UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO BOULDER

The Center for STEM Learning at the University of Colorado Boulder invites you to the

9th Annual Symposium on STEM Education

Wednesday, October 4th, 2017

3:00 – 7:00 PM

University Memorial Center (UMC) in the Glenn Miller Ballroom

Celebrating excellence and commitment to STEM education, student engagement, and learning.

This event is a celebration of CU Boulder's internationally recognized STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering & Mathematics) education initiatives. This year's event will have the theme of partnerships and will highlight some of the groundbreaking STEM education projects on campus, introduce a new generation of STEM education scholars, and bring together key CU-Boulder stakeholders. Come and learn about and help shape how we are redefining learning and discovery in a global context, and setting new standards in education, research, scholarship, and creative work, as to transform STEM education.

3:00 – 5:00 PM

CU STEM Education Showcase: Poster Presentations

CU Boulder faculty, instructors, and students, as well as community members and K-12 teachers will present posters on their research and course transformation efforts.

5:00 - 7:00PM:

Reception, Presentation of Chancellor's Faculty & Graduate Awards, Introduction by Joe Neguse, & Keynote Address by Joe Garcia.
