	DYLAN KYLE What's up! I'm Dylan, a senior at Leeds originally from Melbourne, FL, but I've spent most of my life in Westminster, CO. I transferred to CU Boulder from a local community college (FRCC), where I graduated magna cum laude, and have since been making the most of my time at Leeds. During my freshman year at FRCC, I founded my own snowboarding company, where I manage everything from product design to marketing. Building a business from the ground up has taught me how to think critically, solve problems, and turn ideas into reality—skills I've recently applied in my consulting internship at Plante Moran. I started out studying finance but switched to information management after realizing how interested I am in the new wave of AI technology. I'm currently involved in the Leeds Association of Information Systems (LAIS) and the Leeds AI Club, where I get to explore more of that space and connect with others who are into tech and innovation. Beyond business &amp; school, you'll find me hitting the slopes, working out, training Muay Thai, camping, and spending time in nature. I also love cooking new recipes, exploring the latest tech, and hanging out with family and friends—especially over a great meal. I'd say I'm pretty laid back, driven, and always down for something adventurous. Being a transfer student, I understand the challenges of adjusting to a new academic environment, and I know how valuable mentorship can be. I'm excited to help first-year students navigate their transition, find their community, and build confidence as they start their journey at Leeds. Sko buffs!
