Course Description

This course is designed to give you an introduction to the implications of natural resources as economic concepts. It presents theories of efficient utilization of natural resources and discusses issues related to current practices of use of resources. We will study natural resources used in the economy, the value of natural resources to society, and the allocation of renewable and non-renewable resources. We also discuss issues of sustainability, conservation, and preservation. The course extensively uses graphical analyses and some mathematical models.

Prerequisites

Intermediate Microeconomic Theory (Econ 3070) is the prerequisite for this course. It is very important that you fulfill the prerequisite before you take this course, and still understand the materials in the prerequisite. If you have any uncertainty as whether you are under or over qualified to take the course, please talk to me ASAP.

Readings

The required book for this course is Natural Resource Economics: An Introduction, 2nd edition by Barry C. Field, BUT this book is a very basic natural resources book and used alone would be more fitting for a non-majors class. We will not use it alone. There will be additional assigned readings for nearly every topic we cover. These readings will be posted separately on the course website.

Class format

The first portion of the course will be a fairly basic introduction to the tools used in analyzing natural resource issues. We will then cover some general natural resource topics, and analysis techniques. Finally we turn to applied problems, and public policy issues. A more detailed course outline will be posted on the course website.

Exams

There will be two exams and a cumulative final. Tests will consist of short-answer questions and some longer problems. The exams (other than the final) will not be cumulative, but the material does build on itself so it is important to understand all of the concepts as we go. Exams will be given in class on the days listed. Do NOT miss an exam. There will be NO makeup exams, and NO EXAMS WILL BE DROPPED!!

Presentations

I am asking you to work in small groups to put together an insightful and informative presentation. This will allow you to use all that you have learned in this class to examine an existing natural resources topic. The issue can be local, regional, national, or international. I will discuss this more thoroughly in the first couple weeks of class. I want you to begin thinking about this early though, so that you will produce a good product. Your presentation should explain the problem, consider the economic institutions involved, consider the players that are involved, their costs and benefits, and the economic and political feasibility of any proposed solution. The presentation should most importantly be an analytical (NOT narrative) study. This is your chance to be creative, let your mind roam through the literature and through the newspaper. Your presentation should be informative and entertaining, but most importantly analytical and thorough. You must have a proposed topic to me by September 20.

Group-Led Article Discussions, Quizzes and Participation

We will review several relevant academic articles on different issues in natural resource economics. You will be required to understand these articles, and you will work in teams of 2-4 people to present one of the articles and lead the discussion for that article. When you are not in the discussion group you are still expected to have read the article and there will be a short quiz.

Grading:

Group-Led Discussion	6%
Quizzes	12%
Group Presentation	17%
Presentation Participation	5%
Exam I (Monday, 9/30)	20%
Exam II (Monday, 11/4)	20%
Final Exam (Tuesday, 12/17 @ 1:30pm)	20%

Policy on Cheating:

If you are found to have violated the honor code (see below), by both myself and the honor code council, you will automatically fail the course!

Attendance Policy

There is not an overall attendance policy for this course, but since participation for the presentations is important there is an attendance policy for that part of the course. If you have more than one unexcused absence during the presentation days your presentation grade will be reduced by 10% and by 15% more for each additional day missed.

Incompletes, Extra Credit, etc.:

I adhere strictly to the University guidelines on Incompletes ("An I is given only when students, beyond their control, have been unable to complete course requirements. A substantial amount of work must have been satisfactorily completed before approval for such a grade is completed."). Bad grades, unsatisfactory performance, too many credit hours, work conflicts, etc. are not reasons for an incomplete.

I am adamant about giving each student an equal opportunity to perform well in the course, so there will be no extra credit opportunities that are not offered to the entire class. You should focus your efforts on learning the material and doing well on the exams.

Grading Scale:

Your Score	Grade
92% to 100%	A
90% to 91%	A-
88% to 89%	B+
82% to 87%	B
80% to 81%	B-
78% to 79%	C+
72% to 77%	C
70% to 71%	C-
68% to 69%	D+
62% to 67%	D
60% to 61%	D-
Below 59.5%	F

Additional Notes:

Honor Code

All students of the University of Colorado at Boulder are responsible for knowing and adhering to the academic integrity policy of this institution. Violations of this policy may include: cheating, plagiarism, aid of academic dishonesty, fabrication, lying, bribery, and threatening behavior. All incidents of academic misconduct shall be reported to the Honor Code Council (honor@colorado.edu; 303-725-2273). Students who are found to be in violation of the academic integrity policy will be subject to both academic sanctions from the faculty member and non-academic sanctions (including but not limited to university probation, suspension, or expulsion). Additional information on the Honor Code can be found at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/honor.html> and at <http://www.colorado.edu/academics/honorcode>

Disabilities

If you qualify for accommodations because of a disability, please submit a letter to the instructor from Disability Services in a timely manner so that your needs may be addressed.

Disability Services determines accommodations based on documented disabilities.

Religious holidays

A comprehensive calendar of the religious holidays most commonly observed by CU-Boulder students can be found at <http://www.interfaithcalendar.org/> Review this list and the class syllabus. After reviewing the syllabus, please see the instructor if you believe that you need an accommodation for religious reasons. The instructor should be notified within the first two weeks of classes. Campus policy regarding religious observances states that faculty must make reasonable accommodation for them and in so doing, be careful not to inhibit or penalize those students who are exercising their rights to religious observance. For more information see http://www.colorado.edu/policies/fac_relig.html

Code of Behavior

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Students who fail to adhere to behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Faculty have the professional responsibility to treat students with understanding, dignity and respect, to guide classroom discussion and to set reasonable limits on the manner in which students express opinions. See policies at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/classbehavior.html> and at http://www.colorado.edu/studentaffairs/judicialaffairs/code.html#student_code

Policy on Sexual Harassment

The University of Colorado Policy on Sexual Harassment applies to all students, staff and faculty. Sexual harassment is unwelcome sexual attention. It can involve intimidation, threats, coercion, or promises or create an environment that is hostile or offensive. Harassment may occur between members of the same or opposite gender and between any combination of members in the campus community: students, faculty, staff, and administrators. Harassment can occur anywhere on campus, including the classroom, the workplace, or a residence hall. Any student, staff or faculty member who believes s/he has been sexually harassed should contact the Office of Sexual Harassment (OSH) at 303-492-2127 or the Office of Judicial Affairs at 303-492-5550. Information about the OSH and the campus resources available to assist individuals who believe they have been sexually harassed can be obtained at: <http://www.colorado.edu/sexualharassment/>
