In the aftermath of the September 11 tragedy, there has been a dramatic shift in U.S. immigration policy. The government has arrested, detained, and removed record numbers of non-citizens from the United States. Now, more than ever, there is an urgent need for legal representation for detained non-citizens.

This program will provide those from all areas of the law with the necessary information to represent detained non-citizens in immigration proceedings. We invite attorneys, paralegals, and law students to attend the program at a reduced rate in exchange for accepting, or assisting with, one pro bono case during the upcoming year. Pro bono cases will be referred after preliminary screening and evaluation. RMIAN's staff and Board will be available as mentors throughout the course of the immigration proceedings.

We hope that you will participate in this valuable opportunity to work with clients from diverse cultures who truly need and appreciate your assistance!
