personal essays are the best way for us to learn about you as an individual and to evaluate your academic performance within an appropriate context. Please remember that there are no “correct” answers to these questions—your responses should reflect the unique aspects and experiences of your life. Consider reflecting on challenges you’ve overcome, your family or cultural heritage, your academic or cocurricular achievements, or specific moments that helped to define your character. Essays must be written in English.

Essay A (required, maximum 500 words)

The University of Colorado at Boulder’s Flagship 2030 strategic plan promotes exceptional teaching, research, scholarship, creative works, and service distinguishing us as a premier university. We strive to foster a diverse and inclusive community for all that engages each member in opportunities for academic excellence, leadership, and a deeper understanding of the world in which we live.

Given the statement above, how do you think you could enrich our diverse and inclusive community and what are your hopes for your college experience?

Essay B (required, choose topic 1, 2, or 3, maximum 250 words)

1. Who are the influential people in your life? How have they contributed to your development as a person?
2. Briefly discuss how your family, school, neighborhood, and background have impacted your educational goals and aspirations.
3. Discuss any events or special circumstances that have affected your academic record, as well as any adversities you have overcome.

Financial Statement

If your application for admission is otherwise complete, it can be reviewed regardless of whether or not we have received your financial statement. If you are academically eligible for admission to the university and you need a Form I-20 (for an F-1 visa) or a Form DS-2019 (for a J-1 visa), you must provide the financial statement with required documentation before your admission can be finalized and before any immigration forms can be issued to you.

Nondiscrimination Statement

The University of Colorado is an equal opportunity/nondiscrimination institution. The information in this brochure is accurate at the time of printing (2008). All information is subject to change without notice.

Undergraduate Major Codes

Read all instructions and footnotes to avoid delays in processing your application. These are the colleges, schools, and majors that are available to undergraduate freshman and transfer students. Select only one college or school and major.

If you have received a bachelor's degree, you may apply for a second undergraduate degree at the University of Colorado at Boulder. However, you should first explore various options in graduate study at the university. If you apply for a second undergraduate degree, you must follow transfer admission guidelines; all college or school and major requirements must be met to complete degree programs satisfactorily. You may not apply to the same major in which you received your first undergraduate degree. If you apply for a second undergraduate degree, you must apply to a specific major; applications for open option or undetermined majors cannot be considered. If you have over 45 semester hours of college work completed or in progress, you must apply to a specific major—do not choose open option or undetermined.

The Leeds School of Business and the School of Journalism and Mass Communication do not admit students who have already completed an undergraduate degree. These students are strongly urged to investigate graduate study.

1 Some majors in the College of Arts and Sciences may become “controlled enrollment majors” at any time, due to excessive student demand. Students who wish to apply to one of these restricted majors must apply to the corresponding premajor and meet specific department criteria. Admission to a premajor does not guarantee later admission to the controlled enrollment major. For the most current information, see www.colorado.edu/ArtsSciences/aacforstudents/conenmaj.html.

2 Do not submit samples or photographs of design or artwork. A portfolio is not used for admission purposes and cannot be returned to you if you submit one.

3 BFA degrees are available. See department.

4 Students must apply to precommunication and meet specific criteria in order to be considered for admission to the communication major. Admission to precommunication does not guarantee future admission to the communication major.

5 Applicants with fewer than 30 semester hours completed or in progress must apply to the prejournalism and mass communication major in the College of Arts and Sciences. Admission to the majors listed under the School of Journalism and Mass Communication is determined by work completed in the freshman year. Admission to prejournalism and mass communication does not guarantee future admission to the School of Journalism and Mass Communication.

6 The College of Architecture and Planning currently offers emphases leading to specialized majors in architecture, design studies, planning/urban design, and environmental design within its Environmental Design degree program. All new students initially enter the college as environmental design majors. Completion of the 30 credit lower-division core leads to entry into one of three specialized upper-division emphases—architecture, planning/urban design, and design studies. Students indicate their choice of upper-division emphasis by the particular design studio and design history class they elect to complete in their second year in the program. If you have questions, call the college office at 303-492-7711, or send an e-mail to askAP@colorado.edu.

7 Some majors may be enrollment limited. For more information, see engineering.colorado.edu/Advising_Guides/Enrollment_Limited_Majors.pdf.

8 Prospective music majors must submit both the Undergraduate Application for Admission to the Office of Admissions and the audition application to the College of Music. Admission to the music, music education, and music arts major is determined after the music audition has been completed. For further information about major selection and eligibility, see www.colorado.edu/music.

International Undergraduate Student Application for Admission

This application is to be completed by all non-United States citizens who are not permanent residents of the United States. If you are a U.S. citizen, permanent resident, asylee, or refugee—or if you have submitted the Form I-485 to the Department of Homeland Security in application for permanent residency status and have received a receipt for the form—you should use the appropriate domestic application (see “Instructions” for information).
