

Unity Community park:The Shifting White Water

Chenyang Xu Land 3100

The Shifting white water, like it sounds, is a water-like formed sculpture. It is more like a datum of the site. The design of the datum focusing on bringing a constructive experience to the people. It exists in many different forms of features like seatings, arts, and gates on the site in order to be presented consistantly as a whole through out the site. It aims to unify different programs and erases the boundries between them. It focuses on defining different programmed spaces and also helps to maintain the consistency of the experience through out the whole park.

Site Analysis

- Strength
  - Accessing Points
- Opportunity
  - Multiple intersections, good for implementing structures.
  - Strong paths circulation
- How to make the seperation of the programs more senseless?
- How to create a more welcoming acessing and experience for the neighborhoods?
