Reminder: Combined Section Issue (Sally Page)

We’ve had problems with some combined sections not allowing enrollment even though there are available spaces. This has been an ongoing problem since Fall 2010 registration. We learned last year that this is not a bug, but rather delivered functionality from Oracle. While the issue has been raised with Oracle, there is no fix in the immediate future. Depts/advisors must continue to manually enroll students via Quick Enroll and use the appropriate overrides.

If a student cannot enroll him/herself in a combined section class, use the following information to determine if it’s appropriate to enroll the student manually.

Go to Campus Community > Student Services Ctr (AdminVw), then click on Search for Classes.

When you search for a class, for example SOCY 1016 (see below), you can see in the search results that the Status = Open (green circle symbol). You can also see the number of Available Seats = 13, and 12 seats are reserved for a future orientation, so there’s currently 1 available space. BUT you have to ALSO look at the Combined Section total (click on the Combined Section link).

(Note: This class is for demonstration purposes only; the enrollment and meeting pattern listed below do not reflect the current enrollment and meeting pattern for Fall 2015.)

When you select the Combined Section link, you see the following information. You want to make sure that the Combined Section Capacity has not yet been met and that there are available seats (which is the case in this example). So if there are available seats at the section level AND the Combined Section Capacity has not been met, then it's OK to manually enroll a student in the class.

Processing Change for Correction Request Forms (Lindsay Jackson)

The Enrollment and Records Services (ERS) group is piloting a program to reduce the use of Correction Request Forms. In the past, when we received a SAF or COR that could not be processed, we returned that form to the sender along with a Correction Request Form. During our pilot program, ERS staff will be contacting the departments by phone in order to collect the correct information to process the form. Actions that require a dean’s signature will not be part of this pilot, and will be returned to the department per the normal process.

Spring Training Session #4: FERPA for Faculty and Staff (Becky Jones)
Friday, April 17, 1–2:30 p.m., UMC 382

The Office of the Registrar is hosting an informational session about FERPA, the federal law that protects student education records. To help faculty and staff at CU-Boulder understand how university personnel can and cannot store, use, and share student information, this training will provide a short overview of FERPA followed by Q&A. Kristi Wold-McCormick, the campus Registrar, and Susan Dorsey, Assistant Registrar, will apply their knowledge of FERPA to address your specific questions. Please submit your questions about unusual student data requests or situations, and your presenters will bring definitive answers (although impromptu questions are also welcome).

Please RSVP to Becky Jones. ISIS access is not required.
