

How to Withdraw From Courses (Archived 9/19/06)

How to Withdraw	Withdrawal Calendars
Financial Concerns and Tuition Assessment	Questions?

There are two ways to withdraw from the University of Colorado: Students must either complete the registrar's withdrawal procedures listed below, or withdraw by default (by never registering or not re-registering after dropping all Boulder main campus classes). Students that are enrolled through the Division of Continuing Education and Professional Studies must withdraw from that campus separately. Nonattendance DOES NOT constitute withdrawal, nor is it the responsibility of a professor to drop a student from a class for nonattendance. If a student stops attending a class, the student remains liable for all applicable tuition and fees and will receive a failing grade.

Students that are considering withdrawing from a semester should:

- First check with their advisor
- View drop/add information if you want to drop one or two of your classes rather than ALL of your classes
- For fall 2006 withdrawal information, look over the Fall 2006 Withdrawal Information PDF
- For detailed information regarding withdrawal refer to our brochure, Withdrawing from CU-Boulder PDF.
- Use the WITHDRAWAL CHECKLIST

Deadlines and rules for withdrawing may vary with each college and school. Students should check with their dean's office concerning their college or school's withdrawal policies.

Once withdrawn from the university, students must either readmit through the Office of Admissions or apply for the Time Out Program Time Out Program \(TOP\) to return to Boulder Main Campus.

STUDENTS TAKING COURSES THROUGH THE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION AND PROFESSIONAL STUDIES

Boulder main campus students who are taking classes solely through the Division of Continuing Education and Professional Studies who plan to return to Boulder main campus in the future must either go on the Time Out Program \(TOP\) or reapply through the Office of Admissions.
