Be challenged.

Located at the foot of the Rocky Mountains, the University of Colorado Boulder has a breathtaking view from campus.

But don't just come for the view.

Boulder is an integral part of one of the nation's top entrepreneurial corridors, and at the Leeds School of Business you'll gain a competitive edge with a career-advancing MBA degree.

While interacting with our faculty, you'll develop a broad understanding of the world of business, strong leadership skills and an enhanced ability to think globally. Our faculty's expertise in their field and excitement for teaching create a dynamic learning environment.

Benefits of the program:

- Small class size that provides access to top-tier faculty
- Personalized professional development services
- Collaborative and entrepreneurial culture
- Focus on the whole student experience
- Strong connection to corporate partners and alumni
- Intellectually robust and active community

The Leeds School hosts six Centers of Excellence that bridge the classroom experience to the professional arena:

- Burrige Center for Finance
- Business Research Division
- Center for Education on Social Responsibility
- Center for Research on Consumer Financial Decision Making
- CU Real Estate Center
- Deming Center for Entrepreneurship

Customize Your MBA.

There are two ways you can earn an MBA: the Full-time MBA Program or the Evening MBA Program. Both programs allow you to graduate in two years.

Designed for working professionals, the Evening MBA Program is available at the CU-Boulder campus and at CU South Denver in Parker, Colorado.

With electives, you can build expertise in one of the functional disciplines: finance, marketing, management or systems/operations. The functional focus can be combined with a specialty in entrepreneurship, real estate or sustainability. In addition, courses from graduate disciplines outside of the business school may be added to further customize your MBA degree, creating a unique combination of skills.

“Getting an MBA from Leeds is a great way to jump-start an entrepreneurial career. The people, Boulder and the culture here are what makes the MBA program unique.”
