If you have already taken college courses elsewhere (including CU-Denver college credit earned through the CU Succeed program), you must talk with your major department academic advisor to determine what coursework transfers to CU-Boulder, and if/how this coursework might apply towards your degree requirements.

Just because a course(s) transfers in, it doesn’t mean it will apply towards engineering degree requirements, which is why you need to consult with an academic advisor BEFORE registering for classes.

You’ll need to provide your academic advisor with a college transcript, course descriptions, and course syllabi from each prior college attended (note these all need to be in English).

Contact your academic advisor:

www.colorado.edu/engineering/academics/advising-registration/advisors

Log onto MyCUInfo.colorado.edu and go to the “Degree Audit” area; look under the “Courses” tab to see if/how your transfer courses transfer to CU-Boulder; run a “degree audit” to see if/how your transfer courses apply towards your degree program. Ask your academic advisor if you have any questions about what you see.