

Religion and Politics in Ancient Egypt

Fall 2016: RLST 1820
MWF 10:00-10:50 AM
MCOL E155

Also counts as an Anth class

Mummies.....pyramids.....Valley of the Kings
Names familiar to all of us but long dead, dusty, and irrelevant, right? But “Religion and Politics” could just as well read “Death and Taxes”. In this class, we will examine how the ancient Egyptians dealt with these universal issues and how the interplay between religion and politics shaped and changed the civilization over the course of 2000 years.

Instructor:

Jeanne Nijhowne, PhD

Jeanne.nijhowne@Colorado.edu

303-735-0519

