Please join the Center for Humanities & the Arts (CHA) for a discussion of Ta-Nehisi Coates's The Message. We'll have free copies to distribute to the first 100 who fill out our Google Form using the QR code below. We will offer a variety of meetings in person in the CHA conference room or Zoom. Interested in being a discussion leader?

Email us at cu-cha@colorado.edu.

We are proud to be collaborating with our co-sponsoring units, which include Center for African and African American Studies, Center for Inclusion and Social Change, Center for Media, Religion, and Culture, Center for Native American and Indigenous Studies, CU Libraries, English and Creative Writing, Ethnic Studies, Program for Writing and Rhetoric, Program in Jewish Studies, Renee Crown Wellness Institute, Social Science Division of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Copies of the book will be available for people to pick up in our offices located in Macky Auditorium Room 201. At this time, we are not able to ship books. Meetings start in early January.
