ABOUT US: New Era Colorado is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization working to build a more accessible democracy that more accurately reflects and engages the millennial generation. Our goal is to bring young people into the political process through civic engagement, leadership development, and issue advocacy. Since our founding, we have registered, educated, and turned out tens of thousands of young voters. New Era also has passed forward-thinking policies that make elections more accessible and make tangible change on issues that impact young people. We’re working to change our state for the better, and we need you to help us make that happen.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM: Our fall program is focused on training young people to be effective and inclusive community leaders through weekly classroom sessions and on-the-ground fieldwork. Through building, advancing, and leading grassroots campaigns, interns make a real difference in the lives of young people through policy & elections. Interns lead & participate in weekly classroom sessions designed to give them the skills and tools necessary to make positive change in their community. We pair the classroom training with serious fieldwork so interns can make a tangible impact on their community utilizing the skills they learn in the classroom.

WHAT TO EXPECT:
➢ Gain valuable leadership skills through a mix of classroom sessions and hands-on field work.
➢ Participate in local & state-level grassroots campaigns.
➢ Register your peers to vote at college campuses and community events in Boulder and Denver.
➢ Recruit and train volunteers to advocate for issues important to young people.
➢ Build a strong community of friends and allies that you’ll work with in the future.
➢ Explore your strengths and weaknesses as a leader.
➢ Grow personally and professionally through intentional feedback from your supervisor & fellow interns, classroom trainings and self-reflection.
