ALEX N. ABANKWA

Counsellor, Embassy of Ghana, Washington, D.C. since 1963, he has also served as Counsellor, Embassy of Ghana, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, and Assistant Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs, Accra., as a member of the Ghana Foreign Service since 1959. He was educated at the University College of Ghana, where he received his B.S. in 1959, and in 1967 he attended (Ich Institute of Inter- University School of Law. He has been employed in Indian affairs almost consistently since 1933. Most recently his positions have included: Area Director of Indian Af- fairs for the Alaska region, with headquar- ters in Juneau, 1962-1965, Assistant Director at Aberdeen Area Office, 1956-62.

H. E. HUBERT DE BESCHE

Swedish Ambassador to the U.S., he joined the Swedish Foreign Service in 1956 after graduating with a degree in law from Stockholm University. After three years in Lon- don, he served during and after the war in the Foreign Ministry in Stockholm, at which time he acted as Secretary to the Swedish-American-British Inter-Governmental Com- mittee (1943-45). For two years he was in charge of the Commission of Trade and Commerce, after which he was sent on his first tour of duty to the U.S. as Economic Counselor to the Swedish Embassy in Wash- ington. In 1953, he returned to Stockholm, as head of the Trade Department in the Minis- try for Foreign Affairs. In 1956 he was appointed Deputy Secretary General, a position he held until his recent appointment as Swedish Ambassador to the U.S. During most of his career, Ambassador de Besch has been working in the economic and com- mercial field, and he has a wide knowledge of the economic development of Western Europe during the fifties and early sixties. He has been taking an active part in the various negotiations regarding European economic integration and was intimately connected with the creation of the European Free Trade Association.

WILLIAM BRADEN

General-assignment reporter for the Chicago Sun-Times since 1956, has covered a wide variety of subject-matter including politics, from the White House to theology, the death of a president to the death of God. He is currently chairman of the Department of Journalism in 1953, Mr. Braden has received a total of nine Illo- was Associated Press Newswriting Awards and four Chicago Newspaper Guild Page One Awards for stories on subjects ranging from narcotics addiction to sex education and the Federal Communications Commis- sion. He has also received the Jacob Scher- Theta Sigma Phi Award for a series of articles on illegal wire-tapping, and the Mar- shall Field Award for general excellence as a reporter and writer, with special commen- dation for dispatches from Washington on the funeral of President Kennedy. In addi- tion, he has won various local and state prizes for national magazines including ESQUIRE, CORNET, WOMEN'S DAY, Mr. Braden is the author of chapters appearing in the Chi- cago Crime Book, an anthology of famous Chicago crime stories, and chapters in a book on psychedelic drugs edited by Sir Humphry Osmond. His book, THE PRI- VATE SEA; LSD AND THE SEARCH FOR GOD, (1967), received highly favorable re- views in publications ranging from the NEW YORK TIMES and the SATURDAY RE- view to PLAYBOY and the CHRISTIAN CENTURY.
ROBERT C. BRICTSON
Since 1958, Associate Head, Social Planning Research Program Systems Development Corporation, Santa Monica, California. The program is concerned with domestic and international problems of society. His aim is to identify those future problems for which meaningful strategies and priorities can be analyzed, evaluated and developed now before they actualize. Research on conflict and the implications of computers for privacy are current projects. Prior to 1958, he was an Assistant Social Scientist with the RAND Corporation, Santa Monica; Deputy Provost, Hunter College of the City University of New York, 1955-58; and Director of Advertising and Sales, Caro Products Company, 1948-55. He is a Diplomatic Civilian Intelligence Officer for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, Washington, D.C. He has served in the diplomatic service of Yugoslavia since 1945. This is his second tour of duty in the United States, having served as First Secretary of the Embassy in Washington from 1950 until 1954. Before returning to this country as Minister, he was Counselor of the Embassy and Counsel-General in Brazil from 1955 until 1960.

J.ymax BRUNER
Minister of the Embassy of Yugoslavia, Washington, D. C. He has been with the Yugoslav Diplomatic Service since 1945. This is his second tour of duty in the United States, having served as First Secretary of the Embassy in Washington from 1950 until 1954. Before returning to this country as Minister, he was Counselor of the Embassy and Counsel-General in Brazil from 1955 until 1960.

JEAN CAMPER CAHN
Attorney-at-Law and Consultant, is a graduate of Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota, 1964. He has served as Consultant for the Ford Foundation, the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, and the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency. He is the author of several professional and popular journals such as THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF CRIMINOLOGY and THE JOURNAL OF CRIMINAL LAW. His articles have appeared in several magazines in Africa, Great Britain and the United States.

G. CROW FLIES HIGH
A descendant of the Hidatsa Tribe, George Crow Flies High (Drags Wolf) is presently a rancher in New Town, North Dakota, on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation, where he is Traditional Leader of the Three Affiliated Tribes. His father, Chief Drags Wolf, was the son of Chief Crow Flies High. His <mother was Prairie Dog Woman. In the past he has served as a game warden and policeman. As a politician, person (who takes care of the people's business) for the Three Affiliated Tribes.

ROSE CROW FLIES HIGH
Tribal Council Member-Treasurer of the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation, Mrs. Crow Flies High is the wife of George Crow Flies High. Their two children are Krystina женя, daughter of Ruby (White Bear) and George Parshall, a carpenter, she was born in 1918 in Mountrail County, Shell Creek, North Dakota. She has raised a family of four in the poor people's crusade to Washington.

EDGAR CAHN
Lawyer, is Director of Washington, D.C.'s Citizens' Advocate Center. He has also been C.F.D. Project Director, National Committee for a National Complaint Center; Research Associate, Field Foundation, 1960-67; Consultant on Manpower Programs and Community Organization in Venezuela; Agency for International Development, 1960-67; Special Assistant to the President, National Manpower Development Program, 1960-67; Special Assistant, Office of Legal Counsel, Justice Department, 1963-64. He has served as Consultant for the Ford Foundation, the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, and the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency. He is the author of several professional and popular journals such as NOTRE DAME LAWYER and YALE LAW JOURNAL. He has written for the Yale Law School Faculty.

CLEOFAS CALLEROS
Welfare official and author, Mr. Calleros was born in Chihuahua, Mexico (1860) and became a U.S. citizen in 1916. He received an honorary M.F.A., New Mexico State University, in 1954. He is a Diplomatic Civilian Intelligence Officer for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, Washington, D.C. He has served in the diplomatic service of Yugoslavia since 1945. This is his second tour of duty in the United States, having served as First Secretary of the Embassy in Washington from 1950 until 1954. Before returning to this country as Minister, he was Counselor of the Embassy and Counsel-General in Brazil from 1955 until 1960.

ALEX CAMPBELL
Has been managing editor of THE NEW REPUBLIC since January, 1964, and before that was Washington correspondent for THE ECONOMIST, of London from 1961. Until joining the staff of THE ECONOMIST, he was bureau chief in the Middle East, in Jerusalem and for Africa, the Far East and America, and the editor of the monthly journal TIMES. He is the author of three travel books, THE HEART OF JAPAN, HANAYAMA, and SANCHEZ, all published by the University of California Press. He set up TIME magazine's first Africa Bureau in 1964, and from 1962-65 at California State College, Los Angeles. He received his B.A. from Duke University (Phi Beta Kappa), M.A. from Kent State University, and Ph.D. from the University of Miami. He has been published in various professional journals and textbooks, including TIME, THE WASHINGTON POST, THE NEW YORK TIMES, THE WASHINGTON POST, and COMMENTARY. He has also continued to write for various British journals.

HENRY FAIRLEY
A distinguished British political commentator, educated at Oxford University, who has contributed to all of the major British newspapers and periodicals. He has recently completed a major study of British politics in 1965. Fairley has been residing in Washington, D.C. for some time, during which he has contributed to several American publications, such as THE NEW YORK TIMES, THE WASHINGTON POST, and COMMENTARY. He has also continued to write for various British journals.

ELIZABETH FARMER
Producer-Correspondent, Public Broadcast Laboratory, Washington, D.C., was formerly research assistant to Walter Lippmann in which capacity she worked as a White House correspondent and as an employee of the WASHINGTON POST. A graduate of Radcliffe, Mrs. Farmer worked for the Department of State in the Intelligence Research section on German and Austrian political affairs (1951-54). After a brief retirement, she returned to the State Department, part-time (1958-59). In 1960 she worked for the Democratic National Committee producing material for speeches and the television debates during the Kennedy campaign.

RICHARD S. FELGER
Senior Curator, Botany, Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso- ciate Professor in the Department of Biology at the University of Southern California, now on leave of absence from Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and Adjunct Asso-
LESLIE FIEDLER
Author and critic, has appeared before audiences in Europe, Canada, and varied groups ranging from psychoanalysts to child welfare workers. He holds a Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. As a Japanese inter­preter for the U.S. Navy, he served in Hawaii, Guam, Iwo Jima, China and Okinawa. He is presently a faculty member of the University of California at Buffalo in English and Humanities and has also taught at the Universities of Bologna, Florence, Rome, Princeton, NYU, Columbia, Vermont, and Indiana. Cur­rently he is a member of the Woodrow Wilson Center for International Scholars. A fiction judge for the annual contest of Dell Publishing Co., and a Junior Fellow in the School of Letters. He won the Poetry Prize, has a prize in the Martha Foley Collection, was granted an award by the National Institute of Arts & Letters in 1957 for “excellence in creative writing,” and has held six fellowships and grants. A contribu­tor of articles, poetry, and short fiction to periodicals in many countries, Mr. Fiedler has written five books. The latest are PULL DOWN VANITY AND OTHER STORIES, 1962, and THE SECOND STONE: LOVE STORY, 1963.

JOHN H. GAYER
Program Manager of Communications Systems, General Electric Company, Philadelphia. He received his B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Nebraska (1942), and has studied Advanced Communications at Harvard University (1942), Advanced Electronics at the Massauchesetts Institute of Technology (1943), Specifialized Electronics at the Wright Electronics Engineering School (1944), Rocket Theory at the University of California (1947), and Economics at George Washington University (1952). He has worked as Electronics Instructor at Harvard University, Director of the Harisson Radio and Electronics School (1943-1945), Senior Electrical Engineer for the Salem Engineering Company (1946), Electrical Consulting Engineer for Douglas Aircraft (1946-1947), Chief of the Communications Branch of the U.S. Military Government in Berlin (1951), Professional Consulting Engineer in Washington, D.C. (1951-1953), and was affiliated with the International Tele-communication Union in Geneva, Switzerland (1953-1965). His present projects include developing systems for teleaving Apollo splashdowns using a small communications satellite and NASA satellites, telecommunications satellites, and aeronautical and maritime communications.

LESLEY C. GREEN
Professor in the Department of Political Science, The University of Alberta, Edmonton, Canada; Member, National Council, Canadian Human Rights Foundation; Consultant to Government of Singapore committee on abortion and sterilization law reform. A native of London, he graduated with a B.A. degree from the University of London, and during World War II, served in the Intelligence Corps as a translator and later as a diplomatic correspondent. He is a native of Denver, Colorado, he received a B.A. degree magna cum laude from Harvard University.

WILLARD L. HOING
Regional Administrator, VISTA, North Central Region. He is Director for VISTA activities in 11 states. Prior to this he served as Deputy Director, VISTA Training Division, Washington, D.C., where he was responsible for all planning, pre-contracting, curriculum and monitoring of VISTA training programs nationally. His first assignment with VISTA was as Training Officer, organizing and monitoring training programs with Tuskegee Institute, the Universities of Utah, Alaska and Maryland, and the North Carolina Fund. He has been with VISTA since 1965. He has taught at Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea College, Ohio State University, Syracuse University, State University of New York, Wichita State University, Wichi­ tan, Kansas; Ellsworth Junior College, Iowa Falls, Iowa; he has also taught at the high school level. He is a Special Agent, United States Army, Counterintelligence Corps/From 1951-53.

ABRAHAM FOXMAN
Director of Middle Eastern Affairs, Anti­ Defamation League of B’nai Brith. A member of the New York State Bar and the American Association of International Law, he holds a LL.B. degree from New York University Law School, and a degree in Poltical Science from the City University of New York. He has been a consultant on a student of Hebrew and Yiddish and is an author on the “Jewish Holocaust,” the pre­ -WWII World War and World War II in Central Europe. His publications on the Hol­ ocost have appeared in the JOURNAL OF SOCIAL STUDIES, the MACCABEAN, THE ANTHOLOGY OF HOLOCAUST LITERAtURE, and, most recently, in the anthology, THEY FOUGHT BACK. He has also prepared a monograph, “High Angel” on the resistance to Nazism for publication by the American Association for Jewish Education. He is a frequent traveler to Israel, and has worked with the Student Zionist Organization, Hillel, the L.L. Peretz Society, and the Hillel Campus.

ROBERT GARCIA
Director of Plans for Progress, Washington, D.C. On leave from the Sandia Corporation of Albuquerque, where he has served since 1956 as a Specialist in Personnel Developm ent, a Personnel Representative, Supervisor of Personnel Placement, Personnel Research, Organizational Development, Planing, and currently as the Department Manger of Personnel. He has initiated a variety of national Plans for Progress programs di­rected toward Spanish-surnamed and American Indians in the Southwest. He has worked as a liaison between Plans for Progress programs and group representatives and the National Congress of American Indians. He received M.B.A. and B.S. in Business Administration from the New Mexico, and presently serves as a Lecturer in General Management Practices at the University of New Mexico Community Col­lege. His publications have appeared in IEEE TRANSACTIONS ON ENGINEERING MANAGEMENT, RESEARCH MANAGEMENT, PERSONNEL PSYCHOLOGY, and EMPLOYMENT SECURITY REVIEW.

PHILIP GEYELIN
Washington Post Editorial Page Editor Philip Geyelin has been a distinguished Washington journalist for over 20 years. For the WALL STREET JOURNAL he covered the Korean War. He joined the New York Times and The New York Times Book Sections and in 1960 to 1960 he was Director of the International Telecommunication Union in Geneva, Switzerland. His present projects include developing systems for teleaving Apollo splashdowns using a small communications satellite and NASA satellites, telecommunications satellites, and aeronautical and maritime communications.

RICHARD GOULARD
Professor of the School of Aeronautics, Astronautics, and Engineering Sciences at Purdue University, he is a native of France. He has been Assistant District Attorney, he is a board member of the Neighborhood

MEG GREENFIELD
Joined THE WASHINGTON POST in 1968. She is the only woman among the Post's ten editorial writers, and she comments on a wide variety of subjects — politics, ABM developments, the Menemity treaty, Congressional hearings, civil rights, as well as the lighter side of current affairs. She was The Washington Post's correspondent in 1965-66 and a staff writer before that, from 1957. In 1956 she served as director of the New York Republican State Committee for Adlai Stevenson. She graduated in 1962 from Smith College with a B.A. in English, later a graduate of a graduate program at Harvard in Roman studies.

ROBERT E. HERZSTEIN Partner in Arnold and Porter, attorneys, and Trustee and Secretary-Treasurer of In­ stute for Policy Studies, Washington, D.C., he also served as Assistant to the General Counsel, Department of the Army in 1955-58. A native of Denver, Colorado, he received a B.A. degree magna cum laude from Harvard University.

PAUL JACOBS
Member of the staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, California. He is also associated with the Center for the Study of Law and Society at the University of California at Berkeley. A former union official, he is a prolific writer who has contributed articles to THE REPORTER, THE ECONOMIST, HARPER'S, and many other magazines and journals. He is the author of the recently published book, THE STATE OF THE UNIONS, IS CURLY JEWISH?, and PREL­
U DE TO RIOTS — the latter two relating his investigations of the aftermath of the Watts riot. He is also co-author of THE NEW RADICALS.

RONALD JAMES
Legislative Associate for the Urban Coalition Action Council, Washington, D.C., he received a J.D. from the George Washi­

FRED R. HECKMAN, JR.
Tribal Development Officer, Apache-Mescalero Reservation, he attended undergraduate school at the Colorado School of Mines and the University of Colorado, where he also went to graduate school. After his graduate work he worked for American Indian Development on the Navajo Indian Reservation in Arizona and in implementation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Public Health Service in various developmental capacities. He first worked on the Mesca­ a Reserve in 1962, and in 1964 he went to work for a private economic development controlling firm, returning to the Reservation in 1966.

JEH V. JOHNSON
An architect, he is in private practice and a partner in the firm of Gindele & Johnson, Poughkeepsie, New York. He is engaged in the general practice of architect­ cure and current works include: public schools, public and commercial buildings, multi-family housing groups, and urban development projects. In 1967, he was appointed by President Johnson to the National Commission on Urban Problems which submitted its reports in January, 1969. Mr. Johnson is a board member of the Neighborhood
JAMES AVERY JOYCE

British author, barrister, and economist. He is a graduate of the University of London holding degrees in economics, political science, law, and history. He has been a visiting lecturer at numerous universities in the U.S., a Secretary of the International Association for Labor Legislation, and a special correspondent at both the League of Nations and the United Nations. His articles have appeared in numerous British and American publications, including the BBC and other contributions to the everyday study of law have been recognized by republication in paperbacks and pamphlets. He has been a member of the Council on foreign relations, the Institute for Strategic Studies (London), American Political Science Association, Association for Pacific Asian Studies, Association of American Rhodes Scholars, and the Middle East Institute.

PADRAIC M. KENNEDY

The Director of VISTA has been with the program since its inception in 1964. Mr. Kennedy, who holds a M.A. in American History from Wisconsin, was one of the first ten to join the Peace Corps corps. He was appointed as Director of Volunteer Support, Mr. Kennedy was responsible for 10,000 Peace Corps Volunteers. The program since its inception in 1964. Mr. Kennedy was appointed as Director of Volunteer Support, Mr. Kennedy was responsible for 10,000 Peace Corps Volunteers. Today, VISTA Volunteers live and work in the urban slums and rural poverty areas of 49 states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa. Volunteers are also serving on Indian reservations, on men's missions, and in the migrant streams, and on mental health projects.

BIRGIT KILLS STRAIGHT

Represents the Oglala Sioux Tribe. She is also First Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors, American Indian Leadership Council, presently organizing. She is a tribal member of the Oglala Sioux Tribe and lives in the Black Hills, South Dakota. She graduated from the Aberdeen School of Commerce, Aberdeen, South Dakota, and was with the Office of Economic Development for two years in various capacities. She has been a personnel management specialist, tax consultant, laborer, surveyor, and has been a member and an official in various non-profit, non-political groups and community organizations. After serving with the U.S. Army in Germany, where he was selected as one of the enlisted men to serve on the Joint VISTA Board in Operation BIG LIFT, he received a letter of appreciation from General D. DeWitt Lang, a Good Conduct Medal, and a Sharpshooter's Medal.

ARDEN KING

Professor of Anthropology at Tulane University, has published widely on anthropological and archaeological subjects relating to the pre-history of Latin America. He has also written and published extensively in professional meetings on such subjects as The Cultural Legacy of the Incas, The Role of the Andes in the World Economy, The Persistence of Cultural Identity, Time, Society and Culture, Anthropological Theory of Reenact and more recently, The Impact of Urban Culture on Northern Guatemala. He was President of Phi Beta Kappa in 1968-69.

CAROLYN KIZER

Poet and editor, she is the author of two volumes of poetry, THE UNEARTHLY GARDEN (1961), and KNOCK UPON SILENCE (1965). She founded the poetry quarterly, POETRY NORTHWEST, in 1959 and edited it until the spring of 1966. In the academic year of 1964-65 in Pakistan as a guest-in-residence of the Department of State. In 1966 she edited the literary programs of the National Endowment for the Arts (a federal cultural program established by Congress in 1966).

ANDREW KNIGHT

Correspondent for the ECONOMIST, Washington, D.C., for the last three and one-half years as a specialist in international economics. His articles have appeared with THE INVESTOR'S CHRONICLE, a London investment paper, and with J. Henry Schroder Wagg and Company as a merchant banker. He was born in Tęburek, Gloustershire.

CLARK KNOWLTON

Director, Center for Study of Social Problems, University of Utah, Salt Lake City. Born in 1919 in Salt Lake City, he attended Brigham Young University, where he received his B.A. degree in 1947, majoring in sociology. He received his M.A. degree in sociology from Brigham Young in 1948 and his Ph.D. in sociology at Vanderbilt University in 1955. Mr. Knowlton worked on his Ph.D. dissertation in Brazil for two years in 1953-54. He returned to the States to begin his teaching career at Georgia Southern College at Statesboro, Georgia from 1955-58. In 1958 he went to New Mexico Highlands University and from there to the University of Texas at El Paso where he was chairman of the department of sociology until 1966 when he returned to his native state of Utah and became the Director of the Center for the Study of Social Problems at the University of Utah.

Jorge Lara-Braud

Since 1966 he has directed the Hispanic Folklore and Anthology Program at the National Endowment for the Arts, a Government agency devoted to the advancement of the Spanish-speaking people of the U.S., and to the understanding of U.S.-Latin American relations. A native of Mexico, Baja California, Mexico, he received a B.A. from Austin College, Sherman, Texas, as well as an Honorary-Doctor of Divinity Degree (in recognition for Inter-American services), a Bachelor of Divinity (highest degree awarded) at the Presbyterian Church of Austin, Texas, and has done graduate work at Texas A & R College, Kingsville, Texas, and Princeton Seminary, Princeton, New Jersey. From 1966-64, he served as Dean of Faculty, Presbyterian Seminary, Mexico City, and from 1964-67 as Professor of the Hispanic Ministry at the Presbyterian Seminary, Mexico City. His writings have appeared consistently in numerous eccumenical publications.

VICTOR M. LESSIOVSKI

Personal Assistant to the Secretary General of the United Nations, he was born in Odessa, USSR, and was educated at Moscow Aviation Engineering College. Since 1947, he has served in the Russian Government and the United Nations in the positions of Attaché to the Foreign Office, Moscow (1951); Second Secretary to the USSR Mission in Rangoon, Burma (1951-1954); and Secretary to the Foreign Office, Moscow (1954-1956); First Secretary of the Peruvian Mission to the EEC to the Commission of the United Nations in A. Bangkok, Thailand (1956-1959); Clo d'Affaires of the USSR, Canberra, Aust.; (1959); Counselor of the Foreign Office of the USSR, New York (1959-1961); Senior Assistant to the Department of the Generals, New York (1963-1966); and c-se. to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Moscow (1966-1968).

VELMA LINFORD

Special Assistant to the Associate Direc of VISTA, Washington, D.C. She has been on the VISTA Task Force and was the rector of Rural Projects and Acting Asst Director of Project Development, directly involved with the placement of TA's first 100 volunteers. She was was a Yugoslavia State Superintendent Schools (1955-1963), and wrote several b's on your history; was on the Executive Committee of the Educational Asso A-ciation; acted as Educational of the Department of Rural Edu as Educational Consultant to the Department of Education and the Extension vice of the Department of Agriculture, awards include the Gold Key Award for ing, the Honorary Presswomen Award, and the United Nations Woman Award to NATO, helping to draft the lnant Charter.

VADIM P. LOGINOV

First Secretary, Union of the Soviet Soci Republic Embassy, Washington, gradu from the Leningrad Ship-building Insti Maritime, Moscow, 1967. He worked as an engineer a Leningrad shipyard and later as a fi nmoves Leningrad and Moscow prior to joining Foreign Ministry in 1967.

MICHAEL S. MARCH

Assistant Director of the Research Plann Board of the Government of Canada D.C. After receiving his B.A. degree from the University of Colorado in Economic 1959, he joined the University of Illinois and American University, and the Harvard University Graduate School of Public Administration. He has served in the White House Budget in the Fiscal Analysis Divi (1944-1951), the Labor and Welfare Div (1951-1956), the Education, Manpower, Congress for NATO, helping to draft the lnant Charter.
GEOFFREY B. WHITTLE

Manager of the Washington office, Arthur B. Little, Inc. A graduate of the University of London, he helped develop radar during World War II with the British Radar Laboratories of the General Electric Company Ltd. of England before coming to the U. S. in 1951. Since that time, he has worked closely with Arthur D. Little's Industry Development Group and with Dr. Arthur D. Little himself, as a consultant to the President's Special Assistant for Science and Technology, an advisor to the Director of the Office of Science and Technology, and Executive Director of FORD SCIENTIFIC FOUNDATION. He was also chief of educational programs at the Bronx Community College of the City University of New York. The principal responsibility was to analyze technology as a stimulant to economic growth.

ROBERT A. MOOG

Engineer-Musician and President of R. A. Moog, Inc., manufacturers of electronic musical instruments. He was born 34 years ago in Flushing, New York, and attended local schools. At the age of 12, as a former student of piano at Manhattan School of Music. The music side of his life began when he was 15 and he came to New York City. He has become widely known and lasted until he was sixteen and ready for the concert stage. It was then, however, that he decided engineering had a stronger appeal. He attended the City College of New York for a B.S. degree. By the end of his senior year, he had also acquired an electrical engineering degree from the City College of New York, and a Ph.D. in engineering physics from Cornell followed eight years later. During the time he studied and manufactured Theremin's at his night in his basement. An article written by Moog for a monthly electronic publication, on how to make a Theremin, produced an increasing number of orders from all over the world which made him realize there were new and more exciting electronic musical instruments to be designed. With this in mind, in 1963, he sought out Herbert Deutsch, who joined him in the factory. Their aim was to establish a new company for Theremin products. The company, called Moog, was formed in 1963. Since then, the company has grown rapidly and has become one of the most respected names in the electronic music field. They have developed many innovative instruments, including the Moog synthesizer, which has become a staple in the majority of electronic music performances. Moog's synthesizers have been used by musicians worldwide, from classical orchestras to electronic music artists. His company has also been involved in the development of other electronic music equipment, such as the Moog drum machine and the Moog Modular Synthesizer. Moog has received numerous awards and accolades for his contributions to the field of electronic music, and he continues to innovate and push the boundaries of what is possible with electronic instruments.
ROBERT K. THOMAS

Anthropologist at Wayne State University in Detroit, for the past two years. Since 1953, he has been involved in Indian affairs projects at various universities, including the University of Chicago, the University of North Carolina, and the University of South Dakota. At the University of Chicago he was Associate Director, Carnegie Corporation Cross-Cultural Education Project, (1963-67). For several summers since 1957 he has lectured at summer workshops on Indian affairs, and has done formal field work with various Indian tribes since 1951. He is the author of "The Redbird Smith Movement," SYMPOSIUM ON CHEROKEE AND IROQUOIS CULTURES, W. N. Fenton and John Gyu, eds., Bureau of American Ethnology Bulletin No. 180.

SAMUEL E. WARREN

Economist, Director of the Social Science Division of Jackson State College, Jackson, Mississippi, received his B.A. from Allegheny College, his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. He has acted as chairman of the social science departments of Texas College, Prairie View State College, Southern University Agricultural & Mechanical College, and Texas Southern; department chairman of economics and business administration, Bishop College & Houston-Tillotson College; chairman of the department of economics and Acting Dean of the Graduate School, Texas Southern. He is the author of articles on economic development, the American labor movement, and intercultural relationships in the social sciences.

RENA RUS WEBER

Lawyer, Hamburg, Germany. Studied at the universities of Heidelberg, Hamburg, and Lausanne, and was a German exchange student (1931-32) at the University of Denver graduating with an M.A. in political science. After receiving his Doctor of Law at the University of Hamburg, he served in the Department of Justice of Hamburg as district attorney, judge and attorney. During 1940-46 he served in the German Military Forces as an officer in the field and was held British prisoner of war in Tarent Italy. In 1949 he became a member of the legislature of the city state of Hamburg and contributed to the draft of the Hamburg constitution of 1952. In 1953-57 he was a member of the city government and delegate of the city of Hamburg in Bonn as member of the Upper House (Bundesrat). He was also the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the Upper House. He has served several times as German delegate at the parliamentary assembly of the NATO member states in Paris. In 1957 he was German delegate at the NATO naval headquarters in Norfolk, Virginia. From 1959 to 1967 he was ministerial counselor (Ministerialdirektor) in the Federal Ministry for the Upper House and the eleven German states in Bonn.

VINCE WHIPPLE

Presently the Educational Training Director of the New Careers Program at the University of Colorado. He represents the Mississippi on the Oglala Sioux reservation at Pine Ridge, South Dakota. As a social science major at Huron College in Huron, South Dakota, he did additional work in education at Black Hills State College in Spearfish, South Dakota, and at South Dakota State University in Brookings. His previous employment has been with the Todd County High School Mission as a teacher and with the Oglala Sioux Office for Economic Development, where he was a remedial education teacher.

H. E. GUERODOT

TCHERNOUCHTCHENKO

Ambassador of the Byelorussian Soviet Socialist Republic to the United Nations, New York. He is the author of more than 30 articles in books and journals of philosophy and education, in addition to ds: ON EDUCATION AND FREEDOM, ART AND THE INTELLECT, and CSSAYS IN TEACHING. In extending his educational ideas into practice, Dr. Taylor he represented his country at a number of sessions of the United Nations, including those to the problems of war and peace. He is the chairman of the latter group. He has been resident of the American Ballet Theater foundation, and a member of the Board of directors of numerous organizations including the Martha Graham School of Contemprary Dance, the National Book Committee, Americans for Democratic Action. His main interest continues to be his work in philosophy and education and, in research and writing now under way, he is investigating the possibility of developing world universities in Africa and Asia.

MAYUR "BRIAN" URQUHART

Director in the office of Under-Secretaries, Special Political Affairs, the Secretariat, United Nations, New York, he was educated at Westminster and Christ Church, Oxford, served from 1939-45 as British Army Officer in Infantry and Parachute regiments. Since 1946 he has held various positions in the United Nations, including those such education at Black Hills State College in Bonn, and the eleven German states in Bonn.

JOHN WALKER

Canon, Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C. Since 1956, he spent a year at the Bishop Tucker Theological College, Nkono, Uganda, Africa, while on sabbatical leave; was a master in history and sacred studies, St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire Advisory Committee to the U.S. Mary's Episcopal Church, Detroit. The Reverend Walker is a member of the New Hampshire Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights; District of Columbia Welfare Advisory Council, Sub-Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, National Committee on the Placement of Negro Clergy, and numerous other groups.

DOUGLAS WHITE

Writer, received a Ph. D. from the University of Pennsylvania in French Diplomatic History with a minor in Politics; has lived in England, France, and Germany and traveled in the Near East, the Far East, and the United States and Africa. Mrs. White holds three board memberships at the University of Pennsylvania, is assembling articles for book on Africa, and is at work on a book about General DeGaulle and the decolonization of the former French Colonies of Africa. Published works include: SEEDS OF DISCORD: DEGAULLE, FREE FRANCE AND THE ALLIES, Syracuse University Press (1964); columns on trip to Africa for THE EVENING BULLETIN whose chief subject was African women (1965), and was awarded the Philadelphia Athenaeum Prize for Non-fiction for 1964. In 1965 she lectured at the University of Pennsylvania on Modera France and Modern Europe in the summer school.

MICHAEL WILFORD

Counsellor, British Embassy, Washington, D.C. Born in New Zealand, he was educated at Wrekin College and at Pembroke College at Cambridge University. Beginning in 1947, he has held, in the British Government's Diplomatic Service; the positions of Assistant Private Secretary to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs (1949); Second, and later First Secretary, British Embassy, Paris (1952); First Secretary, Commission General for Southeast Asia, Singapore (1955); Assistant Private Secretary to the Secretary of State (1959); Private Secretary to the Lord Privy Seal (1960); First Secretary and Head of Chancery, British Embassy, Rabat (1962); Counsellor and Head of Chancery, Office of the British Charge d'Affaires, Peking (1964); and Acting Political Adviser to the Governor of Hong Kong (1967).

FREDERICK S. WYLE

Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for European and NATO Affairs, the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs, Washington, D.C. He earned a L.B. Degree from Harvard Law School in 1954 and practiced as an attorney in San Francisco and New York City prior to entering government service. In 1952 he was the Special Assistant to the U.S. Defense Representative, North Atlantic and Mediterranean Areas in Paris and from 1965 to 1965 served as a member of the Policy Planning Council for the Department of State. In 1965 he was appointed as Special Assistant to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (International Security Affairs). He became Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Planning and North Atlantic Affairs in April 1966. This position was later restructured to the position which he now holds.