Honorees

William R. Payden Faculty Excellence Award

William R. Payden (Jour'57), who established the Payden endowment in 2010, was known for his boundless curiosity and enthusiasm. Payden was a journalist, college professor, sports fan, cinephile, professional pianist, world traveler, and collector of aviation memorabilia and classic cars. The Payden Award recognizes faculty excellence in teaching and research with a $20,000 prize.

Jolene Fisher, PhD, is an associate professor of strategic communication. She studies social change and action from the lens of communication, including how organizations use video games to raise awareness and money to support strategic goals, and the role of communication in environmental and climate change issues. In awarding Jolene this year's Payden prize, the selection committee noted her compassion for students, tremendous dedication to mentorship and commitment to newness in her teaching. In addition to her scholarly and teaching responsibilities, Jolene is associate chair for undergraduate studies in the Department of Advertising, Public Relations and Media Design. Also this year, Jolene was one of seven CU Boulder faculty to earn a gold Best Should Teach award, given to those who embody the beliefs, behaviors and skills of exemplary teachers.

Graduating with Honors

Students graduating with honors have completed an honors project demonstrating independent learning and intellectual insight that contributes to our understanding of media, communication or information. The work must demonstrate intellectual or creative ability as well as analytical skills worthy of the honors designation. They are noted by star symbols () in the list of graduates by degree program.*

Summa Cum Laude
3.9 or above

Magna Cum Laude
3.7 to 3.89 GPA

Cum Laude*
3.5 to 3.69 GPA

Graduating with Distinction

This designation recognizes students who earn a 3.75 GPA or higher over at least 60 hours of coursework. They are noted by a caret symbol (^) in the list of graduates by degree program.

William W. White Outstanding Graduate Award

Awarded to the students with the highest GPA in the college. They serve as CMCI flag bearers during the processional.
