

A Letter of Support for the Strategic Plan

To the Arts and Sciences Council,

Initially, the Strategic Plan had little student voice involved during its creation. The original committee charged with the creation of the plan had only faculty members and one student who was not formally affiliated with the Arts and Sciences Student Government (ASSG). This committee was not able to accurately represent student or staff voices and interests.

However, after objection from ASSG, as well as objection from Arts and Science staff, a committee was created to review and revise the plan to better suit the school at large.

ASSG has worked with faculty and staff within the school to review and revise the Strategic Plan. Now, after a thoughtful revision process, ASSG feels that student voice and input has been adequately incorporated.

Since there has been thorough discussion and editing to make the Strategic Plan more inclusive and encompassing of student and staff goals, ASSG views the Strategic Plan as a beneficial guiding document for the future of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Therefore, Arts and Sciences Student Government formally supports the Strategic Plan, originally put forth by the Strategic Planning Committee and the Arts and Sciences Council, revised by the A&S Task Force on Strategic Plan Implementation.

Sincerely,
Arts and Sciences Student Government
