In my spare time I love to be with other people. You can often find me outside, skiing, running, or swimming. I especially love animals, I have two dogs at home!

NATHAN BUTLER

I love to stay active by doing things like playing soccer, snowboarding, and going to the gym. When I was young, I tried to jump towards my basket of stuffed animals during the night and hit my face on the edge of my wooden, pink, play kitchen set, narrowly losing my left eye and leaving a noticeable scar of 7 stitches just outside. The day before homecoming during my freshman year of high school, I almost lost the other eye when I got sliced by a piece of metal while working with my dad, opening a deep gash between my eyes, which I wore during homecoming, and my date proceeded to fade me. I also fell off a mountain and almost died 3

	days before starting college. I also like posting on social media, have a ski waxing business, and am working to make myself better every day, and I have a very deep appreciation for my life.
	XANDER CALLAHAN Hey! I'm Xander! I am a Junior in Leeds honors program planning on pursuing an emphasis in data analytics with the computer science integration program, with a certificate in personal financial planning, and in entrepreneurial studies. I am the VP of outreach for Leeds Association of Information Systems and am involved in the CU racing team. I love skiing, the outdoors, sports, robotics, drawing, and going on adventures! One of my side quests is to become a certified skydiver.

	COOPER DRUCK I am studying Finance and Biochemistry with a minor in Political Science and a Quantitative Finance Certificate. While this may seem unconventional, I have always been interested in healthcare. As a kid, I would have conversations with my dad about his job as an emergency medicine physician and his daily frustrations. For most of high school, I intended to take the same path – trying to change the system from within and improve existing Healthcare practices. However, being pragmatic, I took several business classes and got involved in student organizations and business to understand a different perspective. I plan on business as a backup, with my goal to pursue medicine. Working as an EMT, I quickly realized that I could have a much more systemic impact on the world through the world of business. My ultimate goal is still to improve Healthcare services and outcomes for patients, but I now aim to do it through a career in high finance, with the potential to exit into policy advising or start my own company.
	ALEX ERGER Hi my name is Alex Erger! I'm from Golden, Colorado. I am the youngest of three brothers and grew up in a very active family where we did lots of hiking, skiing, and camping. When I'm not at Buffs games, you'll find me hanging with my fraternity brothers or going off of jumps at Copper Mountain. Excited to be a mentor – let's make this year awesome!
