Purpose of the Handbook
This handbook is intended to serve you in your professional preparation at the University of Colorado Boulder. It is designed to give you an overview of the degree programs offered by the Dance Division and the specific purpose for which each degree was designed.

The handbook is provided as a source of information about the requirements and expectations of the Department. Please take time to read this information carefully. It should provide the answers to many of your questions and serve as a reference throughout your college career.

Since university, college, and dance degree requirements are subject to change, it is very important that you check with Primary Advisor Kyle Neidt before each registration period. Take note of drop/add deadlines, procedures, and final exam schedules. Be sure to keep documentation of all your transactions.

Goals of the Dance Division
We are a contemporary dance program - one that values and provides study in a range of styles that influence the multifaceted nature of concert dance today. Our training reflects the influences of both West African traditional dance and Western European (ballet) folk dance traditions. Our curriculum is designed to develop concrete skills in performance and choreography and to instill an appreciation of the role that dance plays in human culture around the world. The following areas of knowledge and experience are central to all the undergraduate degrees in dance:

- Physical accomplishment in a range of dance styles, including modern, ballet, jazz, hip hop, African, and other world dance traditions;
- Experience with the process and underlying aesthetics of dance creation and composition;
- Basic familiarity with cultural, sociological, and aesthetic issues important to the contemporary realities of the field of dance, including a working knowledge of major world dance styles, works of dance literature, and the history of dance;
- Knowledge of the various means, such as stagecraft, costuming, makeup, and production, through which a public presentation of dance is realized;
- Study and practical experience in dance pedagogy, identifying our purpose, goals and objectives as future educators;
- Basic knowledge of tactics for sustaining wellness, including various somatic approaches to dance training, injury prevention and rehabilitation from injury;
- Experiential study of the relationship between dance and music, including concrete practice of skills in playing and hearing music.

In addition, students completing a degree in dance are expected to acquire the ability and skills to:

- Actively participate in dance as an art form with particular attention to at least one of the following areas of dance: performance, choreography, dance production, scholarship, pedagogy or criticism;
- Understand and mobilize knowledge of appropriate use of the anatomy and physiology of the body in performance and teaching;
- Communicate effectively to an audience through at least one of the components of dance—performance, choreography, teaching or scholarship; and
- Function constructively as a member of a dance community in the preparation of regularly scheduled public productions.

Entering and Remaining in the Program
Entering Freshmen and Transfer Students. All students interested in dance as a major and who meet the admission requirements of the University of Colorado are automatically accepted as dance majors. No auditions are required prior to admittance, however, placement auditions are held each semester. Placement into the 10:00 a.m. major’s technique class (DNCE 2021, 3041, 4061) is mandatory within the first 2 semesters for a student to progress in the dance curriculum in a timely fashion. (See “Technique Classes” on pg 5.)

Remaining in the Program: Once a student has entered the program he/she must take the courses outlined in the degree plans for the BA or BFA and complete the Arts and Sciences (A&S) Core requirements. Degree requirements are found on the following pages: The A&S Core Curriculum can be found at www.colorado.edu/artssciences/students/undergraduates/core_curriculum.html
Students must receive a C- (1.7) or better in all required courses for the course to count towards graduation.

In addition to the course requirements for dance, there are guidelines found in this handbook that must be followed for successful completion of the major. These guidelines describe procedures for advising and assessing outcomes, technique placement, performance and production work. If a student does not adhere to these guidelines he/she will be dropped from the Division major lists. If a student drops the dance major it is the student’s responsibility to notify Primary Advisor Kyle Neidt.
Beginning of Semester Meeting
Each semester, during the first week of 10am technique class there is a mandatory orientation meeting for all majors who are enrolled. Students not enrolled in this are encouraged to come if they have the time free. Policies and procedures, as well as important dates will be clarified at that time. All students interested in the dance major should plan on enrolling in the 10am major's technique class their first semester to ensure a spot in the audition and placement which are held during the first week of classes.

Technique Classes
Students must place into the 10a.m. major’s technique class within the first two semesters at CU to progress in the dance curriculum in a timely fashion. Please note, however, that students are not guaranteed a placement into the 10 a.m. major’s technique class, as the level may not be appropriate.

Level and Course Number
Students must be aware that only classes whose course number ends in “1” will count towards major technique requirements. It is the student’s responsibility to enroll in the correct technique number following auditions each semester. Some technique course numbers can be repeated within the student’s degree plan.

♦ At each level of technique, certain concepts are addressed which are essential to good dance training. Occasionally students are placed at a technique level lower than their background and experience might suggest. This does not indicate a lack of talent and potential but a lack of understanding and training in a certain area that the faculty believes must be mastered before proceeding to a more advanced level.

♦ Even though a student may be a declared BA dance major, they may be placed in a non-major technique course if the faculty feels that their technical skills are not up to the level or the standards of the required class. Only courses ending in “1” will count towards the required technique hours. (See “Degree Requirements” on pg 6 for specific classes.)

♦ The 10a.m. major’s technique class is a pre-requisite for all sophomore theory classes, therefore if the students are not admitted within the first year, they should speak with one of the faculty about the advisability of continuing the dance major. The dance minor might be a more appropriate track to follow.

Auditions for Technique Classes
Auditions for new students and placement for returning students will be held in the first week of both fall and spring semesters. If not accepted into the 10 a.m. major’s technique class, faculty will encourage the student to re-audition the following semester, potentially affecting the student’s ability to graduate in a timely manner.

After each audition period, students will be advised of their appropriate class placement so that they may enroll in the correct technique course. If a student is pre-enrolled in a class but does not meet the level of the class, it is the student’s responsibility to drop the class and enroll in the appropriate course.

Other Technique Classes for Majors
All dance majors are required to take courses in a variety of dance styles. Many technique classes are open to non-majors and fill quickly, so students are advised to meet early with Kyle Neidt, Theatre & Dance Primary Advisor, to fit these courses into their degree plans. Majors who do not get into a class during registration are encouraged to put their names on the wait lists as these lists are programmed to move dance majors to the top of the list.

It should be noted that an audition is required for admittance into some of the 12 p.m. hour technique classes.
Degree Requirements

What are the degree options?
There are two degrees offered in dance, a Bachelor of Arts (BA) and Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA.) All students enter the program as BA students. Admittance to the BFA plan is by faculty approval, normally at the end of the 3rd semester or when you are completing DNCE 2033 Beginning Composition. (See the BFA degree requirements on pg. 11 for information on changing to the BFA degree.)

Bachelor of Arts
The BA is a broadly based program of dance training and study. The BA can prepare students for further study at the graduate level in performance, choreography, dance history, criticism, production, dance therapy or dance administration. It can also provide well-rounded dance knowledge for those individuals interested in dance teaching and writing. A BA degree requires 45 hours in dance, 10 hours in theatre and the completion of the A&S Core.

Technique requirements for the BA student are: 1) a minimum of 3 classes in the 10 a.m. majors technique sequence, DNCE 2021, 3041 or 4061; 2) one African class and 3) a variety of technique styles. Students must earn a total of 14 credit hours and only technique classes ending in “1” count towards the 14 credits.

Students must receive a C- (1.7) or better in all required dance classes and graduate with at least a 2.0 in all major classes. BA students must take 75 hours outside of the dance program and 45 of the total 120 hours applied towards graduation must be at the 3000 and 4000 level.

Bachelor of Fine Arts
The BFA is designed to meet the needs of highly talented and motivated students interested in preparing for a professional dance career in choreography or performance while in an academic setting. Sixty-seven credit hours in dance and 12-13 hours in theatre are required and expectations in terms of performance and choreography are clearly defined on page 11 of this handbook. A minimum overall GPA of a 3.0 and a 3.2 in BFA classes is required. Students who wish to pursue the BFA should talk to their mentor by the end of their freshman year and submit the application to the faculty at the end of the fall semester of their sophomore year. This will be after the student has completed Beginning Composition (DNCE 2033). Transfer students must be in the program at least one semester before applying.

Technique requirements for the BFA student are: 1) a minimum of 6 classes in the 10 a.m. majors technique sequence, DNCE 2021, 3041 or 4061 — one of which must be taken within the first two semesters in the program; 2) Alexander technique; 3) one African class and 4) a variety of technique styles. Students must earn a total of 25 credit hours and only technique classes ending in “1” count towards the 25 credits.

All BFA students with a 3.5 GPA and a 3.75 GPA in dance courses are automatically eligible for Departmental Honors by fulfilling the requirements of the BFA (performance and paper) and following the Honors College guidelines below.

Students must receive a C- (1.7) or better in all required dance classes and graduate with at least a 2.0 in all major classes. BFA students must take 53 hours outside of the dance program and 45 of the total 120 hours applied towards graduation must be at the 3000 and 4000 level.

*DNCE 4939 Senior Project: Dance Internship – 1 cr.: This course will be taken in one of the last three semesters of a student’s curriculum; summer internships are acceptable. In consultation with a dance faculty member, the student determines a topic or area of interest and seeks an off-campus organization or person to assist in research and/or work on the topic. A contract must be completed and approved prior to any work commencing and you must register for the course in the semester that you are completing the work. It is the student's responsibility to enter this endeavor with a researched list of potential contacts for the appropriate off campus organization, individual, or project. The student should gain practical experience and additional knowledge that will help him/her seek employment or determine plans for further education after graduation. This internship, and subsequent five+ page paper on the relevance of the experience to both the student’s education and the dance field at large, will be the culminating venture of the BA trajectory.

Use the steps below when planning your internship:
1. Find a project idea
2. Find an organization that will sponsor you, not a paying gig. An internship is for you to shadow a person or organization, to learn and to work, not for pay but for feedback
3. Find a faculty mentor
4. Fill out the internship contract and get it approved by your faculty mentor
5. Register for the internship DNCE 4939
6. Have your community sponsor/supervisor complete two evaluations. First one, ½ way. Second, at completion
7. Complete a five + paper (recommended 10 pages) that includes outside research that supports your curiosities and research
8. Hand in a first draft to your faculty mentor
9. Discuss first draft with faculty mentor, write second draft
10. Final meeting with your faculty mentor, internship approved and graded

Use the sheets on the following pages to chart your progress in the BA degree

Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree (BFA)

This program is designed to meet the needs of highly talented and motivated students interested in preparing for a professional dance career in performance and/or choreography while in an academic setting. A student must receive a C- (1.7) or better in all required dance classes. A student who wishes to pursue the BFA must apply for the BFA track during the 3rd semester while taking DNCE 2033 Beginning Composition.

The characteristics that the faculty looks for in BFA students are:
- Exceptional technical/expressive ability as demonstrated in class work and performance
- Choreographic skill or potential as demonstrated through movement invention and appropriate clarity of structure
- Willingness and drive necessary to pursue a professional career
- Exceptional musicality and rhythmic precision
- Maturity, organization and positive attitude

In addition to specified coursework, the BFA student must meet the following requirements:
- BFA students must show original choreographic work each semester in Open Space (formerly Student Dance Concert), FRESH or the Last Day of Class showings, beginning with fall of sophomore year.
- BFA students will present a senior concert in conjunction with other senior BFA’s in the spring of their senior year.
- By December of their junior year the student must have formed a committee of 2 faculty members who will evaluate his/her concert. The student and First Reader (lead faculty member) of the committee will complete a BFA Concert Form that is given to the Production Coordinator by January 31 junior year. The Production Coordinator will help you plan and oversee the production aspects of the show.
- BFA students must maintain a 3.0 GPA overall and a 3.2 in dance/theatre courses. If you drop below the required GPA (overall or dance) after you’ve submitted your concert proposal and held auditions, you may still be allowed to go forward with your concert at the discretion of the faculty.

Application for the BFA
Application guidelines for the BFA track will be posted each fall semester. BFA Applications will be considered by the faculty at the end of the fall semester of sophomore year or when the student is completing DNCE 2033 Beginning Composition. The undergraduate director will notify students of their decisions. If a student is admitted to the program he/she should talk to Kyle Neidt, Primary Advisor, to have their degree status officially changed from BA to BFA.

The required courses are:

Technique (total of 25 credit hours)
- 12 credits in 10am major’s technique – DNCE 2021, 3041, 4061

BFA Concert Information

All BFA students must present original creative work in the BFA concert and may perform solo work by another choreographer. BFA concerts are scheduled in spring semester. Exact dates are determined by the departmental Production Committee the year prior to the performance. One year prior to the concert, the student must complete a BFA Concert Form with his/her First Reader and the Production Coordinator. (See Concert Form on pg 35.)

Committee. By January of their junior year, each BFA student must select a First Reader who will advise in the choreographic work and oversee the writing of the evaluative paper. The student should select a faculty member with whom he/she feels comfortable and who has expertise in the area of choreography and/or performance in which the student is interested. The student should also choose one other THDN faculty member (Second Reader) who will serve on the faculty committee. Faculty members from THDN or any other CU department are eligible to be on the committee. There is the option of having a Third Reader, but note that this committee member (a) must be approved by your First Reader prior to inviting him/her to join the committee, (b) must see the concert and provide feedback, and (c) is not required to attend rehearsals or read the final paper.

Requirements for the Use of Video, Projected Imagery or Dance for the Camera in a Show

A student wishing to include projections or to present stand alone video dance pieces as part of his/her concert will need to:
1) Take the following courses: FILM 4600 Creative Digital Cinematography, ARSC 4040 Interdisciplinary Performance, and ARTS 4246 Beginning Video Production.
2) Consult with both the Production Coordinator and his/her First Reader, in advance of submitting the BFA Concert Form, in order to be given approval and instruction on how best to proceed. The student may also be asked to submit a finished video project that demonstrates his/her skills in film making techniques.
3) Demonstrate a satisfactory level of achievement in traditional choreographic skills.

Requirements for Aerial Work in a Show

A student wishing to include aerial work as part of his/her concert will need to:
1) Take at least one semester-long beginning or intermediate class in aerial dance technique and choreography taught by Frequent Flyers, Inc (or it’s equivalent.) The First Reader will determine if more classes or experience may also be required.
2) Consult with both the Production Coordinator and his/her First Reader, in advance of submitting the BFA Concert Form, in order to be given approval and instruction on how best to proceed.
3) Demonstrate a satisfactory level of achievement in traditional choreographic skills.

Budget

Each BFA student producing a concert project will be given $500 from the department’s show support budget which he/she may use to purchase or rent costumes, scenic items, props or to pay a composer. Students may also use their own funds for these or other items, but any plans to do so must be approved by the Production Coordinator. All items purchased with university funds remain the property of the university. (See “Concert Budgets” on pg 25.)

Length and Venue

Students considering submitting a proposal for ATLAS to serve as an alternative venue for their BFA thesis concert must receive full faculty approval by November of their junior year. Faculty approval is required prior to submitting Concert Proposal Due Date form for ATLAS shows.

There is a 20-minute time limit, enforced by faculty readers, for work shown by each BFA student. Students may choreograph group works, solo dances, dance for camera pieces, or have work set on them by outside artists, as long as all works fit within the 20-minute time limit. It is imperative that students show their pieces in progress to their First Readers and other faculty members. We strongly recommend at least two showings in the fall semester in addition to the showing 4 weeks prior to the concert.

Guidelines for BFA Paper

Paper. In addition to the performances, a paper that addresses choreographic intent, goals and processes, evaluation, contextualization, and performance documentation (flyers, press releases, programs, photos) must be presented to the concert faculty advisor, preferably in the same semester as the concert. The main body of the paper should be 10-12 typewritten pages. The paper should address:

- The choreographic and creative processes
- A self-evaluation of the work and what the impact might be on future work
- Other works, artists, or research influences that contextualize your work
- Specific production issues
• Appropriate documentation (photos, flyers, programs)
• And include at least two outside sources that support your research, cited in attached bibliography. Sources can include the work of other artists and/or texts.

It is suggested that BFA's keep a journal during the entire process to aid in creating this paper. Investigation into the work of other artists/texts should be an integral aspect of your process as well, begun alongside the choreographic experience. A rough draft of the paper should be submitted, in a timely manner, to your First Reader for comments. This draft should not be assumed completed before submission to your advisor for revisions. A copy of the final paper must be on file in the dance office prior to graduation. The student must also schedule a final meeting of his/her committee (including the Third Reader, if applicable) to discuss both the concert and paper.

The paper should not be a mere ordering or description of facts or event. When there is descriptive material, chronologies, or lists of characters or events, it may be included in one of the appendages at the end of the thesis, before the endnotes and bibliography.

The sources should reflect current research in the field. References in the text to sources used should be clearly and accurately indicated. This is particularly important when using the interpretation of another scholar’s work.

Notes and references may be either footnotes or endnotes, but must be consistent throughout the paper. Footnotes or endnotes should be used when quoting a source, using other people’s ideas, or citing statistical data.

Clarity, coherence, fluency, and grammatical accuracy are writing requirements for all BFA papers. Please proofread your paper carefully.

Structure of BFA Paper

Table of Contents

Explanation of Methods: Describe what methods were used to create the work and why they were chosen. Cite historical references and/or contemporary artists when applicable.

Evaluation: What worked? Which elements were successful and why? Which were not and why? What could have been done to make the process more successful and/or to strengthen the final product? What are the implications of the process and completed project on your future work?

The evaluation will address all aspects of the project as applicable, such as scheduling, PR, production elements, audience members and demographics. If money was required to complete the project, a budget should be included with an evaluation of the proposed budget in relation to the actual costs of the project.

Conclusion: A brief statement, 2-3 pages, that gives closure to the research: summarizing, restating, and synthesizing as appropriate, salient points.

Bibliography: Must be complete and in accordance with MLA or APA standards; in the case of books it must include author, title, year and place of publication, and name of publisher; and in the case of articles, the author, title of article, name of periodical, volume and issue number, date, and the inclusive pages. Information from the web and from DVDs must be thoroughly referenced. Interviews must be referenced by individual, date, location, and if the interview was recorded.

★★Please note: It is the student's responsibility to know and adhere to the deadlines during the process of creating and producing the BFA concert. You have been provided with a timeline at the end of this Handbook of what needs to be accomplished and the latest date by which it can be accomplished. Students should use this timeline to track their progress.

Departmental Honors, Dance Division, Department of Theatre and Dance

If your GPA meets the requirements, we encourage you to apply, remember it's an “honor” and your project and 10-12 page paper are enough to satisfy the requirements. If you're thinking of graduating with Honors, deadlines are found at: www.colorado.edu/honors/graduation/html

• The student must apply to the Honors Program by the announced deadline and meet all deadlines, thereafter, provided by the Honors Council regarding submission of written work and scheduling of the oral defense.
• There are no courses required for Departmental Honors beyond those required for the BA or BFA programs. However, the following courses must be taken and cannot be waived: DNCE 4017 History and Philosophy of Dance, DNCE 4037 Looking at Dance, and THTR 4081 Senior Seminar.
• The student must maintain a 3.5 GPA overall and a 3.75 in dance courses.
• The student will create a committee of at least three: the First Reader for the BFA Concert, a second dance faculty member (i.e. Second Reader), and one instructor from outside the dance program. One of these three must be a representative from the Honors Council.
• The student will discuss the topic of the paper with his/her First Reader and, once it is approved, the student will prepare a 250-word abstract of the topic that will be investigated. The abstract must be submitted to the First Reader of the committee no later than midterm the semester prior to graduation. Once the First Reader has approved the abstract, the student will submit it to the Honors Council. The abstract must also be included in the final copy of the paper.
• The abstract will include:
  - Student's name and department;
  - The title of the paper, which cannot exceed 50 characters including spaces;
  - Brief description of the subject or problem to be researched or the practical work that will be created and presented;
  - A one-paragraph description of the reason for investigating the topic;
  - A preliminary bibliography;
  - Name and signature of the Dance faculty advisor for the Honors Thesis.
• The student will write a scholarly paper based on the approved abstract. Additional information and documentation may be included regarding your concert such as posters, reviews, notes, floor plans, etc. The student must submit drafts of the paper to the First Reader during the writing process and not wait until the entire paper is completed to give it to the First Reader.
• The paper has to reflect and include research that you did in preparation for your project, i.e. what other artists have similar processes and what has been written about them; what theories did you apply to your process and who espouses them, uses them, etc.; how do you locate your project in the greater scheme of work currently being created; and clarifying your choices with clear and unsentimental language. We suggest 10-12 pages of written material backed up with a bibliography of all books, articles, websites, etc. that you accessed during the project; a well-edited video of the project (which can include rehearsal footage if you feel it’s illustrative) and any supportive material you find necessary to defend your project – photos, poetry, song lyrics, music scores, film, etc.
Dance Division Grading/Evaluation

Evaluation

Theory Classes: At the beginning of each semester faculty members will summarize the major areas of emphasis in the courses they are teaching. Expectations and requirements will be clarified at that time as well as the method of determining a grade for the course. If the student is unclear, he/she should check with the instructor to clarify expectations about the course.

Major Technique Classes: Students may keep informed of their progress through self-initiated consultations with their technique teachers. Students who earn consistently low grades should seek the advice of a dance faculty member as to whether they should continue in the major and to reassess their long-range goals. Students are graded both on their ability to meet the skill level standards expected of the class as well as their individual improvement. It should be noted that effort and attendance, while very important, are not sufficient for an "A" grade. Attendance is very important and a student's grade will be lowered if there are too many absences. Make sure you understand the absence policy for your classes.

Written Work: Written work in all classes will be graded not only on content but also for form, grammar and spelling. This includes papers submitted for technique as well as theory courses.

Minimum Acceptable Grades

A student must receive a grade of C- or better in all required dance courses in order for them to count towards graduation. Should a student fail to do so, the course(s) in which the student received a D or F must be repeated and a grade of C- or better earned. Students in the College of Arts and Sciences must maintain a grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 or better. The student will have one semester to bring the low GPA to a 2.0 or better before being dismissed from the university. BFA students must maintain a 3.0 overall and a 3.2 in dance.

Academic Integrity

A university's intellectual reputation depends on the maintenance of the highest standards of intellectual honesty. Commitment to those standards is a responsibility of every student and every faculty member at the University of Colorado. Breaches of academic honesty include cheating, plagiarism, and the unauthorized possession of exams, papers, or other class materials that have not been formally released by the instructor. For additional information on Academic Integrity and the honor code, go to www.colorado.edu/policies/acadinteg.html

Outcomes Assessment

The faculty of each department on campus must provide documentation, in addition to grades, of the progress of their students as they work through the major program. The Dance Division has devised the following method of tracking students progress in the theoretical and practical aspects of dance.

Video Record of Student Progress

A. Video record of technical progress. Students will be recorded, particularly in the 10a.m. major’s technique class, for the purpose of documenting progress in technical skills. All recordings will be kept in the Dance Division at all times.

B. Video record of creative development.
• All dance studies and projects required in beginning, intermediate, and advanced composition should be recorded by the student.
• All student concerts, faculty dance concerts and informal choreography workshops are recorded.
• BFA students will record their final concert and these will be kept on file.

Written/Digital Forms of Assessment

A. A diagnostic exam for entering freshmen will be given the first week of school. The same test will be administered again the senior year. It will include a variety of short answer questions.
B. Students should prepare a written resume. Further information will be given in Senior Seminar, THTR 4081.
C. It is recommended that students produce a digital portfolio of their CU dance accomplishments. This may include taped work from classes, concert works, and choreographic and musical studies. A written portfolio may contain a current resume, photos, reviews, articles and programs for each CU production or non-university production. Over the course of the degree plan BFA students should gather and save materials that document their work here.
D. Notebook/file (optional): Students can save all self-evaluations and dance critiques that they are required to write for technique classes and journals.

Coursework

THTR 4081 Senior Seminar - All dance majors are required to take this 3-credit class the last spring semester they are in school. The resume and portfolio noted above will be discussed and assigned in this course.
Student/Faculty Evaluations

A. Outcomes Assessment Review: A viewing of the Outcomes Assessment recordings will take place in Senior Seminar, THTR 4081. The student also has the option to view the recordings with his/her faculty mentor. If the student chooses the latter, he/she should schedule the appointment during his/her final semester, obtain video documentation, which is kept on file in the department and have it ready for the meeting. The faculty will submit a written document of the meeting that will be kept in the Outcomes Assessment file.

B. Exit Interview. In the weeks preceding commencement, the student will schedule an exit interview with the Director of Dance.

Dance Major Advising

Dance Mentor
When a student enters the dance program he/she will be assigned a dance mentor who will assist that student as long as he/she remains a dance major. The faculty is available to meet with students during office hours or by individual appointments. Office hours are posted on our website under each faculty.

A&S Primary Advisor
Entering first-year students are assigned a first-year advisor (offices in Woodbury) who will help them learn to navigate the CU-Boulder systems and access campus resources. By their sophomore year, students are assigned to their major advisor(s). Each A&S department has one or more advisors who will assist the students in selection of major and A&S Core courses, process official paperwork and complete the degree audit when the student graduates. Kyle Neidt is the Theatre and Dance Primary Advisor and can be reached at kyle.neidt@colorado.edu. It is important once you are reassigned to her that you make an appointment with her at least once a year to make sure you are completing the dance requirements and the A&S core curriculum in a timely manner. She has the official A&S folder that contains all core and graduation requirements, so it is imperative that you make an appointment early in the fall of your last year to complete the forms necessary for graduation. More information is available at the Academic Advising website. http://advising.colorado.edu

Controlled Enrollment Classes
Specific departmental permission is necessary to enroll in controlled enrollment classes, courses with 800 and 900 section numbers. This includes daily 10a.m. major’s technique classes, intermediate and advanced ballet, Alexander technique, advanced jazz, repertory, CU moving, senior seminar, production practicums, studio concert, senior project: internship and independent studies. Individual instructors will give you permission to add following an audition or other screening process.

Transfer Credits, ACCESS and Waiving Courses
Transfer: Dance credits may be transferred from accredited institutions of higher education. Transfer students should consult with Kyle Neidt, Primary Advisor, upon entering the program to determine which courses will be accepted toward the major requirements. Documentation such as catalog course descriptions, syllabi, outlines and assignments will be used to evaluate appropriateness. Courses applied to major requirements must appear on the student’s official CU record before they can be applied to major requirements. Transfer students pursuing the BA degree must take at least 4 credit hours of daily 10a.m. major’s technique (2021, 3041, 4061.) Transfer students pursuing the BFA degree must take at least 8 credit hours daily 10a.m. major’s technique.

ACCESS: Any courses taken through the Continuing Education ACCESS program on CU’s campus will count as transfer credits. Credits taken in dance classes through the ACCESS program will count towards the major.

Waivers: Occasionally credits may be waived by study of no less than four weeks at a recognized dance festival, studio or summer school where the instruction is under the direction of a recognized professional dancer/teacher. A waiver should be requested in writing and arranged with a dance faculty prior to beginning those classes. If specific credits are waived the student is still responsible for taking the full dance credit hours for graduation.

Withdrawing from CU and leaving the Dance Program
Students wishing to withdraw from classes and leave CU for a semester or more should visit the Registrar website: http://registrar.colorado.edu/students/withdraw.html. Any planned time off from the Boulder campus should also be discussed with Primary Advisor, Kyle Neidt and the Director of Dance. For details go to http://registrar.colorado.edu/students/timeoutprogram.html.

★★If a student decides not to pursue the dance major, is changing a major or becoming an open option major, he/she should notify a his/her faculty mentor and visit the Academic Advising website to learn how to make a major change.
Dance Division Policies

Personal Appearance
--Students are expected to be appropriately dressed for classes.
--Students are not to chew gum in class or bring food or drink other than water into the studios.
--Dance majors are encouraged to maintain good health (good nutrition, sufficient sleep) to meet the demands of the discipline, especially in an academic environment. If you have questions or concerns about these issues please speak with the Director of Dance.

Class Attendance
Theory classes:
Students are expected to attend all classes. It is the student's responsibility to make up material that was missed when unavoidable absence occurs. Each instructor will clarify his/her own attendance policy at the beginning of each semester.

Technique classes:
The nature of technique class demands consistent attendance. Lateness, sporadic participation, and "sitting out" all detract from the quality of training. Attendance is considered a reflection of a student's working attitude and commitment to training. As such, it is one of the factors involved in determining the grade. Absence without excuse will lower a student's grade. Unavoidable absence may be excused at the discretion of the instructor.

Students not present when roll is called will be considered absent. It is the responsibility of the latecomer to inform the instructor of his/her presence at the close of the class. Being late twice equals one absence.

When a student feels well enough to attend class (temperature free, please, and not contagious) but unable to participate he/she may receive partial credit for observing if he/she submits a written observation at the end of class.

In cases of illness or injury the student should report to the instructor immediately upon his/her return to class to explain the absence. If the absence will be for an extended period contact the instructor by phone or email.

If a student misses class for an extended period of time it is his/her responsibility to talk to the teacher about the grade. The instructor can decide if the work can be made up, extra work done or if an "incomplete" should be assigned until the work is completed. It is possible to drop the course if the deadline for doing so has not yet passed.

Performance Commitments On or Off Campus
Occasionally a student will have to miss a class because of Dance Division performance commitments on and off campus. Students having to miss class for this reason must make arrangements with the appropriate instructors in dance and other disciplines prior to the absence.

Injuries
When an accident occurs and an injury results, the student’s care is of utmost importance. The instructor will direct primary first aid, however the student may be directed to Wardenburg (the CU Health Center) if the instructor feels the injury warrants further attention. Please note that students may pay for CU insurance, which gives them access to Wardenburg. If a serious injury occurs, 911 will be called which will alert campus police and emergency medical personnel; for this purpose, a phone is available in the dance wing lobby. For less serious injuries, there is an ice machine available on the 3rd floor.

Independent Study
Independent Study is available only to fill a specific academic need that cannot be met by the regular curriculum. No more than 6 credit hours of Independent Study can be taken by an undergraduate student in any semester. No more than 8 semester credit hours of Independent Study may be taken in a single department or program. No more than 16 credits of Independent Study may count towards the Bachelor's degree. Before registering for an Independent Study, a contract form must be completed by the student and supervising instructor which specifies the nature of the study, expected outcomes and the methods of presenting work for evaluation. The student and the instructor should each keep a copy of the contract and one should be on file in the main Theatre and Dance office. A sample contract form can be found on page 33. Arrangement for credit must be made prior to beginning work. Retroactive credit generally cannot be awarded.

Dance Practicum
Course numbers with this title are used to give a student credit for choreography, performance or special topics. Arrangement for credit for a performance or choreographic project must be made prior to the semester in which the work will be done as the instructor must be involved in the entire process for evaluation purposes. Retroactive credit generally cannot be awarded.

Locker Policy
There are lockers located in the dance wing (Men’s – 3rd floor, Women’s – 2nd floor) for annual and day use by all dance students. You must let the Dance Program Assistant know which locker you are using and provide your own lock. You may use the lockers on a daily basis without notification and will need to provide your own lock. All lockers will be cleaned and locks will be removed at the end of each academic year unless you notify the dance department that you plan on keeping your locker throughout the summer. Every effort will be made to notify students in a timely manner but please plan accordingly. Items remaining in the lockers will either be thrown away (food, personal items) or donated to Goodwill.

Scholarships

Talent & Creativity Awards
The Dance Division offers scholarships that are awarded each semester. The dates for submitting applications will be posted and announced during the prior semester. The awards are made primarily to sophomores, juniors and seniors. The amounts will vary depending on the funds available and the number of qualified applicants. These scholarships are given to students who are involved in the dance program through performance, choreography, production, guest residencies or participation in Onstage or the CU Dance Connection (CUDC). There is no limit to the number of times a student may apply for and/or receive a University Dance Award. The awards usually range from $250 to $1500.

The Jamie Kellam Redmond Award
This award, supported by the family of the first BA dance major Jamie Kellam Redmond, is given to the undergraduate student considered the most outstanding for the year based on talent and creativity. Students do not apply for this award. In making the award the faculty considers juniors who have displayed a deep commitment to dance through achievement in teaching, choreography, performing and/or scholarship. The name of this student is engraved on a plaque displayed in the dance building. The amount varies from year to year and is awarded by Ms. Redmond in the spring semester for the following academic year.

Katherine J. Lamont Scholarship
Established by Ms. Lamont, this scholarship is awarded alternately to a dance major or a theatre major (undergrad or grad) each year. The award is given to a student who is at least a junior, has a 3.0 GPA, has completed at least 20 hours in dance credits and who has “demonstrated competence in establishing, increasing, or clarifying the relationship of dance to social values and humanistic concerns.” Students do not apply for this award.

Anne and James DeCastro Scholarship
This award, supported by the DeCastros, will be given to undergraduate students based on talent and need. Award amounts will vary. Students do not apply for this award.

Professionalism

All students are expected to conduct themselves professionally in classes, rehearsals and during the performance process. Refer to individual instructors’ syllabi for attendance, lateness and injury policies.

• All dancers should arrive on time for rehearsal. If you will be late or cannot make a rehearsal, you must notify the choreographer. Excessive absences may result in being dropped from the cast.
• Do not over-commit. Make sure you can fulfill all rehearsal and performance dates before you accept a choreographer’s offer to dance in his/her piece.
• Choreographers should present and adhere to detailed rehearsal and production schedules so that dancers’ commitments are specified.
• All casts must commit to production schedules for performances as specified by the Production Coordinator and Artistic Director.
• Mutual respect is expected during the rehearsal process. The choreographer should plan the rehearsal time efficiently and come prepared. Dancers are expected to cooperate and embrace the creative process of the choreographer. Both dancers and choreographers who encounter intractable problems with rehearsal, production and performance behaviors should contact the Director of Dance.

Productions

Schedule: Annually our full season of performances might include BFA and MFA Concerts, Open Space, Fresh (informal choreographers showcase) and The Current. The theatre division

Auditions
It is a department policy that all choreographers should hold an open audition before casting a piece that will be produced by the department. Proper advance notice (flyers, announcements in class) is expected. Every attempt should be made to schedule auditions at times that have minimal conflicts with classes and to accommodate dancers who are unable to attend auditions because of class or work conflicts. Shared auditions are strongly encouraged. This policy is designed to ensure that performance opportunities are made available to as many dance majors as possible and that dancers and choreographers learn proper audition techniques. Though we cannot guarantee that every student will be cast in a dance every year, it is important for all of us to cultivate artistic generosity and openness toward our colleagues in the department.

The audition process in this institution should promote both professional behavior and educationally sound experience. These values are based on fairness, full-disclosure, and personal and artistic integrity. If there are any questions about audition procedures, please contact the Director of Dance BEFORE making audition plans.

1. All student dances produced by the department must be auditioned publicly.
2. If a dance is being co-choreographed by all of its performers, an audition is not necessary, but notice of such a plan and the cast list must be given to the Director of Dance.
3. Choreographers are welcome to schedule and announce auditions at their convenience. The department will work to schedule collective auditions when it is useful to choreographers planning to make work, but students are welcome to establish alternative dates.
4. Cast lists must be posted on the 3rd floor bulletin board following the audition process and must be copied to the Director of Dance.

Students should regularly check the bulletin board on the 3rd floor for announcement of other auditions throughout the year.

Choreographers for all departmentally produced performances must be current dance majors and all performers must be enrolled in CU classes either with degree-seeking status or through the ACCESS program. If there is a compelling artistic reason to engage off-campus performers the choice must be approved by the faculty prior to casting the dance.

Rehearsal Space
The procedure for scheduling rehearsals in the studio spaces will be explained at the beginning of each semester. Each student choreographer is requested to sign up initially for no more than 2 rehearsals per week on the master schedule for a total of 4 hours. During the semester when a BFA or MFA student is producing his/her concert, he/she may have 3 rehearsal slots in the studios for a total of 6 hours. Those students will receive priority (after faculty schedules) in requesting rehearsal times.

Master Schedule: reserving space
Students can reserve rehearsal times in studios 350, 325 and 305 but not in Carlson Gym. Only BFA and MFA students can reserve 150. At the beginning of each semester students can request a specific day, time and studio to use each week for the duration of that semester. Faculty has first priority in scheduling the studios and BFA’s and MFA’s who are presenting their final concerts have second priority. Other students can request master schedule times once rehearsals are scheduled for faculty and concert students.

Posted Weekly Schedules
Weekly schedules are posted on the 3rd floor bulletin board each Monday morning for the studios. Everyone on the master schedule will be printed on the weekly schedule. If a student does not need his/her time that week, it should be crossed out. If additional time is needed or a student is not on the master schedule, students can sign up any time that is not already reserved. NO student may have more than 12 hours signed out in one week.

Keys and Rehearsals
Studios 350, 325 and 305 should be unlocked during the regular academic year. W150 is always locked and BFA students producing concerts will be issued their own key so may sign out times in W150. “Passing” of your key to other students will not be allowed. Students with keys shall not allow those without a key to use the studio and, most especially, you must not prop the door open for someone who does not have a key. Abuse of this policy will result in loss of space use privileges. When you use 150 you are responsible for making sure all sound equipment is locked up and all 4 doors are locked and closed tightly. There are 3 doors on the main floor and one in the balcony that must be secured.

Building Access After Hours
The building is unlocked between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. every day except holidays. If the dance wing doors are locked, go to the door at the end of the ramp in the back of the building. That door should always be open during the hours the building is unlocked.

Sign Up and Studio Rules
Note that there is to be no smoking, drinking, or eating in the dance studios. All dance activities requiring the use of shoes, including dedicated hip-hop and character shoes are suitable and approved for use in all dance studios with the following exception for W150: When the new performance floor is installed for a show the use of shoes for classes or rehearsals is restricted. Only those shoes that have been approved by the Production/Technical Director may be used during that time period. All footwear must be dedicated dancewear, not a dancer’s normal “street” shoes. These rules are enforced to preserve our studios. Floors can be ruined by fire, wetness or sticky food, and dirt and grit. All eating and drinking is to be done in the hallways and all smoking, in accordance to state rules, must be done outside the building. No sets or props may be used or stored in the studios unless approved by Production Coordinator.
• A student must sign up space under his/her name. Do not use another person’s name under any circumstance.
• In order to reserve studio space, you will need to first determine which day/time and studio you’d like to reserve by viewing our studio calendars on our website. http://theatredance.colorado.edu/department/calendars. Then email dancestudiosignup@colorado.edu and request the day/time and studio. You will receive a confirmation within 24 hours if requesting space M – F. If space is requested on the weekend, you will receive a confirmation by the end of the business day on Monday.
• If a student must cancel a rehearsal, the student must email dancestudiosignup@colorado.edu to cross off his/her name from the schedule and free up the space for other students.
• The person signing up the space must be the Director of the rehearsal. Do not sign up space for other people under your name.
• Only majors and students enrolled in a CU dance class during the current semester may sign up for rehearsal time.
• Rehearsal time must be used for dance class projects or dance program performances.
• A non-major may sign up for no more than 2 hours of rehearsal time per week.
• Non-majors cannot sign up time on the master schedule; time must be reserved on a weekly basis.

Use of Dance Sound Systems for Rehearsal
Undergraduates will be given access to portable stereos for use in the studios only. These are not to be removed from the building. The combination for the lock box that holds the key for the cabinet can be obtained from the Music Coordinator.

Use of Studio Video Systems
W150, 350 and 325 have permanently mounted cameras that work with recording equipment housed in the closets in those studios. Students can use this equipment if they have access to the closets and if they provide their own VHS tape or DVD.

Use of Props
Chairs or other furniture that is part of the normal studio-hallway furniture cannot be used as part of a set or as props. Students wanting to use furniture or any props of a “hard” nature in rehearsals or a class assignment must talk to the Production Coordinator prior to their use. They will make sure the item is safe for use on our dance studio floors and can also make suggestions about how and where to find other items to better facilitate the student’s work. No sets or props can be taken into the studios without prior approval from the Production Coordinator.

FRESH
Fresh (previously Choreographer’s Showcase) are often held the Friday before the last week of classes in both fall and spring semesters. This is an opportunity for any major to show work. BFA and MFA students must show their work at this time if they have not shown work on any other showing or concert during that semester.

Open Space (formerly Student Dance Concert)
The concert scheduled each spring showcases the best of student creative work. The Student Dance Alliance will create an impartial panel to select the dances to be produced on the Concert from adjudications scheduled by the Production Coordinator. The date for this audition will be announced and posted. Each choreographer is strongly encouraged to have faculty members view their work while it is in progress before the showings.

Guidelines for participation:
• All choreographers auditioning work for Open Space must be dance majors or minors.
• All performers must be current CU students unless permission to cast off-campus dancers has been given by the Director of Dance.
• Incomplete work can be presented at auditions but will be evaluated based on what the adjudicator sees.

Requirements for the Use of Video, Projected Imagery or Dance for the Camera in a Show
A student wishing to include projections or to present stand alone video dance pieces as part of his/her choreography will need to:
1) Take the following courses: FILM 4600 Creative Digital Cinematography, ARSC 4040 Interdisciplinary Performance, and ARTS 4246 Beginning Video Production.
2) Consult with the Production Coordinator in advance of beginning rehearsals in order to be given approval and instruction on how best to proceed. The student may also be asked to submit a finished video project that demonstrates his/her skills in film making techniques.
3) Demonstrate a satisfactory level of achievement in traditional choreographic skills.

Requirements for Aerial Work in a Show
A student wishing to include aerial work as part of his/her choreography for a CU concert will need to:
1) Take at least one semester-long beginning or intermediate class in aerial dance technique and choreography taught by Frequent Flyers, Inc. (or it’s equivalent.)
2) Consult with the Production Coordinator in advance of beginning rehearsals in order to be given approval and instruction on how best to proceed.
3) Demonstrate a satisfactory level of achievement in traditional choreographic skills.

Last Day of Class Showings
Work will be shown the last day of class each semester from 10-11:30 in W150. This is primarily for technique classes to show what they have learned, comp classes to show final studies, and for the few individual works that were not shown on FRESH or Open Space Concert.

BFA Concert - see BFA Requirements

Production Requirements
Students entering the dance major will take DNCE 1012 Dance Production 1 during the first fall semester in the program. This class is concerned with basic production information. In addition, all students are required to take THTR 3035-830 Practicum for hands-on learning serving as part of a running crew for a theatre or dance performance. This can be scheduled either fall or spring of freshman year. Performance in department dance productions must be scheduled around the running crew to which you commit.

Dance majors are required to take THTR 1115 Costume Technologies during their sophomore year. This course conflicts with the daily 10a.m. major’s technique class, so during the semester that this class is taken, students should enroll in another 2-day per week technique class. BA students will take an additional 1credit practicum, THTR 3035-831 or 832 Projects. BFA students will take DNCE 4012 Concert Production the spring of their junior year.

Concert Budgets
Each student choreographer in a fully produced show (other than Open Space) is allotted up to $500 from the department's production budget which he/she may spend for whatever needs he/she has; costumes and costume construction, sets, props, music CD’s, composers, musicians. Details on correct procedures for use of this money will be given at production meetings, but some general things to be aware of in advance are:
- Fees paid to people. There are many processes for this, depending on who they are, their employment status with the University, and other considerations. You must discuss any plans with production management before finalizing any agreement with any person.
- Special Tech/Design Needs. Sometimes it is possible for the department to cover certain re-usable items with other funds. Sometimes we own things of which you may not be aware. Be sure to check with production management before buying anything.
- All items for which you are reimbursed become the property of the University. In the case of built costumes, props, or scenery, if we paid for both materials and labor, it's ours. If we paid for materials, and the labor was donated, it is ours. If you paid for the material, and we paid for the labor, it's yours, if you want it.
- Use of a students’ personal funds. This is allowed, but there are some restrictions. Details must be discussed with production management as a part of the normal production process, and before any commitments are made, funds are spent, or work is undertaken.

Selection of Dances for the American College Dance Festival
The CU dance program is a member of American College Dance Festival Association (ACDFA) and makes every effort to participate in a regional festival each spring. The festivals are held on member college campuses and are open to all of our majors. Festivals include: 3-4 days of classes taught by master teachers and faculty from member schools, informal performance of student work, and performances of works submitted by member schools for adjudication by professional dancer/choreographers, scholars and arts administrators. Each school can submit 2 dances for adjudication and one of these must be choreographed by a student. All performers must be CU degree-seeking students. If a student in a selected dance graduates in December, that student may still attend ACDF in spring.

The faculty selects the works that will be sent to ACDF to represent our dance program. The decision is made in the spring semester prior to next year's spring regional festival.

The dance faculty collectively makes the decision on which pieces will be sent. The decision is based on:
- Uniqueness/originality.
- Quality of choreography and performance.
- Preference is given to work already produced. The selections for Spring 12 have already been made.
- Sending work to ACDF is often important for faculty who are seeking promotion or tenure and is often the main reason a faculty piece is chosen.
Performance Opportunities

On-Campus/CU Sponsored Performances

Open Space - Student Concerts: These concerts are organized and presented by the students. The dances selected by an impartial panel are student choreographed and performed.

FRESH: A chance for majors and minors to show choreography with minimal technical support. This is not adjudicated and showcases are presented at the end of each semester.

(Un)W.R.A.P: Un-doing Writing, Research and Performance is a week long dance forum culminating in performances, panels and workshops.

The Current: An adjudicated concert, produced at CU, which highlights the work of community and student choreographers. Participants are selected by an adjudication panel on the basis of DVD applications.

MFA Creative Projects: Graduate students presenting a concert as part of their creative project often require additional performers to dance in their productions. This is an excellent opportunity to work on performance skills and for interaction between graduate and undergraduate students.

BFA Concerts: As part of the graduation requirements, BFA candidates must produce a program of their own choreography, in conjunction with other BFA candidates. BFA choreographers cast their dances with their fellow students.

Musical Theatre: The Department of Theatre and Dance presents a musical in which dance students may participate. The College of Music also presents musical comedy or opera for which dance majors may audition.

Performance Practicum (DNCE 1908): This course provides a guaranteed performance opportunity to new students. A work is choreographed on freshmen and sophomore students by an MFA student for performance in the Open Space.

Repertory Class: This class offers an opportunity for students to learn faculty and guest artist work for performance in an informal or formal situation. Reconstructions are occasionally included in the course content.

Off-Campus/CU Sponsored Performances

Outreach/CU Moving Company investigates the ideals of community engagement and collaboration. Students experience aspects of the creative process, performance, production, workshop facilitation, and logistical coordination through participation in a touring dance company. Sophomores must take THTR 4029 Touring Ensemble; the course content covers learning repertory and performing off-campus with the CU Moving Company. BFA students must work with the Moving Company again in their junior or senior year as performers, choreographers and managers.

American College Dance Festival: The CU dance program is a member of the American College Dance Festival Association (ACDFA) and makes every effort to participate in a regional festival each year. CU has been invited to perform 8 dances at the biennial national festivals. (See page 25 for more information.)

PARTICIPATION IN PERFORMANCES OUTSIDE OF THE DEPARTMENT

In the interest of fairness to all those who may be affected by a student’s desire to work outside the department, the following items outline the department’s policy:

A. A student may from time to time wish to be involved in a performance or other activity that is being produced outside of the department and at dates and times that run concurrent with the department production calendar. We recognize this kind of opportunity is a potentially valuable experience, and will make every effort to support it. In order to avoid conflicts with departmental programs the following requirements are in place:

B. A student who has committed to either choreographing for or performing in a department production must not agree to any dates or times for rehearsals or performances outside of the department until the following process has been completed:

1. For departmental regular season productions the following activities are those that are considered to entail mandatory attendance:
   - Run-Thru, Cue to Cue Rehearsal, Tech Run, Dress Rehearsals, Performances.
2. The student will submit to the Production Coordinator a list of dates and times that clearly show all potential conflicts the activity may have with the Department’s production calendar.
3. The Production Manager will consult with the Director of Dance to ascertain if the student may be excused from Departmental commitments.
4. The student will then be advised as to the results of that consultation and may then commit to any and all dates not considered to be an undue conflict.

C. Likewise, a student wishing to participate in a departmental production who has already committed to dates and times for a non-departmental activity will be required to disclose that information in the same manner outlined in item B above.

D. After following the review procedure and having committed to participation in the non-departmental activity, it is possible that the student may be asked to add additional times to that productions’ schedule. Before committing to those additional times, the process stated in item B must be repeated.

E. Failure to abide by this policy may result in the student and/or his/her dance being removed from the production.
Minor in Dance

The minor in dance is designed to provide the student with a broad overview of dance as an art form. Required core courses introduce students to basic elements of dance. The rest of the minor plan is created by the student in conjunction with Primary Advisor Kyle Neidt. If you have specific dance questions, please contact the Director of Dance.

The rules of the College of Arts and Sciences apply in designing each student's program. The courses DNCE 1017 Dance and Popular Culture, DNCE 1027 Introduction to Dance and Culture, DNCE 4017 History & Philosophy of Dance and DNCE 4037 Looking at Dance will apply towards the minor and the A&S Core Curriculum requirement.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, she has been teaching, dancing and making dances in the Boulder/Denver area for over twenty-five years. Her early training included study at the Martha Graham School of Contemporary Dance, and the Clark Center for the Performing Arts, where she trained extensively in the Lester Horton technique with James Truitte. She also studied Merce Cunningham technique with Margaret Jenkins, Viola Farber, June Finch and Jeff Slayton.

While pursuing her MA in Dance at Mills College in California, she performed with the Margaret Jenkins Dance Company and Lynn Daily and Dancers. She has taught at several Universities in the United States, and has conducted creative dance workshops in the public schools for teachers and their students. Lorenzo (Rennie) Harris: Artist-in-Residence, fall semesters, 2010-2015. Lorenzo (Rennie) Harris, Artistic Director and Choreographer, celebrates hip-hop culture on his own terms by using some of the world’s most influential forms of movement, music, and storytelling to revolutionize contemporary concert dance. Born and raised in North Philadelphia, Harris has been teaching workshops and classes at universities around the country and is a powerful spokesperson for the significance of “street” origins in any dance style. The mark of Harris’ career began as a performer and choreographer through performing for crowds at clubs, parties and within his community with his first company, the Scanner Boys in the 1980s (a hip hop performance group of which Harris was a founding member). According to Harris, he didn’t become a part of the “legitimate” dance community until 1992, when he was invited to participate in the Susan Hess Choreographer’s Project.

In 1992 Harris founded Rennie Harris Puremovement (www.rhpm.org), a hip-hop dance company dedicated to preserving and disseminating hip-hop culture through workshops, classes, hip-hop history lecture demonstrations, long term residencies, mentoring programs and public performances. Harris founded his company based on the belief that hip hop is the most important original expression of a new generation. With its roots in the inner-city African-American and Latino communities, hip hop can be characterized as a contemporary indigenous form, one that expresses universal themes that extend beyond racial, religious, and economic boundaries, and one that (because of its pan-racial and transnational popularly) can help bridge these divisions.

Harris’ work encompasses the diverse and rich African-American traditions of the past, while simultaneously presenting the voice of a new generation through its ever-evolving interpretations of dance. Harris is committed to providing audiences with a sincere view of the essence and spirit of hip hop rather than the commercially exploited stereotypes portrayed by the media. As Harris develops as a choreographer, he continues to profoundly influence the field of contemporary dance.

Harris shows us the integral connections between body movements through the philosophy inherent in the company’s name, “Puremovement of mind, body, and soul.” Since establishing the company 15 years ago, Rennie Harris has continually demonstrated his outstanding talent for utilizing his distinctive and compelling contributions to dance vocabulary based on his personal choreographic vision.

Charlotte Irey: (BS, MA) Professor Emeritus, developed the Dance Major and was the director the Dance Division until her retirement in May 1988. She was a founding member of the Council of Dance Administrators (CODA). The studio/theatre of the dance wing has been named the Charlotte York Irey Studio/Theatre in honor of her dedication to dance education.

Connie Lane: BA in Theatre Arts at Beloit College, Member of Actors Equity Association. Connie is thrilled to be coming back to the front range and joining CU Boulder’s Theatre and Dance faculty in the fall 2011. We welcome her 30 years of professional production experience in the performing arts arena of theatre, dance, music and special events. Her AEA stage management credits include multiple seasons with the Arvada Center, the Kennedy Center Theatre for Young People in Washington, DC and Theatre Project Company in St. Louis. Recently she has dance experience in the bay area highlighted by PSM work with Margaret Jenkins Dance Company and the Smuin Ballet.

Connie has served as the Technical Coordinator of the Lory Student Center at Colorado State University, the Showcase Production Manager of the Western Arts Alliance’s annual booking conference, and spent five years as the Production Coordinator of the Cherry Creek Arts Festival in Denver. Other festival work includes six years with the Smithsonian Institution’s Festival of American Folklife and stage management of regional music festivals including MichFest and Olivia Travel music events.

Jesse Manno: BA in Asian Studies, University of Colorado-Boulder, Dance Division Music Director, Instructor, faculty member since 2000; Head Accompanist since 1991, Associate Accompanist 1984-1990

Original scores commissioned for CU dance concerts include “Peristyle” with Onye Ozuzu in 2002 and pieces by Nada Diachenko, David Capps, Nancy Spanier, Mel Wong, Toby Hankin, and Aaron Smith. Manno has created over 50 original scores for dance, theatre, film and multimedia productions outside the University, many of them evening length works. Some recent commissioning artists/organizations include Gabriel Masson and the Bates Dance Festival, Nancy Spanier, Ballet Nouveau Colorado, David Taylor Dance Theatre and Lazer Vaudeville. His work has been supported by two N.E.A. Meet the Composer grants, among others, and has been presented in Germany, Holland, the U.K., Hong Kong, Taiwan, Saudi Arabia, and all across the U.S.

Manno sings and plays instruments in the piano, guitar, woodwind and percussion families, incorporating a wide range of genres. His greatest loves are Balkan and Middle Eastern music, Romantic music, Minimalism, and recorded soundscapes combining – in one case – a California roller coaster with a beginning Bulgarian bagpipe class in the distance. Manno grew part way up in New York City, the son of a musician and a dancer, and later began accompanying and composing professionally for dance as a teenager in Fort Collins, CO.

Nancy Spanier: (BA, MA) Professor Emeritus, CU faculty member 1969-2003

Stephanie Tuley received her MFA in Dance at the University of Colorado – Boulder, her BS in Ballet (with high honors) and BS in Mathematics (with highest honors) with a Minor in Contemporary Dance, at Indiana University in Bloomington. She has been a lecturer at UCB since 2012. Stephanie Tuley is an emerging scholar, choreographer, and teacher whose research examines the relationship between ballet pedagogy and such notions as identity, nationhood, empire, propaganda, and warfare. In 2011 she was awarded a prestigious Endeavour Research Fellowship from the Australian government to examine the historical development of pedagogical practices in Australian ballet. She is currently developing this research, which was conducted at The Australian Ballet School, The National Library of Australia, and The Queensland University of Technology, into a book. She has danced professionally with Alaska Dance Theatre, Peoria Ballet, and Utah Festival Opera, and she has been coached by ballet luminaries including Violette Verdy, John Clifford, Julie Kent, Michael Vernon, James Sewell, and Guoping Wang. Her most recent choreography includes collaborative efforts with dancers Erika Randall, Tara Rynders, Joy French, Kristin Kingsley, and concert pianist Alex Peh. Her dance for camera, Five Cuts was featured in the 2010 Sans Souci Festival for Film Dance. Tuley is passionate about teaching ballet technique from an anatomically sound perspective. Independent Study Information Sheet/Department of Theatre and Dance

Purpose of Independent Study
Independent study in the Department of Theatre and Dance provides students with the opportunity to earn academic credit for work done outside the formal class structure on a topic that is not covered in a regular course or is not covered in sufficient depth. Students can request to work with a regular faculty member or, on approval of the Chair or Associate Chair, a guest artist. Faculty members are under no compulsion to accept independent study students but do so as their schedule permits.

Theatre and Dance Independent Study Policies
The following activities are not acceptable as work towards independent study credit:

• Internships (ex. serving as a volunteer assistant to a director of a local arts group; Internships would be appropriate for this experience)
• Working in the capacity of an employee in this or another campus department (GPTI, TA, RA, assisting an instructor)
• Investigating a topic which is covered in a regularly offered course
• Work to fulfill Core Requirements (or College List for former students)
• Work completed off-campus, unless approved by the instructor prior to beginning the work and the work follows appropriate independent study procedures
• Volunteer work, unless it is a part of and essential to the investigation of the topic
• Work done in a business, unless it is a part of and essential to the investigation of the topic
• Extra work done for a regular course, unless it is approved by the instructor prior to beginning the work and following independent study procedures
• Work that has already been accomplished

Description of the Contract
Each student who has received permission from a faculty member to enroll in an independent study must complete, with the assistance of that instructor, a contract detailing the specifics of the work. The contract includes:

--a title or thesis statement for the work
--the correct independent study course and section number
--the correct amount of credit hours to be awarded (25 hours of work must be completed for each hour of credit awarded)
--the methods used to investigate the topic
--the meeting pattern to assess progress
--the method of presenting work
--the criteria for evaluation and grading
--the date for completion and submission of the work

The completed form must be signed and dated by the student and the instructor. One copy is kept in the departmental office and the student and the instructor each keep a copy.

Semester Hours of Credit Allowed

• An undergraduate student may take a maximum of 6 credit hours on independent study in one semester.
• An undergraduate student may apply a maximum of 8 credit hours in one department towards graduation.
• An undergraduate student may apply a maximum of 16 credit hours of independent study towards graduation.

Eligibility
Independent Study in the Department of Theatre and Dance is limited to theatre and dance majors. Minors and other majors may request an independent study with a departmental faculty member and those requests will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. There are no GPA, class standing or completion of specific course requirements to be eligible for independent study. Independent study credit may not be awarded retroactively. An instructor has the right to decline overseeing work for any student, major or non-major, depending on his/her workload for that semester.

Procedures
Independent study contracts are provided by the instructor once he/she agrees to oversee a student’s work. Independent study must be arranged and the contract completed and signed prior to the end of the schedule adjustment period for the semester in which the work be initiated. The instructor will provide the student with the correct course number and section number. It is the student’s responsibility to formally enroll via ISIS and if it is not completed prior to the end of schedule adjustment the student will need to follow the College policies for requesting a late add from the Dean.
