

2018-19 BFA Excellence Awards

The BFA Excellence Awards specifically recognize outstanding work and a concerted effort to make advances in the academy. The Chancellor provides financial support for these prestigious awards.

The BFA will grant awards in each of the following areas:

- Excellence in Leadership and Service
- Excellence in Teaching and Pedagogy
- Excellence in Research, Scholarly and Creative Work

The deadline to submit nomination packets for 2019 is:

Friday, February 1st by 11:59 p.m. MST

Colleagues, family and friends will honor the recipients at a presentation ceremony during spring semester which is highlighted by a keynote address given by the 2018 Hazel Barnes Awardee. This year's reception will be held on Tuesday, April 2, 2019.

Please note:

- All members of the Boulder Faculty Senate, which includes instructors, are eligible to be nominated.
- The selection process gives preference to nominees who have been with the University of Colorado for at least five years.
- Nominated faculty must be on campus during the spring semester in order to be considered.
- Faculty can be nominated in only one category in any given year, and they may receive the award for a given category only once. However, faculty may, in subsequent years, receive awards in the other categories.
- Nominees who are not selected in a given year will automatically be considered one additional time during the next academic year.
