General:

ECON 3818 is a one-semester course in statistics, and is required for Economics majors. This is a math class and we will study probability, random variables, probability distributions especially the normal distribution, and descriptive and inferential statistics including estimation and hypothesis testing. Emphasis is on both theory and application.

Textbook:

Statistics for Economics: An Intuitive Approach, HarperCollins Publisher, 1991. This book is out of print but you can get it at the CU Bookstore or on various online market places.

Grading:

Your total grade in this course will be determined by the following breakdown.

- Recitation (10% of Grade): See your recitation syllabus.
- 2 Midterms (30% each):
- Final (30% of Grade): The final will be cumulative.

Homework:

Due to the size of this class homework will not be collected; however a detailed list of suggested homework problems will be posted on D2L that you should not only complete but also study the solutions carefully as these problems are representative of the kind of questions you can expect on the Midterms and Final.

Communication:

Outside of class I will communicate with you via email but primarily through the “News” section in D2L so check it early and often.

Test Policy:

There will be no makeup exams. If at the end of the two exam midterm exam periods you do not turn in a test sheet, the percentage of your final grade that the missed exam represents will be added to the final exam. For example if you miss the first midterm the final will count as 60% of your grade rather than 30%. If you miss both midterms the final will be worth 90% of your grade. There is no make up policy for the final. If you miss the final you get a zero, no exceptions.

Calculators:

You will not be allowed to use graphing calculators on any of this class's exams. On exam days, if you try to use a graphing calculator you will be asked to put it away.

Laptop Policy:

Although I may be using technology to present the class to you, the best way to take notes in math class is good old paper and pencil. In accordance with this Open laptops will not be allowed in class at any time. It is my experience that the temptations of the Internet are too great for the average student to resist and such activities are highly distracting to other students around you. I will enforce this strictly.

Other Notes:

Student with Disabilities:

If you qualify for accommodations because of a disability, please submit to me a letter from disability services in a timely manner so that your needs can be addressed. Disability services determine accommodations based on documented disabilities.

Religious Observance Policy

Campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to reasonably and fairly deal with all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled exams, assignments, or required attendance. If you have a conflict, please contact me at the beginning of the term so we can make proper arrangements.

Classroom Behavior Policy

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Students who fail to adhere to such behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Faculty has the professional responsibility to treat all students with understanding, dignity and respect, to guide classroom discussion and to set reasonable limits on the manner in which they and their students express opinions.

Professional courtesy and sensitivity are especially important with respect to individuals and topics dealing with differences of race, culture, religion, politics, sexual orientation, gender variance, and nationalities. Class rosters are provided to the instructor with the student's legal name. I will gladly honor your request to address you by an alternate name or gender pronoun. Please advise me of this preference early in the semester so that I may make appropriate changes to my records.

Honor Code

All students of the University of Colorado at Boulder are responsible for knowing and adhering to the academic integrity policy of this institution. Violations of this policy may include: cheating, plagiarism, aid of academic dishonesty, fabrication, lying, bribery, and threatening behavior. All incidents of academic misconduct shall be reported to the Honor Code Council (honor@colorado.edu; 303-725-2273).

Students who are found to be in violation of the academic integrity policy will be subject to both academic sanctions from the faculty member and non-academic sanctions (including but not limited to university probation, suspension, or expulsion). Other information on the Honor Code can be found at:

<http://www.colorado.edu/policies/honor.html>

and at <http://www.colorado.edu/academics/honorcode/>.

Discrimination & Harassment Policy

The University of Colorado Policy on Sexual Harassment applies to all students, staff and faculty. Sexual harassment is unwelcome sexual attention. It can involve intimidation, threats, coercion, or promises or create an environment that is hostile or offensive. Harassment may occur between members of the same or opposite gender and between any combinations of members in the campus community: students, faculty, staff, and administrators. Harassment can occur anywhere on campus, including the classroom, the workplace, or a residence hall. Any student, staff or faculty member who believes s/he has been sexually harassed should contact the Office of Discrimination and Harassment (ODH) at 303-492-2127 or the Office of Judicial Affairs at 303-492-5550. Information about the ODH and the campus resources available to assist individuals who believe they have been sexually harassed can be obtained at: <http://www.colorado.edu/odh/>
