Course Info

Description This course introduces the theoretical framework for analyzing the economic behavior of individual decision-makers, such as consumers, workers, and firms. The course will be divided roughly into 3 parts. The first will be an introduction to microeconomics, along with a review of supply and demand. The second part will be a discussion of consumer and firm behavior in competitive markets, along with an analysis of these markets. The third part of this course, we will relax some of the assumptions built into our model of competitive markets and consider cases where these assumptions do not hold.

Prerequisites ECON 2010 AND one of ECON 1088, MATH 1081, MATH 1300, MATH 1310, APPM 1350, or FNCE 2010 with a minimum grade of C-.

Textbook

Microeconomics with MyLab, 9th Edition, by Pindyck and Rubinfeld, Pearson Publishing, ISBN 9780134153988. Students are required to have access to MyLab (which includes an eBook) at a minimum and can optionally choose to purchase a paper text. MyLab is where you will read your textbook and complete some graded assignments. You will access MyLab through our course website on Canvas.

Structure

On the following dates and times the midterms and final exam will be held:

- Midterm 1: Friday, February 14 10:00-10:50 AM
- Midterm 2: Friday, March 20 10:00-10:50 AM
- Final: Saturday, May 2 4:30-7:00 PM

The course consists of lectures, homework, early module assignments, recitations, and exams.

Lecture I highly encourage but do not require attendance at lectures. I will occasionally offer opportunities to earn bonus points on exams during lectures through clicker questions or in-class discussions. With regards to classroom behavior, please exercise common courtesy. Please arrive on time, refrain from leaving early, and do not discuss non-course related content. You may use electronic devices for educational purposes, however I maintain the right to disallow use of electronic devices if they are used inappropriately.

Homework Each week during the semester, I will post homework assignments on myEconLab for you to complete. The homework assignments will consist of practice problems designed to re-enforce material covered during lecture and to prepare you for the types of questions you will answer on exams. Homework assignments will generally be due on Fridays at 11:00 PM. Late submissions and make-ups will not be allowed. I will drop the lowest homework grade at the end of the semester. If you experience any difficulties (ie myLab is not working) you must notify me before an assignment is due.

Early Modules Each week during the semester, I will post early module assignments on Canvas. These assignments are Canvas quizzes that are designed to provide a review of math and principles-level material that will be useful for introducing the material covered in lecture each week. Early module assignments will generally be due on Mondays at 10:00 AM. Late submissions and make-ups will not be allowed. I will drop the three-lowest early module grades at the end of the semester. If you experience any difficulties (ie Canvas is not working) you must notify me before an assignment is due.

Recitation Starting with the 2nd week of classes you will meet weekly with the TA for this course. The goal of recitation is to ask questions, review concepts, and practice with the material. Your TA will determine how grades are assigned.

Exams Exam dates are listed above. Midterms will be held during lecture on February 14 and March 20. The final will be held on May 2 at 4:30 PM. Midterms will consist of multiple choice and free-response questions which are non-cumulative. The final will consist of multiple choice and free-response questions which are cumulative. You must take the final exam in this course; failure to do so will result in a failing grade. The topics that each exam encompasses will be announced in class prior to the exam. University policy allows students who have more than three finals to reschedule the last final of the day. If students wish to reschedule a final, they must inform me by March 20.

Grading

Your grade will be determined by the following components and weights:

- Recitation: 5%
- Early Modules: 5%
- Homework: 15%
- Highest Midterm: 30%
- Lowest Midterm: 15%
- Final Exam: 30%

If your final exam score is higher than your lowest midterm score, I will replace the lowest midterm score with the final exam score. In other words, you may drop your lowest midterm if you achieve a higher score on the final.

I will assign letter grades with a +/- . I will follow economics department guidelines which means the average grade will be curved to a B-. The size of this curve will not be known until after all components of the course have been graded.

Course Policies

Missed Assignments In the case that an extreme illness is experienced leading to missing homework and/or early modules I will shift the weight of these to subsequent homeworks and/or early modules. In the case that a midterm exam is missed then the final exam score will replace the missed midterm (there will be no make-up exams). Proper documentation will be required for all missed assignments. A time-stamped note from Wardenburg does not qualify as an extreme illness.

Communication Outside of lectures and office hours, the optimal way to contact me is through email. I will not respond to emails if the answer to your question is in the syllabus. Please use your Colorado.edu account to email me, and include in the subject line ECON 3070. Please allow 24 hours for a response during the week, and 48 hours on weekends. I will occasionally distribute information through official university email; thus, it is expected that you will maintain and monitor your university email address.

Exam Policy Exams are the only components used to determine grades for which collaboration is explicitly prohibited. If you are caught cheating you will receive a 0 on the associated assignment. Non-graphing calculators are allowed to be used during exams; use of any other device will be considered cheating.

Intellectual Property All course materials are the property of the instructor and may not be shared with any individual outside of the course at any time for any reason without permission in writing from the instructor. Course materials, including but not limited to lecture presentation slides, assignments, grading rubrics, exams, discussion posts, and recitation activities, may not be posted to any website (e.g., Course Hero or similar sites, social media, etc.). The same applies to any audio or video recordings of lecture or recitation. A violation of this policy will be treated as a violation of the academic integrity policy.

Electronics Cell phone use is not permitted during class. If there is an emergency requiring the use of a cell phone please step outside the classroom. The use of tablets and laptops for educational purposes (ie lecture slides, Canvas, Mindtap) is permitted; however, I reserve the right to disallow their use if electronics are not being used appropriately.

University Policies

Students with Disabilities: If you qualify for accommodations because of a disability, please submit to me a letter from Disability Services in a timely manner so that your needs be addressed. Disability Services determines accommodations based on documented disabilities. Contact: 303-492-8671, Center for Community N200, and <http://www.Colorado.EDU/disabilityservices>. If you have a temporary medical condition or injury, see guidelines at <http://www.colorado.edu/disabilityservices/go.cgi?select=temporary.html>.

Religious Observance Policy: Campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to deal reasonably and fairly with all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled exams, assignments or required attendance. If you have a conflict, please contact me at the beginning of the term so that we can make proper arrangements.

Classroom Behavior Policy: Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Those who fail to adhere to such behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Professional courtesy and sensitivity are especially important with respect to individuals and topics dealing with differences of race, color, culture, religion, creed, politics, veterans status, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, and gender expression, age, disability, and nationalities. Class rosters are provided to the instructor with the students legal name. I will gladly honor your request to address you by an alternate name or gender pronoun. Please advise me of this preference early in the semester so that I may make appropriate changes to my records.

Discrimination and Harrasment Policy: The University of Colorado at Boulder Discrimination and Ha-harassment Policy and Procedures, the University of Colorado Sexual Harassment Policy and Procedures, and the University of Colorado Conflict of Interest in Cases of Amorous Relationships Policy apply to all students, staff, and faculty. Any student, staff, or faculty member who believes s/he has been the subject of sexual harassment or discrimination or harassment based upon race, color, national origin, sex, pregnancy, age, disability, creed, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression or veteran status should contact the Office of Discrimination and Harassment (ODH) at 303-492-2127, or the Office of Student Conduct (OSC) at 303-492-5550. Information about the ODH, the above referenced policies, and the campus resources available to assist individuals regarding discrimination or harassment can be obtained at <http://www.colorado.edu/odh>.

Honor Code: All students of the University of Colorado at Boulder are responsible for knowing and adhering to the academic integrity policy of this institution. Violations of this policy may include: cheating, plagiarism, aid of academic dishonesty, fabrication, lying, bribery, and threatening behavior. All incidents of academic misconduct shall be reported to the Honor Code Council (honor@colorado.edu; 303-735-2273). Students who are found to be in violation of the academic integrity policy will be subject to both academic sanctions from the faculty member and nonacademic sanctions (including but not limited to university probation, suspension, or expulsion).
