LUPE LOPEZ

ROCK STAR RULES

Have you ever dreamed of being a rockstar? Then meet Lupe Lopez, part-time kindergartener, and full-time rockstar drummer. Lupe is just starting her first year of school at Hector P. Garcia Elementary School in Texas and she couldn't be more excited to rule the school. But Lupe quickly finds out that kindergarten isn't exactly what she thought it was going to be. She doesn't have any adoring fans, she has gotten in trouble with her teacher Ms. Quintanilla for her rock star rules, and so Lupe begins to doubt herself. Just when Lupe has given up on being a rockstar she meets Ruby DeLeon and Ana Flores, her brand new bandmates and best friends. Lupe decides kindergarten is pretty rock and roll and friends can always turn your tune around.

Display board for Lupe Lopez Rock Star Rules by e.E. Charlton Trujillo and Pat Zietlow Miller Created by Grace and Riley

Looking at the display board above you, see three distinct parts. The middle pink panel has the summary of the book and the displayed photo of the book's cover. There is also a wide display of the title of the book. There are also silver decorative stars across the board to capture viewers' attention. On the right panel are mini-bios of the book's two authors, e.E Charlton-Trujillo and Pat Zietlow Miller, and the illustrator Joe Cepeda. Included with their bios are a photo of them and a QR code that brings you to their websites when scanned. On the final panel, the left panel, there is a drawing of a drumset with a question asking readers to say drums in Spanish. On this panel, a model of Lupe's pencil drumsticks is attached to the board with a question asking viewers to say drumsticks in Spanish. Finally, there are more silver stars on this panel to catch the viewer's attention, and the sound of Lupe's drums from the book is at the bottom and top of the panel.
