Confident Conversations

a series of free workshops for international graduate students at CU Boulder to build confidence in professional communication

Wednesday, February 10, 2021 5:00-6:00 pm

Delivering Your Professional Pitch

In your academic and professional advancement, you will often need to briefly explain, or pitch, your research, studies, or self to people that you meet at conferences, in your department, and when making professional connections. This workshop focuses on the persuasive language and conventions of successful professional pitches. Likewise, you will craft and practice your pitch with the help of the facilitators and your fellow participants. We will also discuss strategies on adjusting the pitch based on your audience.
