Table of Contents

Cu Boulder UndocuGuide Fall 2023

- Acknowledgements 2
- What to Know to Support Our Students 3
- Advancing Students for a Stronger Economy Tomorrow (ASSET) 3
- Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) 3
- Additional Terminology 4
- Undocumented Students at Cu Boulder 4
- Talking Points for Continued Engagement and Education 4
- Acknowledge Concern 4
- Community Support 5
- The Value of Education 5
- Campus Resources for Holistic Support 6
- Center for Inclusion and Social Change (CISC) 6
- Financial Support 6
  - Admissions 7
- Academic Advising 7
- Career Services 7
- Cu LEAD Alliance 7
- Counseling Support 8
- Legal Assistance 8
  - Free DACA Renewal Assistance 8
- Outside Resources for Additional Support 9
- Safety Concerns 9
- Immigration Related Organizations 9
- Other Useful Websites 10
  - Higher Ed Immigration Portal 10
- Books, Articles and Films for Further Education 11
  - Books 11
  - Articles 12
Films, Documentaries and Other Media

Family Preparedness Checklist

Sensitive Locations: Can ICE Come to Campus?
- Will enforcement actions ever occur at sensitive locations?
- What should I do if I believe an enforcement action has taken place that is inconsistent with this guidance?
- Where should I report discrimination if I believe it is taking place in my school?

How to Get Involved and Become an Ally for Students

UndocuAlly Confidentiality Statement

What is an Ally?
- An Ally of undocumented students is a person who:

Becoming an Ally
- The four basic levels of becoming an ally:

Five Points to Remember

Acknowledgements
Special thanks to Metropolitan State University of Denver and thedream.us for kindly sharing their resources for this guide.
What to Know to Support Our Students
Vocabulary matters, and understanding potential resources or avenues open to students—as well as ways to discuss considerations respectfully—is a vital first step.

Advancing Students for a Stronger Economy Tomorrow (ASSET)
Through the ASSET bill passed by the Colorado State Legislature in 2013, undocumented students are eligible for in-state tuition if they meet specific criteria. The Colorado ASSET Law provides students the opportunity to pay in-state tuition at public institutions if they fit the following CO-specific criteria:

- Attend a Colorado high school for at least one year preceding the date of graduation.
- Graduate from a Colorado high school or earn a Colorado GED.
- Reside in Colorado for at least 12 consecutive months prior to enrolling at the institution.
- Apply for the College Opportunity Fund (COF) and submit the supplemental COF affidavit indicating they do not have lawful immigration status, but they have applied for lawful presence or will apply as soon as they are eligible (separate application required).

Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA)
Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) is an American immigration policy created by then-President Obama in June of 2012 that allows certain undocumented immigrants who entered the country before their 16th birthday and before June 2007 to receive a renewable two-year protection from deportation. It also allows recipients to apply for work authorization during that two-year period. This was an executive action that only deferred removal and does not confer any change in legal status to the immigrants who meet the eligibility requirements. The Trump administration attempted to rescind the DACA program in 2017 but were unsuccessful; there have been continuing legal challenges to the program that have led to continuing uncertainty. While the Biden Administration quickly affirmed its commitment to DACA recipients, the uncertain future of the DACA program, as well as any Congressional action that would lead to a permanent status process remains an ongoing challenge.

On July 16, 2021, Judge Andrew Hanen, a federal district court judge in Texas, ruled that the DACA program was unlawful. Judge Hanen ordered the Dept. of Homeland Security (DHS) to stop processing new DACA applications until the litigation is resolved. Current DACA recipients are still able to submit DACA renewal applications.

Additional litigation has continued and is pending. This section will be updated when there are further developments in this case.

Read more information about DACA from USCIS.
Additional Terminology

We encourage all members of the CU Boulder community to review additional important terminology on CISC’s Undocumented Student Resources webpage for further education around the undocumented community and how the words we use can have such a profound impact.

If you have any questions—or if you yourself are a community member and would like to offer feedback on anything listed here—please reach out to us at cisc@colorado.edu.

Undocumented Students at CU Boulder

CU Boulder proudly welcomes undocumented students on campus, the majority of whom (but not all) are qualified as ASSET students, that is, they qualified for in-state tuition through the Colorado ASSET program.

Some, but not all, students also have DACA benefits, meaning they have a two-year (renewable) exemption from deportation as well as two-year (renewable) work authorization.

Talking Points for Continued Engagement and Education

Engaging in a thoughtful and informed discussion with your student is more important than ever. It is essential that you empathize with their situation and provide as much support as possible. We understand this dialogue can be very difficult at times, so please reference the examples below to help guide you.

This document is meant to provide further guidance and support to our students and staff. Responses to the questions below are strictly examples and do not constitute legal advice. Links to local and national immigration resources and CU Boulder services are incorporated in the appropriate responses and in further sections of this guide.

Acknowledge Concern

When talking about concerns about the future of DACA, potential long-term solutions/challenge, federal immigration policies, student's family and friends, or the threat of deportation, it is important to acknowledge their worries:

“It is understandable that you feel uncertain about life after graduation.”

“It makes sense that you are questioning whether or not college is worth it for you right now.”

“It must be difficult not knowing what will happen with you or your family in the coming months.”

“Yes, many in the U.S.—especially DREAMers, undocumented families and immigrants in general—are watching for news on any further immigration policy review or change.”
Your best tool in an interaction with a student who is expressing concern is to listen. Allow the student to express how they are feeling. They may share anger, sadness, stress, uncertainty—and all feelings are okay. Don't feel obligated to say something to fix the situation; your empathy is enough. Students want to feel and see your support even if you cannot change the wider situation.

Community Support

In addition to listening to students, it is equally important to remind them that there is a community here that supports them.

On January 4, 2017, Boulder’s City Council joined dozens of municipalities in passing a measure to declare Boulder a Sanctuary City. While this declaration has been debated as a largely symbolic one, Mayor Suzanne Jones felt it was important to send a message of reassurance to people that Boulder will continue its policy of not complying with questioning or detaining individuals based solely on immigration status.

Individuals are encouraged to keep up to date on Boulder City Council conversations and questions.

Review Boulder County’s list of resources, local organizations, support structures and FAQs to support the undocumented community here locally.

Additionally, Metropolitan State University of Denver, in partnership with the Colorado Immigrant Rights Coalition, has launched a state-wide UndocuHelp resource to help individuals across the state find local resources to help support a variety of questions and needs.

The Value of Education

Regardless of a student’s DACA status and concerns around long-term plans or possibilities, an education will never lose its value, and students may need to be reassured of this:

- No matter what happens in the future, your education will keep its value. Even if you live outside the U.S., a degree from the U.S. is one of the biggest assets you will ever have because you can use it to work in meaningful and well-paying jobs. A degree from a U.S. university is still one of the most valuable around the world.

- An education is an achievement that nobody can take away from you, and it will be your key to a successful future, no matter what happens. It is also your best weapon to stand up for yourself, and it is a right nobody can ever take away from you.

- Employers with open positions with degree requirements may be open to conversations about sponsoring employment-based visas for employees. While this is not a guarantee, and you should check with an immigration lawyer if that is a route that could be an option for you, it is more likely in jobs where specific skill sets—and degree requirements—are present.

- Even within a route of starting your own company, or working as an independent contractor (options open even without work authorization), your degree and the skillset it brings may help you market those skills to potential clients in a way that does not rely on work authorization.

However, it is also all right to look at adjusting schedules/graduation timelines to better fit realities you or your family may be facing. It is not a “failure” to need to adjust plans and possibly set a non-traditional track through college, and in fact, it takes a great deal of courage and maturity to be able to consider creative ways to still reach your goal.

Please remember also that CU Boulder will not release or share information with federal officials unless required to do so by court.

Campus Resources for Holistic Support

Impacted faculty and staff can find resources on the CU Boulder Resources for Undocumented Employees and Students webpage. Students, please explore the resources below as additional spaces of support.

Center for Inclusion and Social Change (CISC)

The vision of the Center is to provide high impact transformational community building and educational programs to the CU community, and to nurture leaders grounded in the core concepts of intersectional identity development, diversity, equity and social justice.

This includes supporting and advocating for our undocumented students.

Find us at the Center for Community (C4C) N320
cisc@colorado.edu; 303-492-0272
Undocumented Student Resources webpage Support available in English, Spanish and Portuguese

Pride Office

The Pride Office is also a division of CISC and strives to create programming and space where LGBTQ+ students, staff and faculty can come together and create a community where they feel safe, supported and able to find connections with others who identify in similar ways.

Center for Community (C4C) N320; cisc@colorado.edu
Contact: Morgan Seamont, seamont@colorado.edu; 202-492-0272
CU Boulder Pride Office webpage

Financial Support

Financial support is available through the Student Relief Fund established by the CU Board of Regents as well as through the College Opportunity Fund for qualified students. More information on these and more can be found on CISC's Financial Aid and Scholarship Assistance webpage.

Guidance is provided by the Office of Financial Aid. Call 303-492-5091 or email Vanessa.Sanchez-1@colorado.edu for more information.

Additional CU and non-CU financial support opportunities include but are not limited to:
Prospective students and their families can find out more about applying to CU Boulder, steps to take as an undocumented student, and what to expect of the process on CU Boulder’s Admission Information for Undocumented Students webpage. Students can contact Natalie.Goodman@colorado.edu in the Admissions Office for more information.

Transfer students can also find more support on our Transfer Student Community webpage.

Academic Advising

Academic advising is available for undergraduate students with advisers who understand the needs of DACA, ASSET and other undocumented students.

Call 303-735-6269 or send an email to Ulysses.Diaz@colorado.edu for more information.

Career Services

Career Services is available to speak with students about career opportunities as well as employment realities both with and without DACA.

Call 303-492-6541 or send an email to Jasimine.Evans@colorado.edu or Tzigane.Martin@colorado.edu for more information.

Review the CU Boulder UndocuCareers Guide (PDF) for guidance and resources on navigating career and graduate school realities.

Additional useful resources are listed on page 12 of this document to help support students looking at next steps after college.

CU LEAD Alliance

The CU LEAD Alliance is a unique set of academic learning communities whose students, faculty, and staff are united to promote inclusive excellence. These “academic neighborhoods” build camaraderie and promote student success during the first-year and throughout students’ four years through a rich array of:

1. Cohort experiences.
2. Participation scholarships.
3. Academic enrichment opportunities.
4. Community-building activities.
Counseling Support

Students may need reminding that they have one-on-one, confidential counseling support available to them. Counseling and Psychiatric Services (CAPS) offers confidential mental health services for enrolled students for a variety of concerns. CAPS is a multicultural, multidisciplinary and multi-theoretical staff. We are committed to affirming diversity and seek to provide a safe and welcoming environment for everyone we serve. To make an appointment, call 303-492-2277.

Staff and faculty may access counseling through the Faculty & Staff Assistance Program.

The Office of Victim Assistance provides free and confidential trauma-informed counseling and advocacy specifically related to crime, violence, abuse, discrimination, experience of bias and policy violations. OVA is a resource for CU Boulder students, staff and faculty to learn more about your options, get help navigating systems and/or process the impact of the traumatic experiences. For more information call 303-492-8855 or email assist@colorado.edu.

Noncitizens who experienced certain crimes, such as sexual assault or domestic violence, could have some immigration relief and support pathways. If this is your situation, you should speak with an immigration attorney to understand your options, review the resources in the next section.

Legal Assistance

Students and staff who need legal assistance may consult with bilingual law students in English, Spanish, and French at the Immigration Defense Clinic at Colorado Law, the university’s law school. Call 303-492-8126 for more information.

Consultations are free and confidential, but there may be costs associated with the U.S. Department of Homeland Security applications and other paperwork.

Professor Violeta Chapin teaches the Immigration Defense Clinic at Colorado Law School. She and her student attorneys assist undocumented students, staff and community members with various legal matters related to immigration removal defense, DACA renewals, criminal defense and asylum. Undocumented students are encouraged to contact Professor Chapin with legal questions related to their immigration status and/or that of their family members.

Initial legal consultations are also available through Student Legal Services.

Free DACA Renewal Assistance

The Immigration Defense Clinic works primarily with undocumented college students enrolled at universities and community colleges across the state of Colorado. Law students provide assistance with DACA renewals.

For support, reach out to the Immigration Defense Clinic (at the university’s law school): 2450 Kittredge Loop Drive, Suite 105, Boulder, CO 80310.

Applicants should bring their previous DACA application, their work permit and a passport.
For more information about the clinic, please contact Law Professor Violeta Chapin at 303-492-8126 or Violeta.Chapin@colorado.edu.

CU Boulder students can have the $495 DACA Renewal Fee covered by CU Boulder by submitting a request to the Student Relief Fund.

Outside Resources for Additional Support

Safety Concerns
If you believe there is an emergency safety threat or emergency, please call the police immediately. For on-campus situations please call the CU Boulder Police Department directly by dialing 911 for an emergency, or 303-492-6666 for a non-emergency.

If you face discrimination, intimidation or harassment, contact the U.S. Department of Justice to file a complaint with the Civil Rights Division.

If you experience harassment in relation to your education, call 877-292-3804 or 202-514-4092.

If you experience harassment in relation to your employment, call 800-669-4000.

Concerns around student privacy and FERPA can be directed to the Office of the Registrar. If students are unsure about reaching out directly, they can reach out to cisc@colorado.edu for help getting clarification. Please see the Sensitive Locations section of this Guide for additional information.

Immigration Related Organizations
The Rocky Mountain Immigrant Advocacy Network (RMIAN) is a nonprofit organization that serves low-income men, women and children in immigration proceedings.

3489 W. 72nd Ave #211, Westminster, CO 80030
303-433-2812
Hotline for detainees: 303-866-9308

Colorado Immigrant Rights Coalition (CIRC) is a statewide, membership-based coalition to improve the lives of immigrants and refugees by making Colorado a more welcoming, immigrant-friendly state.

2525 W. Alameda Ave, Denver, CO 80219
303-922-3344

Convivir Colorado is an immigrant youth leadership organization for high school immigrant students. They provide leadership training, support in discussing immigration realities and wider community resources for families.

3264 Larimer St., Suite D, Denver, CO 80205

Boulder Ayuda is a Boulder non-profit, attorney-led organization supporting the immigrant community in Boulder County and beyond since 2005.
Servicios de la Raza provides and advocates for culturally responsive, essential human services and opportunities. Servicios de La Raza serves as an integral part of the heart of the Latino community in Metro Denver, a trusted and accessible community resource strategically linked with many of Metro Denver’s schools and churches.

3131 W. 14th Avenue, Denver, CO 80204
303-458-5851

Mi Familia Vota integrates local organizing, leadership development, advocacy and building broad community partnerships with voter engagement work; focusing on local, state and federal elections.

4730 Oakland Street, Suite 210, Denver, CO 80239
303-375-6304

The Asset Building Coalition offers free tax preparation services, help with ITIN filings, and all other tax preparation questions. These services are free for families making less than $55,000 per year, or individuals earning less than $35,000 per year.

5759 S. Tempe Court, Aurora, CO 80015
720-579-1247

Other Useful Websites

American Immigration Council
Black Alliance for Just Immigration
Dreamers2gether
FWD.us

Higher Ed Immigration Portal

- Data and national/state resources
- Employment guides
- Transfer Process Guide (PDF)
- Fellowships and Other Non-Employment Based Opportunities for Undocumented Students

Immigrant Legal Resource Center

Immigrants Rising

Informed Immigrant

- Advanced Parole Guide in English and Spanish
- Information on how to find an immigration lawyer

My Undocumented Life

- Featured article for college counselors

National Immigration Law Center
This organization also collects up-to-date information on Real ID Laws
PreHealth Dreamers
The Presidents’ Alliance on Higher Education and Immigration
Remember the Dreamers
UndocuHelp
United We Dream
UndocuBlack Network
UndocuProfessionals
UndocuScholars
UndocuWisdom

Books, Articles and Films for Further Education

Books

- Americans By Heart: Undocumented Latino Students and the Promise of Higher Education by William Pérez
- Behold the Dreamers: A Novel by Imbolo Mbue
- Children of the Land by Marcelo Hernandez Castillo
- Dear America: Notes of An Undocumented Citizen by Jose Antonio Vargas
- Driving Without a License by Janine Joseph
- Enrique’s Journey by Sonia Nazario
- Just Like Us: The True Story of Four Mexican Girls Coming of Age in America by Helen Thorpe
- Lives in Limbo: Undocumented and Coming of Age in America by Roberto G. Gonzales
- Nueve Años Inmigrantes: Nine Immigrant Years by Javier Zamora
- Solito: A Memoir by Javier Zamora
- Someone Like Me by Julissa Arce
- Tell Me How It Ends: An Essay in Forty Questions by Valeria Luiselli
- Underground Undergrads: UCLS Undocumented Immigrant Students Speak Out by UCLA Labor Center
- The Undocumented Americans by Karla Cornejo Villavicencio
- Undocumented and Unafraid: Tam Tran, Cinthya Felix, and the Immigrant Youth Movement by UCLA Labor Center
- We Are Here to Stay: Voices of Undocumented Young Adults by Susan Kuklin
- We Are Not Dreamers: Undocumented Scholars Theorize Undocumented Life in the United States by Leisy Abrego and Genevieve Negron-Gonzales
• We Too Sing America: South Asian, Arab, Muslim, and Sikh Immigrants Shape our Multiracial Future by Deepa Iyer

Articles

- DREAMzone: Educating Counselors and Human Service Professionals Working with Undocumented Students (PDF) by Jesus Cisneros and Anna Lopez
  o Journal for Social Action in Counseling and Psychology
- Immigration Status and College Students’ Psychosocial Wellbeing by Germán Cadenas and Kenny Nienhusser
  o American Educational Research Association
- Model Undocumented Minorities and “Illegal” Immigrants: Centering Asian Americans and U.S. Carcerality in Undocumented Student Discourse (PDF) by Tracy Lachica Buenavista
  o Race, Ethnicity and Education
- The Post DACA Generation is Here: Nearly all of this year’s 120,000 undocumented high school graduates are ineligible for the policy by Phillip Connor
  o FWD.us
- Undocumented Asians, Left in the Shadows by Soo Mee Kim and Aggie Yellowhorse
  o American Sociological Association
- Undocumented Immigration and Asian and Pacific Islander Students: An Issues and Policy Primer for Developing Critical Awareness and Advocacy among API Educators (PDF) by Tracy Lachica Buenavista
- Undocumented Undergraduates on College Campuses: Understanding Their Challenges and Assets and What It Takes to Make an Undocufriendly Campus by Carola Suárez-Orozco, Dalal Katsiaficas, Olivia Birchall, Cynthia Alcantar, Edwin Hernandez, Yulianan Garcia, Minas Michikyan, Janet Cerda, Robert Teranishi
  o Harvard Educational Review
- “Undocumented” Ways of Navigating Complex Sociopolitical Realities in Higher Education: A Critical Race Counterstory (PDF) by Alonso Reyna Rivarola
  o Journal of Critical Scholarship on Higher Education and Student Affairs
- “We Still Keep Going”: The Multiplicitous Socioemotional States & Stressors of Undocumented Students During the COVID-19 Pandemic by Luis Andrade
  o Journal of Hispanic Higher Education
Films, Documentaries and Other Media

- “A Better Life”
- “Beyond Borders: Undocumented Mexican Americans”
- “Forbidden: Undocumented and Queer in Rural America”
- “Halmoni”
- “The Hand That Feeds”
- “Immigration Nation”
- “The Infiltrators”
- “La Misma Luna/Under the Same Moon”
- “Rocio”
- “Sin Nombre”
- “The Sun Is Also a Star”
- “UndocuCinema” A conversation with undocumented film makers
- “Undocumented Black Girl: A Podcast”
- “Undocumented Justice”
- “Waking Dream: Young, Undocumented, Future Unknown”
- Immigrants Rising: Movies Highlighting the Undocumented Experience (PDF)
- These 15 Documentaries Dive Deep Into the Experiences of Undocumented Immigrants

Family Preparedness Checklist

This is not a comprehensive list, but it better addresses how families should be prepared. This preparation will not “cure” an individual’s unlawful status and it will not prevent any possible deportation. However, it can give undocumented individuals and their families the peace of mind needed to have their affairs in order if the unthinkable were to happen. This information is taken from the blog “The Other Discussion About Immigration” by Claudia Hurtado-Myers.

Any family planning and discussions should include conversations with an immigration attorney to plan for their specific needs and concerns.

- Sign several blank USCIS Form G-28s (attorney representation forms) so that a family member can hire an attorney to act on behalf of someone who has been detained.
• Be financially prepared to hire an attorney.
• Execute one or several Powers of Attorney, giving authority only to a well-known and trusted person who can act in your best interests if you are detained and removed. Your immigration attorney will want to have one point of contact in the event you are detained.
  o That Power of Attorney should also contemplate the following:
    ▪ Who will pick up your last check at your employer’s location?
    ▪ Who will sell your property, including your home?
    ▪ What will happen to all your personal belongings?
    ▪ Who will handle all your personal accounts? Such as your electricity bill, phone bill, insurance and other household accounts.
• Execute a Department of Motor Vehicles Power of Attorney so that a trusted person can sell or transfer title regarding the motor vehicle(s) owned by a detained person.
• In the area of child custody, it is advisable that undocumented parents seek advice from a local family law attorney.
  o Write down your intended plan for children who may be left behind.
  o Desires for childcare in the United States should be in writing and notarized.
  o If the children are to join the parent following removal, then execute a notarized letter of permission for the children to travel outside of the United States with a named adult person.
  o Obtain United States Passports for all United States citizen children. List passport numbers and place a copy of the passport biography page for each child in a secure location.
  o Obtain an Apostille from your state’s Secretary of State for the birth certificates of all United States citizen children.
  o Obtain an Apostille from your nation’s consulate regarding the birth records of children born outside of the United States.
• Obtain a current passport from your nation’s consulate office.
• Obtain official FBI records report for any foreign-born person who has a criminal conviction or a prior order of removal, including all border deportations.
• Interview companies that service Federal Immigration Bonds and write down the contact information for the preferred company in a secure location.
• Keep a copy of all prior immigration records in a secure location. Keep a copy of all tax filings in a secure location.
• Keep a copy of evidence that proves continuous residence in the United States in a secure location. Evidence should include a variety of dated documents from each year since arrival in the United States. For example:
  o Lease records
  o Pay stubs
  o School records
  o Household bills
  o Any other document with your name and dates, proving residence
Sensitive Locations: Can ICE Come to Campus?

The American Civil Liberties Union provides a fact sheet for families and school staff outlining the limitations on DHS immigration enforcement actions at sensitive locations. It states:

Children have a right to a free public education, regardless of their actual or perceived immigration or citizenship status or that of their parents. Education leaders, teachers, students and families have asked questions about guidance that was released by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) that limits immigration enforcement actions from occurring at schools and other “sensitive locations.” Review the DHS guidance.

To respond to those questions, the U.S. Department of Education has worked with DHS to prepare this fact sheet, intended to help parents, families, educators and other school staff understand the DHS guidance.

In general, DHS has explained that immigration enforcement actions may not occur at or in “sensitive locations.” These locations include:

- Schools, such as known and licensed daycares, pre-schools and other early learning programs; primary schools; secondary schools; post-secondary schools up to and including colleges and universities; as well as scholastic or education-related activities or events.
- School bus stops that are marked and/or known to the officer, during periods when children are present at the stop.
- Medical treatment and health care facilities, such as hospitals, doctors’ offices, accredited health clinics and emergent or urgent care facilities.
- Places of worship, such as churches, synagogues, mosques and temples.
- Religious or civil ceremonies or observances, such as funerals and weddings.
- During public demonstrations, such as a march, rally or parade.

Will enforcement actions ever occur at sensitive locations?

DHS has explained that immigration enforcement actions may occur at sensitive locations in limited circumstances, but should generally be avoided. DHS officers and agents from U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) or U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) may conduct an enforcement action at a sensitive location only with prior approval from an appropriate supervisory DHS official, or if the enforcement action involves exigent circumstances related to national security, terrorism or public safety, or where there is imminent risk of destruction of evidence material to an ongoing criminal case.

What should I do if I believe an enforcement action has taken place that is inconsistent with this guidance?

DHS has explained that there are a number of locations where an individual may lodge a complaint with DHS about a particular immigration enforcement action that may have taken place in violation of these or other policies. You may find information about these locations, and information about how to file a complaint, on the DHS website, the CBP website or ICE website. You may contact ICE Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO) through the Detention Reporting and Information Line at 888-351-4024, through the ERO information email address at ERO.INFO@ice.dhs.gov or the ERO contact form.

The Civil Liberties Division of the ICE Office of Diversity and Civil Rights may be contacted at 202-732-0092 or ICE.Civil.Liberties@ice.dhs.gov. You may contact the CBP Information Center to file a complaint or compliment via phone at 877-227-5511, or submit an email through the website.

Where should I report discrimination if I believe it is taking place in my school?

Anyone with information about discrimination occurring in schools, including discrimination on the basis of race, color or national origin (which may include citizenship or immigration status), may file a complaint by contacting the U.S. Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights, ocr@ed.gov, 800-421-3481 or TDD: 800-877-8339. For language assistance, contact 800-USA-LEARN (800-872-5327). Or by contacting the U.S. Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, Educational Opportunities Section, education@usdoj.gov, 877-292-3804, or TTY: 800-514-0383.

For more information about these civil rights protections, please see the U.S. Department of Education (ED) and U.S. Department of Justice joint Dear Colleague letter.
How to Get Involved and Become an Ally for Students

We strongly urge all CU Boulder Faculty and Staff to complete a CU Boulder UndocuAlly Training.

This is a two-hour training, co-presented by the CISC and our faculty allies, intended to help campus better support undocumented students and create a more welcoming campus environment through:

- Understanding terminology and the make-up of our undocumented community.
- Understanding the history of U.S. immigration and how it has led to the current situation.
- Understanding DACA and ASSET and how they may impact CU Boulder students.
- Understanding challenges, opportunities and resources for undocumented students on campus.

If you have not completed an UndocuAlly Training:

- Complete an UndocuAlly presentation request or attend one of the pre-set trainings held each semester
- Contact cisc@colorado.edu with any questions or for more information.

If you have completed an UndocuAlly Training:

We encourage you to consider the following ways to expand your knowledge and impact:

- Post your door placard and sticker to aid in identifying yourself as an UndocuAlly.
  - These are only available to those who have completed the training, as we want student to know the placard indicates a level of knowledge and training on issues relating to immigrants and immigration, and most importantly, your commitment to maintaining confidentiality regarding status.
  - Those who have Buff Portal Advising accounts can also request an UndocAlly label be added to your digital account. Email cisc@colorado.edu to find out more.
- Add a line to your email signature block that identifies you as an UndocuAlly.
- Post an identifier on your personal and professional webpages.
- Prominently identify yourself as an UndocuAlly on your course syllabi, course webpages or other materials you share with students.
- Share about UndocuAlly training sessions with our colleagues/Deans/Chairs/others.
- Discuss/share information about undocumented student resources with colleagues, teaching assistants and graduate student staff about and encourage them to attend an UndocuAlly training session.
- Continue to educate yourself and others on issues facing the undocumented community.
- Encourage your team to review policies/processes/website wording through an equity lens.
• Engage with the UndocuAllies listserv (all trained faculty and staff) and the DACA Network.

UndocuAlly Confidentiality Statement

TheDream.us provides the following Confidentiality Statement on their website, adjusted for CU Boulder. We ask that CU Boulder community members who complete the UndocuAlly training hold this statement in mind as they work to become stronger allies for our student community:

One of the most important aspects of being an UndocuAlly is that you are entrusted with providing an atmosphere of safety to those that come to you. In the simplest of terms, UndocuAlly confidentiality means that what a student says to you is confidential and stays with you.

By posting the UndocuAlly placard, you are sending the message that information shared with you will not be shared with others, unless the student has given you permission to do so. This is important for students who have not openly declared that they are undocumented, since one of the most common concerns is whether they should even tell anyone, and subsequent fears that someone will “out” them. Outing someone refers to telling others about a person’s immigration status without that person’s permission. Moreover, confidentiality is essential in order for students to share their reactions, opinions and feelings with you.

It is also important to recognize that there are limits to confidentiality. It would not be appropriate to maintain confidentiality if a person shares that they intend to physically harm one’s self or another person. Protecting the immediate safety of the individual becomes more important than protecting their confidentiality. If you have concerns or questions about what constitutes confidentiality or limits to confidentiality, please contact CU Boulder Counseling and Psychiatric Services personnel at (303-492-2277).

What is an Ally?

An Ally of undocumented students is a person who:

• Acknowledges that undocumented students have a right to be enrolled in the university.
• Becomes informed about the rights afforded by law to DACA students.
• Finds legal alternative ways that assist students meet academic requisites when the students are excluded by law from regular participation in employment, federal/state aid, federal programs, paid internships, travel or use of identification forms they don’t have.
• Believes that children and youth ought not to be targets of anti-immigrant discrimination o i.e., children should be left out of the immigration “wars.”
• Knows that because of negative attitudes toward undocumented immigration and the lack of legal rights accorded to children and youth who are undocumented, that a person who has legal status has more power in initiating institutional support and can more easily advocate against prejudice and discrimination.
• Listens openly, yet does not interrogate the student on their immigration status.
• Does not “out” the student to others, without the student’s permission.

CU Boulder UndocuGuide, Fall 2023
Does not encourage students to act on matters that may compromise them when they have the opportunity to adjust their status
- Creates a climate of trust that allows the student to reveal their situation at their own pace
- Handles student's emotions with reserve, empathy, and support, and refers to appropriate professional campus staff as needed.
- Follows up on referrals to assess the effectiveness of the referral.
- Is clear about his or her own personal motivation in becoming an ally.
- Is committed to maintaining confidentiality and respecting the privacy of people who are undocumented.

1Taken from TheDream.US and adapted from handouts developed by Shawn-Eric Brooks and Vernon, A. Wall (1990) and by Velvet Miller and Christina Testa, based on materials from “Diversity Works” (1992) and from CSULB, Counseling and Psychological Services, Safe Zone. “Becoming an Ally.”

Becoming an Ally

The four basic levels of becoming an ally:

1. Awareness: Gain awareness by opening yourself to the possibility that some of the students in your class or program are undocumented. Attend training sessions. Go online and read about The Dream Act, DACA, DAPA and other realities impacting undocumented students.

2. Knowledge: Begin to understand policies, laws and practices and how they affect undocumented students. Educate yourself on the many communities of undocumented immigrants.

3. Skills: Take your awareness and knowledge and communicate it to others. You can acquire these skills by attending workshops, role-playing with friends and peers, and developing support networks.

4. Action: To effect change that improves undocumented immigrant student success, you must act. This can be as simple as allowing substitutes for paid internships, placements in non-public agencies where a background check is not required, to assisting students by getting to know them so that you can write effective letters of recommendations when they apply for the financial aid options available to them.

Five Points to Remember

1. Be aware of your own assumptions about the undocumented community. DACA and other undocumented students are a diverse group who are not individually distinguishable from every other student and may or may not feel safe revealing themselves to others.

2. It is better to be preemptive than reactive. Indicate in your course requirements that students who need alternative placements should talk privately with you, or openly offer alternatives to all students, including DACA or other undocumented students.

3. If a student reveals that they are undocumented or have DACA, do not interrogate them about their immigration status. Listen attentively. If you do not know how to help them, tell them that you will find out and then get back to that student.
4. Recognize that some may be intolerant of the undocumented and that you may also be targeted.

5. Do not ever give immigration advice or suggest that one can identify himself or herself as a U.S. citizen, drive without a license or use false identification.

The Dream.US