OPTIONS AND RESOURCES FOR ARTS & SCIENCES STUDENTS SUSPENDED FROM MAIN CAMPUS AND CONTINUING EDUCATION COURSES

To earn reinstatement to Boulder main campus day classes, suspended students must earn credit hours and grades sufficient to raise their CU cumulative grade point average, or their combined grade-point average, to 2.00 or above. Students can make use of one or all of the following options to achieve this.

1. Students can take summer session or Continuing Education summer courses at any of the three campuses of the University of Colorado. These grades will be calculated into your CU GPA.

2. Students can take courses at another academic institution. To be reinstated, your cumulative GPA at CU before your suspension plus the grades and credit hours resulting from all work done at other institutions after your suspension must calculate to a cumulative GPA of at least a 2.0.

After reinstatement, transferable course work will be applied as appropriate toward meeting graduation requirements but grades received in these courses will not be calculated into your CU GPA. After reinstatement, you will have the same cumulative CU GPA that you have now but you will have two semesters to raise your cumulative CU GPA to a 2.0 and be in academic good standing.

Reinstatement
Please notify the Academic Advising Center at 303-492-7885 when you qualify for reinstatement. If you have done work at another college or university, you must a) submit a reinstatement petition and b) provide us with an official transcript of all course work including final grades for the most recent term of enrollment. We will not accept an interim report of courses in progress. You will find the reinstatement petition online at the website noted in point three, above.

Readmission
Undergraduate students who do not enroll in CU Boulder courses for up to four consecutive semesters and wish to return to CU Boulder may complete a Readmit Undergraduate Packet: http://www.colorado.edu/admissions/apply/forms. Please be sure to apply well in advance for the semester you anticipate reinstatement. The Admissions Office will accept an application even though you have a dismissal notation on your record although they cannot process the application until we grant reinstatement.
