

CONVERGENCE PARK | THROUGH THE TERRAIN

Corey Niemann

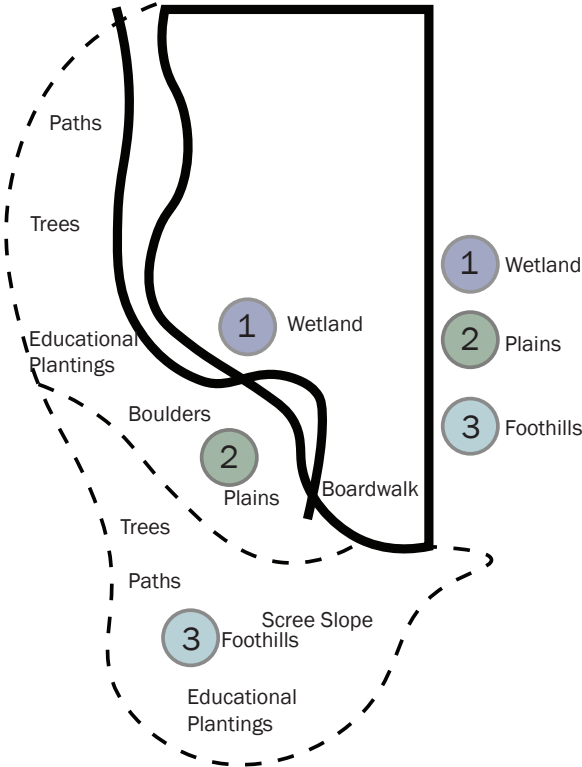

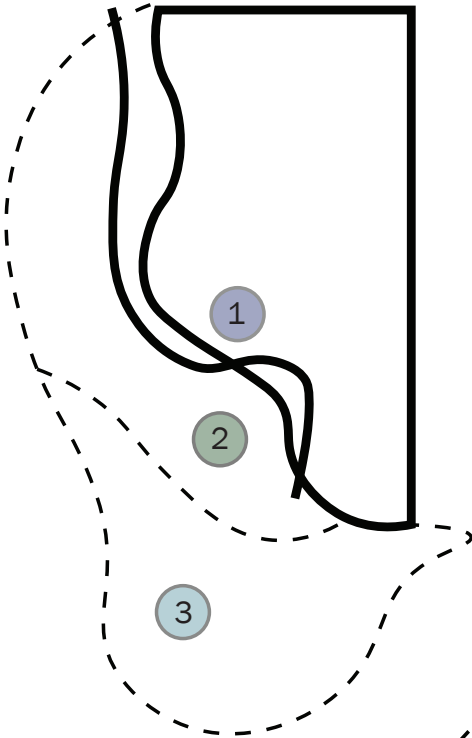

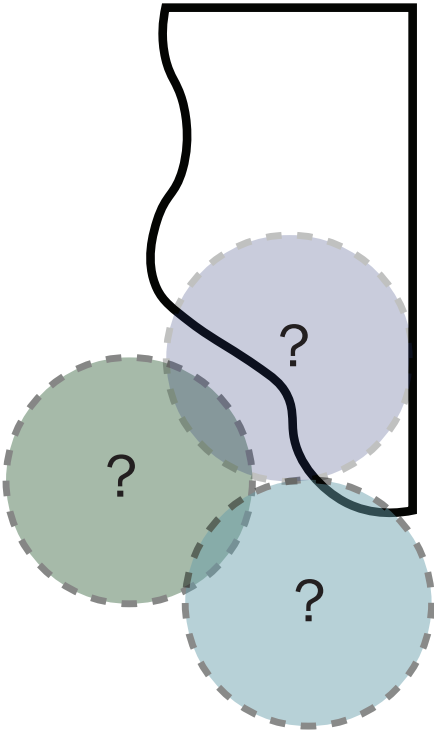

The specific focus of this space is to explore the different layers of ecology. The overall masterplan of the space has a contrast, which contains grid and freeform elements. The southern portion of the park, which includes the highlighted area, displays the natural and freeform component. Convergence Park acts as a place to allow its visitors to adapt to different areas, but also learn.

When going “through the terrain”, you learn, play, discover, and connect to the landscape. This is a place to retreat and find a place right for you to connect.
