

The Hyphen

Home is the hyphen between Mexican - American

A place that is overlooked for the thought of belonging to nothing

Having no meaning, but so much power to connect two different things.

Home is the hyphen between McDonald's - frijoles, the distance between English - Spanish

Home is the hyphen between being white-American or brown-Mexican, where confusion lays when you lack belonging to either or neither...

Home is the hyphen where cultural boundaries remain hidden, under represented.

I am the hyphen and home is where I make it.