New and noteworthy.

Where to begin? This semester, we’re unveiling a new Mac lab at the University Computing Center, and introducing a course in JAVA, a new programming language that is brewing a lot of interest. New non-credit offerings include a beginning level course in Chinese, for people with far-reaching business and travel plans. And, for people with projects closer to home, we’re adding Intermediate Interior Design as a follow-up to the very successful Intro course fielded by Barbara Ploeger. This course will move beyond theory into hands-on project applications, and the class is expected to fill up quickly.

Catalog Production.
The Big Bang happened "15 billion years ago, plus or minus a few billion," Astronomer Joe Romig says. The actual events of creation will elude us until we have a quantum theory of gravity. But the real point is "there was a beginning -- of space and time, matter and energy, at least in our present way of reckoning." In the two Astronomy courses he teaches for the Evening Credit program, he gives students "the facts, the interpretations and the uncertainties in the interpretations." Most of his students are taking Astronomy as a core science requirement. Dr. Romig believes that, of all the intro science classes, "this is the best one for an overview of the natural world." He earned his B.S. in Physics on scholarship here at CU where he was an All American linebacker (two years). He earned his Masters at Oxford as a Rhodes scholar and returned to CU for a Ph.D. in Astrophysics as a Danforth scholar and a Woodrow Wilson scholar. He grew up in Colorado, raised by his mother, "a single mom who believed in me." Although he's been teaching part time since 1968, his roots have always been in industry. With Radio Physics from 1981 to 1994, he was on the planetary radio astronomy team for both the Voyager 1 and Voyager 2 missions. Now as a principal of Ponderosa & Associates, he travels widely, investigating fires and explosions.
Evening credit students are here by choice. They like the informal atmosphere, the give and take of class discussions. Credits may be applied to the degree of your choice. Each school or college admits a certain number of evening credit hours (usually 12) before you must apply for admission as a degree student. If you are thinking of applying to CU, you should consult a current catalog for admission requirements and make an appointment with a CU admissions advisor.

Eligibility: All you need is a high school diploma or GED. (Individuals on University of Colorado financial stops or academic suspension from the College of Engineering and Applied Science may not enroll.)

Residency: If you have lived in Colorado for the past 12 months, you may be eligible for in-state tuition rates although you may be asked for documentation. The last day to petition (provide residency documentation) for Spring semester is January 30, 1996. Under 21? If you're not 22 years old by the first day of classes, you are assumed to have the same legal residence as your parents. If your parents live out of state, you may petition the University of Colorado for resident status as an emancipated minor. If you believe your initial classification is incorrect, talk to the Classification Coordinator at 492-5148.

Tuition: Tuition is determined by residency status. Resident tuition is $80 per credit hour. Some courses requiring special equipment or materials may be slightly higher. Non-residents of Colorado are assessed tuition based on the number of semester hours for which they register. Non-residents may register for up to three (3) semester hours at the rate of $170 per credit hour. Non-residents registering for four (4) or more semester hours of credit courses offered by the Division are assessed non-resident tuition for all courses at the rate established by the Board of Regents for that term or session. The Division will charge our in-state rate for Boulder Evening classes when a non-resident, degree student pays full out-of-state tuition to the campus and then enrolls for additional Boulder Evening courses.

Privileges: As a Boulder Evening Credit student, you have access to the following services.

- Total library services at no additional charge
- Recreation Center Membership for $77 a semester
- Wardenburg Student Health Services for $56 a semester
- Photo IDs for $10 cash, checks with guarantee card, Visa, MasterCard (please bring photo identification). Boulder campus validation stickers are not available

To sign up for these and other student benefits simply take your registration receipt to the appropriate office.

Academic Advising: An academic advisor is available to help you plan a degree program, decide on a major, or simply explore your options. Feel free to call 492-5145 for an appointment.

Financial Aid: Degree students may qualify for all financial aid programs if eligible. Nondegree students taking courses for credit may qualify for a Stafford Loan (formerly GSL) if eligible. Applications are available in the Office of Financial Aid, Environmental Design building, Room 2 (492-5091).

Veterans Benefits: As an eligible veteran or veteran dependent, you may enroll in evening classes and apply credit toward a degree. If you have questions about your eligibility and benefits, contact Veterans Services in the Office of Financial Aid, Environmental Design building, Room 2 or call 492-7322.

To Enroll: Advance registration is necessary, by mail, by FAX, or in person at the Division of Continuing Education, 1221 University Avenue. See the instructions on the inside front cover of this catalog.

To Drop: To drop a credit course and ensure that you receive any tuition refund that may be due, come to the Division of Continuing Education, 1221 University Avenue and complete a drop voucher. If you don't officially withdraw from a course, you may receive a grade of "F" for that class.

Pass/Fail Option: This option is not available for Boulder Evening Credit Courses.

Special Faculty-Staff Registration: Faculty and staff of the University of Colorado at Boulder may enroll in Boulder Evening Credit Courses at half the regular tuition on a space available basis. Please bring a current copy of your PAF (showing at least half-time employment) to registration beginning January 16.

Dr. Elizabeth Medina is a Cuban native who came to the U.S. as a refugee in 1962 at the age of 19, along with her 17-year-old brother. “My mother was a visionary woman. Everyone was impressed with Castro, but my mother didn’t buy it. She knew him from the university.” Eleven years later, her parents were finally free to join them. Although the move was hard, she has never regretted it. She says, “We were losing freedom. I felt like I was suffocating there.” Elizabeth earned her Bachelors degree from Wayland Baptist University in three years, on a scholarship, and earned her M.A. at Texas Tech, also on scholarship. She began her teaching career as a teenager in Cuba, when her strong musical background qualified her for special permission to teach music at the high school level. A passion for teaching, undiminished after 30 years, makes her Spanish language classes lively and effective. She emphasizes conversational skills and teaches practical ways to simplify expression to get an idea across. Dr. Medina earned her Ph.D. at CU and has taught here for more than 20 years. She is also chairperson of the Department of Modern and Classical Languages at Regis University, and is doing research on Cuban Culture. But, she says, “the most important thing for me is teaching.” She says Continuing Education students are “a pleasure — mature, well travelled, open to try anything that helps them learn.” Needless to say, Dr. Medina’s classes are happily and consistently filled.

Growing interest in new applications and languages

Even people who were once reluctant to "boot up" are coming around now, and what they really want is hands-on how-to from someone who speaks plain English. Meantime, aficionados are hungry for instruction that keeps up with them. We serve both groups and everyone in between, with practical pointers from exceptional instructors who make fast-track learning easy and fun.

Certificate in Computer Applications

You may earn a Certificate in Computer Applications in roughly three or four semesters, but there is no time limit. As you complete appropriate courses, credit is automatically applied toward Certificate requirements. The requirements are straightforward.

A. Four required core courses:
   1. Computer Literacy* (CCA 100)
   2. Concepts of Data Processing and Information Technology (CCA 335)
   3. Computer Application Systems Overview (CCA 340)
   4. Software Development and Maintenance (CCA 350)

   *Computer Literacy, the introductory course, is designed to be completed first, although you may take it at the same time as another course. If you have a substantial background with computers, you may omit it. Simply submit a letter to the Division of Continuing Education requesting an exemption from CCA 100 Computer Literacy, if you plan on achieving the Certificate.

B. At least one course in programming. Programming languages offered include Pascal, C, and C++. Others are added to keep pace with industry standards.

C. Four elective courses chosen from the full range of computer topics. Any computer applications course not listed above and not a specific programming language qualifies as an elective, including all graphics courses.

Leading-Edge Courses in:
- Basic computer skills
- Operating systems

Understanding Computers

CCA 100

Computer Literacy

An introduction to concepts and terminology that make successive courses much easier to handle. Learn what computers really are—their uses and their limitations. An introductory lecture prepares you for seven hands-on labs: three on IBM compatible PCs, three on Macintosh (Apple), one on the campus mainframe (UNIX) system. After the course, spreadsheet, word processing, database and communication applications will be familiar concepts to you. Take the mystery out of basic computer jargon and learn start-up skills that open the door to more targeted learning.

Introduction to C++ Programming
C++ is an extension of C that supports object-oriented (O-O) programming. This course addresses the essential concepts of O-O programming (classes, objects, inheritance and polymorphism), and shows how these are supported (member functions, public and private, virtual functions). This course continues the treatment of C++ and object-oriented programming. First, it covers features that are needed in production programming: static members, abstract base classes, protected access, friends, arrays of objects. Another aspect of production C++ programming is the process by which programs are built: header files, type-safe linkage, linking with C code. More specialized material will then be covered: operator overloading and references, initialization versus assignment. Finally, the course covers a large collection of “Gotchas” that may bite the unsuspecting programmer.

Hans Daniels is a graduate student in Environmental Engineering, working on his Masters thesis, a study of evapotranspiration and how it affects soil moisture at Rocky Flats — to see how plutonium moves through soil. Hans says the C class and the AutoCAD class he took last semester will help with this project and when he’s looking for a job after graduation. He says classes have been “really good and well worth the money.” Evening schedules make it easier to pick up classes he needs and, “there’s a wide selection of classes. I like that.”
Total Quality Management: real mastery of a proven approach that reinvents the rules and the results.

A Professional Certificate Program in Total Quality Management

As regional businesses face escalating competition in expanding markets, the demand for professionals qualified to implement Total Quality Management programs continues to grow. Developed in cooperation with local businesses and industry, the certificate program provides the knowledge and skills to promote and implement TQM in the workplace. Program requirements include: completion of seven core courses and two approved electives, and completion of a team/individual project demonstrating mastery of concepts and skills.

Our program is unique...

Representatives from a variety of firms are closely involved in the program. Their input is employed in curriculum design as well as in administrative processes. Course content and format are practical and hands-on. Team participation within an organization is encouraged through a reduced tuition plan for employers enrolling three or more employees. The capstone of the program is a team/individual project that demonstrates each participant’s understanding of TQM concepts and skills.

The Total Quality Management certificate program has a loyal following of regional executives and managers like Bob Tittle (left) and Doug Cox who face real pressure to maximize performance in a business climate marked by rising costs, shrinking margins and aggressive competition – from across town or overseas.
Required Courses

Introduction to Quality Management Fundamentals and Philosophy
Exploration of the philosophies from Taylor to Deming, Juran, Crosby, and Teguchi. This course will identify and explain the various quality philosophies, explore the application of quality management methodologies, and the implementation of total quality management concepts to improve productivity and a firm’s competitive edge.

Managing the Transition to TQM
Understanding and promoting the tools of quality are requisite to implementing TQM but are insufficient as “stand alone steps” to that process. To implement TQM successfully, one must also understand and address organizational systems, culture, and power blocks. Focus of this course will be the principles of instilling vision in organizations, aligning organizational structure with the vision, training employees effectively, and managing organizational change.

Basic Tools for Improving Quality and Productivity
For most American companies, the cost of quality runs to approximately 25-40% of the costs of goods sold. This course will explore and define the cost of quality, measurement techniques, and how to use a cost of quality system to measure actual systems performance and productivity. Participants will be introduced to the seven basic tools of quality and techniques for their use.

Building High Performance Work Teams
This course will focus on techniques for building and maintaining high performance, continuous improvement work teams. Topics will include how to select the work team for the continuous improvement project, how to manage team formation and development, and how to use basic team building and facilitation skills. Participants will also be introduced to problem solving and decision making techniques.

Introduction to Statistical Tools for Improving Productivity and Quality (SPC)
Using statistical methods to improve quality will be the focus of this course. The key to improved quality is measurement. Participants will develop an understanding of basic statistical concepts and will gain insight into SPC, what it can and cannot do for their organization, and how to apply it to impact the bottom line performance. Discussion on the design of experiments will include why they are needed to optimize products and processes and how the results are applied.

Measuring and Achieving Customer Satisfaction
An introduction to the specific tools and techniques needed to build and measure a service culture and improve service levels within an organization. Focus will be given to recognizing quality service, diagnosing customer satisfaction, maximizing value to the customer, translating quality service to the organization, defining specific organizational standards for quality customer service, and acknowledging and achieving quality service in organizations.

Quality Function Deployment (QFD): A Structured Approach to Planning

Want to take a credit course at CU-Boulder during the day? The SAVE program enables nondegree students to enroll in on-campus courses on a space available basis. The SAVE program attracts various types of students: some plan to apply for admission to CU-Boulder for an undergraduate or graduate degree; some are interested in gaining new skills or knowledge to advance their career; others enroll simply for their own personal enrichment. And Colorado high school juniors and seniors who meet the guidelines of the “Postsecondary Enrollment Options Act” (HB 1326) may enroll in two courses each Fall and Spring semesters, at the expense of their high school district. Call 492-2202 for more information.

I hereby certify that to the best of my knowledge the information furnished on this application is true and complete without evasion or misrepresentation.

I understand that if found to be otherwise, it is sufficient cause for rejection or dismissal.

I have read and accept the limitations on transfer of nondegree student credit to a degree program. I understand that a maximum of 12 semester hours will transfer to an undergraduate degree program; 9 to a graduate degree program. I realize a lower maximum may apply in specific programs and that credit may be lost when transferring to a degree program if departmental limits are exceeded.

How are you?
"Same old-same old."
"Getting through the week."

A little boredom and monotony fall into the best of lives. Between life’s ups and downs we need a little flat-land. But a steady diet raises questions. Are you stuck in choices that no longer fit your needs? What are you doing to keep the spark of talent and creativity alive? This time of year, introspection comes easy. Cap it with a resolution to do something fascinating, new, challenging, or just plain fun in 1996. Wherever you’re headed, Continuing Education can help you fine tune your itinerary and reinvent the rules of your road. So you can catch up, zoom ahead, or sit back and enjoy the ride.

“You get what you settle for.”
—Thelma and Louise, MGM, 1991
