

Media Production

Discover your voice and vision as you experiment with cutting-edge tools to build meaningful productions and understand the opportunities available to creators.

College of Communication,
Media, Design and Information

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO BOULDER

Love the view from behind the camera, or inside the sound booth? In this major, you'll develop the critical perspective and creative flair needed to produce work that resonates with audiences while reflecting your artistic vision.

As a media production student, you will customize your education by specializing in one of three tracks: documentary media practices, immersive and emergent media practices or sound practices.

- Learn from faculty and award-winning filmmakers and artists who have created incredible projects.
- Explore specialized labs and use high-tech production equipment to bring your vision to life in sound, on screen and in virtual spaces.
- Go hands-on in studio classes, where you'll explore a range of production topics and experiment with cutting-edge media tools.

Representative courses

Audio/Vision 360
Augmented Reality
Creative Media Making
Documentary Media Poetics
Histories of Animation
Media Aesthetics
Sound Practices
Topics in Emergent Media
Virtual Reality

Career paths

Cinematography
Documentary media production
Media art and curation
Multimedia production
Photography
Postproduction editing
Sound design and composition
Virtual reality design

Student work On the front, bottom right: Evan Valenta (CritMedia'24)