

MD/MBA Degree

Leeds School of Business

A 5-year, full-time dual degree program

A call for physician leaders

As the medical field rapidly changes and evolves—with new technologies, shifting professional roles, a dynamic public policy landscape, and new healthcare delivery models—physicians need leadership skills now more than ever to tackle complex issues and ensure high standards of care.

In the modern healthcare system, the most effective practitioners are those fluent in business fundamentals. Armed with problem-solving and systems-thinking skills, these physicians are empowered to shape healthcare and deliver exceptional outcomes for their patients.

Making a difference for patients

With the MD/MBA dual degree, students acquire expertise in business essentials like leadership, finance, accounting, marketing, strategy, innovation and social responsibility. As collaborative leaders, these medical professionals with business fundamentals are positively impacting patient care and healthcare delivery by leveraging their knowledge in powerful new ways.

A symbiotic partnership

The Leeds School of Business collaborates with the University of Colorado School of Medicine to educate next-generation leaders in medicine. The concurrent MD/MBA degree program bolsters a medical degree with the highest level of business expertise, in half the time than earning a traditional MBA degree on its own.

The MD/MBA Program

The 5-year dual degree from CU Leeds School of Business and CU School of Medicine requires 31 credits of MBA coursework.
