

Online Marketing & Research Intern

School of Sparkles, a metaphysical/healing courses and events startup is seeking interns to help them grow. School of Sparkles strives to help people step into their power together by bringing together the most talented healers and intuitive readers worldwide.

Founded in 2019, School of Sparkles is building out their library of online courses and is offering events/retreats for individuals and businesses nationwide. They are looking for assistance growing their network, creatively marketing their courses and events, maintaining their website, and building a following.

The ideal candidate(s) is obsessed with personal transformation, metaphysics, and healing. They should be a self starter, driven and interested in learning how to grow a business.

Responsibilities may include –

- Social media marketing (Facebook, Instagram & Twitter & YouTube)
- Research
- Carrying out creative marketing strategies
- Influencer marketing
- Email marketing
- Website maintenance

Bonus skills –

- Video production
- Graphic design
- Digital advertising

If selected, the candidate(s) will receive a monthly stipend.

Interested? Email sara@schoolofsparkles.com with your resume and a cover letter detailing how you can help School of Sparkles grow.