Beginnings, endings and middles.

Some people read magazines backwards, or start in the middle. Some people know, at 20, what they want to be when they grow up. Others are still experimenting at 60. Because today's 20-year-old is predicted to change careers four times over a lifetime, experts say the most important thing to learn is how to learn. But you know that. Continuing Education students tend to be open and adaptive people who take a proactive approach to career planning. What's new now: The Internet courses piloted last semester were extremely well received—they continue this fall. In addition, we are introducing two Business courses in the Evening Credit program—Principles of Marketing and Introduction to Management and Organization. Plus a sprinkling of new offerings under Noncredit and Computer Applications. Lots of ways to turn endings and middles into promising beginnings.

Four Ways to Register

1. Register by mail. A postage-paid envelope is located in this catalog. Registration forms are on page 53 for credit, page 55 for noncredit and certificate courses.

2. Fax your registration. Fast and easy. Day or night to (303) 492-3962. Send both front and back of page 53 for credit courses. Send page 55 for noncredit and certificate courses.

3. In person. Come to the Continuing Education Office, 1221 University Avenue, between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday (9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays).

4. Register by phone, using Discover, Visa or MasterCard. Note: this applies only to noncredit and certificate courses. Complete the registration form (page 55) and have your credit card information handy. Then call 492-8668 or 1-800-331-2801 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m..

Costs vary. Tuition is listed at the end of each course description. You may pay by MasterCard, Visa, Discover, cash or check.

Catalog Production.

Catalog production is wholly self-sustaining and does not involve funds allocated by the legislature for the university at large. Recycled paper is used throughout the book. Share your catalog with friends, and recycle all appropriate materials. Thank you.
Pick up credits you need to begin or complete a degree. Or take one course to test the waters in a new field.

Evening credit students are here by choice. They like the informal atmosphere, the give and take of class discussions. Credits may be applied to the degree of your choice. Each school or college admits a certain number of evening credit hours (usually 12) before you must apply for admission as a degree student. If you are thinking of applying to CU, you should consult a current catalog for admission requirements and make an appointment with a CU admissions advisor.

Eligibility: All you need is a high school diploma or GED. (Individuals on University of Colorado financial stops or academic suspension from the College of Engineering and Applied Science or the College of Business may not enroll.)

Residency: Whether you are a resident or non-resident, you may take up to 3 semester hours per term or session for $80 per credit hour. Residency makes a difference only if you are registering for 4 or more credit hours. If you have lived in Colorado for the past 12 months, you may be eligible for in-state tuition rates although you may be asked for documentation.

Under 21? If you're not 22 years old by the first day of classes, you are assumed to have the same legal residence as your parents. If your parents live out of state, you may petition the University of Colorado for resident status as an emancipated minor. If you believe your initial classification is incorrect, talk to the Classification Coordinator at 492-5148.

Tuition: Resident tuition is $80 per credit hour. Some courses requiring special equipment or materials may be slightly higher. If you’re not a Colorado resident and want to register for 4 or more credit hours, you’ll be charged non-resident tuition. Please see Survival Tip on page 9 for more information.

Privileges: As a Boulder Evening Credit student, you have access to the following services.
- Total library services at no additional charge
- Recreation Center Membership for $74 a semester
- Wardenburg Student Health Services for $52.80 a semester
- Photo IDs for $10 cash, checks with guarantee card, Visa, MasterCard (please bring photo identification). Boulder campus validation stickers are not available.

To sign up for these and other student benefits, simply take your registration receipt to the appropriate office.

Counseling Services: Free academic counseling is available to help you plan a degree program, decide on a major, or simply explore your options. Feel free to call 492-5145 for an appointment.

Financial Aid: Degree students may qualify for all financial aid programs if eligible. Nondegree students taking courses for credit may qualify for a Stafford Loan (formerly GSL) if eligible. Applications are available in the Office of Financial Aid, Environmental Design, Room 2 (492-5091).

Veteran Benefits: As an eligible veteran or veteran dependent, you may enroll in evening classes and apply credit toward a degree. If you have questions about your eligibility and benefits, contact Veterans Services in the Office of Financial Aid, Environmental Design, Room 2 or call 492-7322.

To Enroll: Advance registration is necessary, by mail, by FAX or in person at the Division of Continuing Education, 1221 University Avenue. See the instructions on the inside front cover of this catalog.

To Drop: To drop a credit course and ensure that you receive any tuition refund that may be due, come to the Division of Continuing Education, 1221 University Avenue and complete a drop voucher. If you don’t officially withdraw from a course, you may receive a grade of “F” for that class.

Pass/Fail Option: This option is not available for Boulder Evening Credit Courses.

Special Faculty-Staff Registration: Faculty and staff of the University of Colorado at Boulder may enroll in Boulder Evening Credit Courses at half the regular tuition on a space available basis. Please bring a current copy of your PAF (showing at least half-time employment) to registration beginning August 29.

David Spies teaches Nazi Germany for the Evening Credit program. Even when it’s not the 50th anniversary of D-Day, this three-credit History course attracts large numbers of students. Dr. Spies says that he teaches the material as a course in political morality. What was Hitler’s appeal? How could a nation allow this to happen? Many students, understandably, begin with superficial knowledge of World War II and the Holocaust and are shocked to learn “how bad it really was.” He says that, while time has a way of dulling the senses, he believes that “the Holocaust will not fade.” David earned a B.A. in Political Science and a Masters in History at the University of Illinois, and a Ph.D. in German History at the University of Washington during a 20-year career in the Air Force. He taught at the Air Force Academy in the 1970s and 80s and has been teaching for CU for several years. He has authored four history books for the Air Force, including Air Power for Patton’s Army: The XIX Tactical Air Command in the Second World War, an upcoming release. A fifth book, on the Air Force in space, is already in progress.

A receipt for your Continuing Education language class is all that you need to use the facility.

Jennifer Shopland has been teaching Beginning Conversational Italian for Continuing Education for a couple of years. "I love it," she says. "The students are always great" and the diversity is a pleasure. From traveling professionals to students of art and music. And lots of people who have been to Italy. The class has a practical focus, geared toward travel and the format is "very, very active." Jennifer is skilled at breaking the ice, making the learning process comfortable and fun, so that students get lots of guided practice in class and learn to really use the language. Jennifer is a faculty member at Nwod High School, where she teaches Spanish. She says that, compared to most high school students, Continuing Education students are downright adventuresome in practicing new language skills.

Raise your comfort level and boost your productivity—so you can do more with less effort.

There are many ways to build proficiency in a program or system, but there's nothing like hands-on help from an expert who can tell you why, show you how, and show you again when you get mixed up. You can earn a certificate or just pick up some shortcuts. Either way, individual attention from outstanding instructors makes it painless for learners at every level.

Certificate in Computer Applications
You may earn a Certificate in Computer Applications in roughly three or four semesters, but there is no time limit. As you complete appropriate courses, credit is automatically applied toward Certificate requirements. The requirements are straightforward.

A. Four required core courses:
1. Computer Literacy* (CCA 100)
2. Concepts of Data Processing and Information Technology (CCA 335)
3. Computer Application Systems Overview (CCA 340)
4. Software Development and Maintenance (CCA 350)

*Computer Literacy, the introductory course, is designed to be completed first, although you may take it at the same time as another course. If you have a substantial background with computers, you may omit it. Simply submit a letter to the Division of Continuing Education requesting an exemption from CCA 100 Computer Literacy, if you plan on achieving the Certificate.

B. At least one course in programming. Programming languages offered include BASIC, Pascal, C and C++. Others are added to keep pace with industry standards.

C. Four elective courses chosen from the full range of computer topics. Any computer applications course not listed above and not a specific programming language qualifies as an elective, including all graphics courses.

Introduction to C++ Programming
Intermediate Level
C++ is an extension of C that supports object-oriented (O-O) programming. This course addresses the essential concepts of O-O programming (classes, objects, inheritance and polymorphism), showing how these are supported in C++ (member functions, public and private, virtual functions). The course also covers parts of C++ that are not directly related to O-O programming (constants, function overloading, default arguments, inline functions). Prerequisite: CCA 321 Intermediate/Advanced C Programming or equivalent.
Tom Cargill, Ph.D.
Section 300: Mondays, September 12-October 17, 6:30-9:30 p.m. 6 sessions
Hellem 201. $245.

CCA 328
Intermediate C++ Programming
Intermediate Level
This course continues the treatment of C++ and object oriented programming. First, it covers features of C++ that are needed in production programming: static members, abstract base classes, protected access, friends, arrays of objects. Another aspect of production C++ programming is the process by which programs are built: header files, type-safe linkage, linking with C code. More specialized material will then be covered: operator overloading and references, initialization versus assignment. Finally, the course covers a large collection of "gotchas" that may bite the unsuspecting C++ programmer. Prerequisite: CCA 327 Introduction to C++ Programming or equivalent.
Tom Cargill, Ph.D.
Section 300: Mondays, October 24-November 28, 6:30-9:30 p.m. 6 sessions.
Hellem 201. $245.

CCA 329
Advanced Topics in C++ Programming
Advanced Level
This course completes the treatment of C++, covering multiple inheritance and templates in detail, and introducing exceptions. We address the subtle question of which kind of problems really need multiple inheritance, and the language complexes of virtual base classes. Templates (generic types) are more straightforward, but also require skill for their effective use. Exceptions are introduced; they are not yet supported by production compilers. Prerequisite: CCA 326 Intermediate C++ Programming or equivalent.
Tom Cargill, Ph.D.
Section 300: Mondays, December 5-12, 6:30-9:30 p.m. 2 sessions.
Hellem 201. $150.

CCA 358
Programmer's Introduction to the X Window System and OSF/Motif
Advanced Level
The X Window System is one of today's most important window systems, and it is becoming an adopted standard in a large part of the computer industry. In addition, Motif is emerging as the dominate Graphical User Interface (GUI) of X. This course provides a technical overview of X and the programming fundamentals for the X library, the X Toolkit, and OSF/Motif. Topics include: window system concepts and event-driven programming, X fundamentals; client/server model, windows, events, graphics, and window managers toolkit fundamentals; callback style programming, widgets, classes, resources; the Motif widget set. Examples given in C. Prerequisite: CCA 321 Intermediate/Advanced C Programming and experience with complex, multi-layered software systems or equivalent.

Immerse yourself in concepts and contacts that can change the way your business does business.

The rules of the marketplace have changed, and quality has become a key factor in determining a company’s success. The demand for qualified professionals competent in implementing and managing successful strategies of Total Quality Management continues to grow as does the impact of TQM on all aspects of American business.

To meet the challenge, the University of Colorado at Boulder, Division of Continuing Education is proud to address this timely subject. In cooperation with local business and industry, the Division is offering a Professional Certificate Program in Total Quality Management. This program will provide the knowledge and skills requisite to promote and implement TQM successfully in the workplace. Although anyone may take as many or as few courses as they wish, to earn the Professional Certificate in Total Quality Management, individuals must apply for admission to the certificate program, complete the seven core courses and two approved elective courses of their choice, and complete a team/individual project demonstrating total quality management skills and concepts. Participants with prior training/work experience may be allowed to substitute advanced elective courses for some of the required introductory core courses.

Our program is unique . . .

The Professional Certificate Program in Total Quality Management was developed at the request of business and industry. Representatives from a variety of firms were involved in its creation. Their input was employed in curriculum design, as well as in administrative processes. Course content and format will be practical and hands-on. Team participation within an organization will be encouraged through a reduced tuition plan for those employers enrolling three or more employees in the program. The culmination of the certificate program will be a team/individual project that will demonstrate the participants’ knowledge and skills in total quality management.

He’s two-thirds of the way through the TQM certificate program and says that he likes it “because it has direct applications to what I do at work.” He’s also impressed with the instructors and with the level of classroom discussion.
REQUIRED COURSES

Introduction to Quality Management Fundamentals and Philosophy
Exploration of the philosophies from Taylor to Deming, Juran, Crosby, and Taguchi. This course will identify and explain the various quality philosophies, explore the application of quality management methodologies, and the implementation of total quality management concepts to improve productivity and a firm’s competitive edge.

Managing the Transition to TQM
Understanding and promoting the tools of quality are requisite to implementing TQM but are insufficient as “stand alone steps” to that process. To implement TQM successfully, one must also understand and address organizational systems, culture, and power blocks. Focus of this course will be the principles of instilling vision in organizations, aligning organizational structure with the vision, training employees effectively, and managing organizational change.

Basic Tools for Improving Quality and Productivity
For most American companies, the cost of quality runs to approximately 25-40% of the costs of goods sold. This course will explore and define the cost of quality, measurement techniques, and how to use a cost of quality system to measure actual systems performance and productivity. Participants will be introduced to the seven basic tools of quality and techniques for their use.

Building High Performance Work Teams
This course will focus on techniques for building and maintaining high performance, continuous improvement work teams. Topics will include how to select the work team for the continuous improvement project, how to manage team formation and development, and how to use basic team building and facilitation skills. Participants will also be introduced to problem solving and decision making techniques.

Measuring and Achieving Customer Satisfaction
An introduction to the specific tools and techniques needed to build and measure a service culture and improve service levels within an organization. Focus will be given to recognizing quality service, diagnosing customer satisfaction, maximizing value to the customer, translating quality service to the organization, defining specific organizational standards for quality, customer service, and acknowledging and achieving quality service in organizations.

Quality Function Deployment (QFD): A Structured Approach to Planning
Quality Function Deployment (QFD) guides managers through the planning process with a structure for identifying customer needs, allowing them to evaluate each proposed feature of the product or service function and how it affects the requirements of the customer. Course content will focus on the QFD business methodology and how it can improve quality and productivity.

Beginnings, becomings.

In a journal entry in 1828, Emerson noted, “The great majority of men are bundles of beginnings.” Fall is a time of promise and possibility, characterized by a purposeful back-to-school feeling, even if you're no longer in school. It's a great time to make something happen. Gear up for a job change or promotion.

Re-tool your marketing skills. Learn something new. This book is filled with beginnings. Try one on and see where you end up. Tap the energy of fall to remember that beginnings become adventures. And adventures create opportunities. Let us help. To register, call 492-5148 or 1-800-331-2801.
