Elo1 7.70 16 The whole world knows pretty well the style of these [Eastern] improvisators...in our translations of the Arabian Nights.
Elo1 7.74 10 There is the gib tongue and cool self-possession of the salesman in a large shop, which, as is well known, overpowers the prudence and resolution of housekeepers of both sexes.
Elo1 7.75 7 These accomplishments [of eloquence] are of the same kind, and only a degree higher than...the vituperative style well described in the street-word jaying.
Elo1 7.79 8 Whoso can speak well, said Luther, is a man.
Elo1 7.80 24 [The rich] include the country as well as the town...in their notion of available material.
Elo1 7.84 8 Pepys says of Lord Clarendon...though he spoke indeed excellent well, yet his manner and freedom of doing it, as if he played with street-word jawing.
Elo1 7.87 17...we must be fed and warmed before we can do any work well—well enough...
Elo1 7.88 17 It is well with [the audience] only when [the orator’s] influence is complete; otherwise they are well pleased.
Elo1 7.86 17...it is the certainty with which, indifferently in any affair that is well handled, the truth stares us in the face...that makes the interest of a court-room to the intelligent spectator.
DL 7.18 27 The parts [in the court-room trial] were so well cast and discriminated that it was an interesting game to watch.
DL 7.18 24 The parts [in the court-room trial] were so well cast and discriminated that it was an interesting game to watch. The government was well enough represented.
Elo1 7.88 2 2 The judge [in the court-room trial] had a task beyond his preparation, yet his position remained real: he was there to represent a great reality...the justice of states, which we could well enough see beheading over his head.
Elo1 7.88 5 The judge [in the court-room trial] had a task beyond his preparation, yet his position remained real: he was there to represent a great reality...the justice of states...which his trifling talk...did not impede, since he was entirely well meant.
Elo1 7.89 9 A crowd of men go up to Faneuil Hall; they are all pretty well acquainted with the object of the meeting;...
Elo1 7.91 16 ...we might well go round the world, to see...a man who, in prosecuting great designs, has an absolute command of the means of representing his ideas...

SA 8.103 9 It is of course that the American to be proud of should ride well, shoot well, sail well, keep house well, administer affairs well...

Elo2 8.117 3 [The orator] knew very well beforehand that [the people] were looking behind and that he was looking ahead...

Elo2 8.118 17 Go into an assembly well excited, some angry political meeting on the eve of a crisis. Then it appears that eloquence is as natural as swimming; an art which all men might learn, though so few do. It only needs that they should be once well pushed off into the water...

Elo2 8.124 16 ...in your struggles with the world...seek refuge...in the patriotism of Cicero, Demosthenes and Burke, as well as in the precepts and example of Him whose law is love...

Comc 8.166 4...the education in the divinity colleges may well hesitate...

Comc 8.171 22...the philosopher may well say, Let me see his brain, and I will tell you if he shall be poet, king...

QO 8.180 9 We may like well to know what is Plato's and what is Aristotle's...

QO 8.187 16...the times of force must be well husbanded...

QO 8.190 2...the Quakers express [self-respect], it might be thus...if at any time I propose a journey or a course of conduct, I perhaps find a silent obstacle in my mind that I cannot account for. Very well,—I let it lie, thinking it may pass away...

Grts 8.313 12 No aristocrat...can begin to compare with the self-respect of the saint. Why is he so lowly, but that he knows that he can well afford it, resting on the largeness of God in him?

Imtl 8.322 1 Mute orator! well skilled to plead,/ And send conviction...

Imtl 8.329 26 As [the Quakers] express [self-respect], it might be thus...if at any time I propose a journey or a course of conduct, I perhaps find a silent obstacle in my mind that I cannot account for. Very well,—I let it lie, thinking it may pass away...

Demi 10.10 We like cool people, who...can survive the blow well enough...

Demi 10.13 26...the education in the divinity colleges may well hesitate...

Grts 8.309 26...if we learn how old are...the alternate lotus-bud and leaf-

Grts 8.313 12 No aristocrat...can begin to compare with the self-respect of the saint. Why is he so lowly, but that he knows that he can well afford it, resting on the largeness of God in him?

Demi 10.13 26 Euripides said, He is not the best prophet who guesses well...

Demi 10.14 1 Euripides said...he is not the wisest man whose guess turns out well in the event...

Demi 10.21 6...the philosopher may well say, Let me see his brain, and I will tell you if he shall be poet, king...

Demi 10.26 13 I say to the table-rappers:—I well believe/ Thou wilt not use it well.

Euripides said, He is not the best prophet who guesses well...

Chr 10.114 27 ...I include in [reveals of the moral sentiment]...the history of Jesus, as well as those of every divine soul which in any place or time delivered...a grand lesson to humanity:...Chr 10.117 19 Men may well come together to kindle each other to virtuous living.

Chr 2 10.118 18 In the present tendency of our society...society is threatened by actual granulation, religious as well as political.

Edc 10.129 6 He who loves [the duty of power] sharpens the perceptions and stores the memory with facts. Thus a man may well spend many years of life in trade.

Edc 10.159 20 If I can pass with [boys], I can manage well enough with their fathers.

Edc 10.140 9 The young giant, brown from his hunting-tramp, tells his story well...

Edc 10.141 13 ...[the boy] gladly enters a school which...teaches by practice the law of conversation, namely, to hear as well as to speak.

Edc 10.149 1 The boy wishes to learn to skate, to coast...and a boy a little older is just as well pleased to teach him these sciences.

Edc 10.156 3...[as the naturalist] is still immovable, [the creatures of nature]...volunteer some degree of advances towards fellowship and good understanding with a biped who behaves so civilly and well.

Sul 10.166 6...I can well spare the exaggerations which appear to me screens to conceal ignorance.

Sul 10.169 26 When a farmer means to tell you that he is doing well with his farm, he says, I don’t work as hard as I did, and I don’t mean to.

Sul 10.174 13 I knew a grave man who, being urged to go to a church where a clergyman was newly ordained, said he liked him very well, but he would go when the interesting Sundays were over.

SoV 10.193 13 Others may well suffer in the hideous picture of crime which with earth is filled...

SoV 10.193 21...the habit of respecting that great order which certainly contains and will dispose of our little system, will take all fear from the heart.

SoV 10.198 9...as we send to England for shrubs which grow as well in our own door-yards and cow-pastures.

SoV 10.210 9 If these [public actions] are tokens of the steady currents of thought and will in these directions, one might well anticipate a new nation.

Prch 10.222 11 I cannot keep the sun in heaven, if you take away the purpose that animates him. The ball...is there, but his power...to illuminate the heart as well as the atmosphere, is gone forever.

Mol 10.224 5 [The scholar]...is born one or two centuries too early for the rough and sensual population into which he is thrown. But the Heaven which sent him hither knew that well enough....

Mol 10.249 8...the Church clung to ritual, and the scholar clung to joy, low as well as high.

Mol 10.258 11 Slavery is broken, and, if we use our advantage, irretrievably. For such a gain...one generation might well be sacrificed;...

Schr 10.264 20 The men committed by profession as well as by bias to study...talk hard and worldly.

Schr 10.270 17 I, said the great-hearted Kepler, may well wait a hundred years for a reader, since God Almighty has waited six thousand years for an arrow-head, and in his last days charged a youth setting out for the Rocky Mountains to find an Indian who could tell him that: It was well worth a visit to California to learn it.

Edc 10.139 20...[as the naturalist] was driven to find Nature her companion and solace.

EzRy 10.383 9 [Mary Moody Emerson] was driven to find Nature her companion and solace.

EzRy 10.393 9 The usual experiences of men...[Ezra Ripley] studied them all, and, sympathized so well in these that he was excellent company and counsel to all.

MME 10.411 13 In her solitude of twenty years, with fewest books and those only sermons, and a copy of Paradise Lost, without covers or title-page, so that later, when she heard much of Milton and sought his work, she found it was her very book which she knew so well.—[Mary Moody Emerson] was driven to find Nature her companion and solace.

MME 10.418 2 [My] My [Mary Moody Emerson’s] uncle has been the means of lessening my property. Ridiculous to wound him for that. He was honestly seeking his own. But at last, this very night, the bargain is closed, and I, am delighted with myself—my dear self has done well.

MME 10.420 26...sometimes I [Mary Moody Emerson] fancy that I am emptied and pleased to carry some seed to the ignorant, which no idler wind could ever dispense.

MME 10.426 27 Never do the feelings of the Infinite and the consciousness of finite frailty and ignorance harmonize so well as at this mystic season in the deserts of life.

Sif 10.440 20...[Samuel Hoar] said it was his business to pay whatever was demanded; for, though he might think the taxation large and very unequally proportioned, yet he thought the money might well go in this way as in any other.

Thor 10.452 26 [Thoreau] declined to give up his large ambition of knowledge and action for any narrow craft or profession, aiming at a much more comprehensive calling, the art of living well.

Thor 10.461 21 [Thoreau] could estimate the measure of a tree very well by his eye...

Thor 10.462 11 [Thoreau] had a strong common sense, like that which Rose Flammock, the weaver’s daughter in Scott’s romance [The Betrothed], commends in her father, as resembling a yardstick, which, though it measures down and up, can equally well measure tapestry and cloth of gold.

Thor 10.463 5...[Thoreau] seemed the only man of leisure in town, always ready for any excursion that promised well...

Thor 10.463 15 [Thoreau] said...Nature knows very well what sounds are worth attending to...

Thor 10.464 27 At first glance [Thoreau] measured his companion, and...could very well report his weight and calibre.

Thor 10.473 21 [Thoreau’s] visits to Maine were chiefly for love of the Indians, and the satisfaction it gave him of their character, as distinct as well as of trying his hand in its management on the rapids.

Thor 10.476 21 [Thoreau’s] visit in the summer of 1844, was his estimation of the Indian, as distinct as well as of trying his hand in its management on the rapids.

Thor 10.474 4...[Thoreau] well knew that asking questions of Indians is like cat-catching beavers and rabbits.

Thor 10.476 5 [Thoreau]...knew well how to throw a poetical veil over his experience.

Thoreau 11.481 25 [Thoreau] loved Nature so well...that he became very jealous of cities...

Carl 11.490 7 [ Carlyle]...understands his own value quite as well as Webster.

Carl 11.496 20 ...Carlyle thinks that the only religious act which a man necessarily can securely perform is to wash himself well.

GSt 10.504 7 [George Stearns’] examination before the United States Senate Committee on the Harper’s Ferry Invasion...is a chapter well worth reading...

GSt 10.507 24...there is to my mind somewhat so absolute in the action of a good man that we do not, in thinking of him, so much as make any question of the future. For the Spirit of the Universe seems to say: He has done well; is not that saying all?

LS 11.20 18...the Apostle well assures us that the kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost.

HDC 11.35 4 All kinds of garden fruits grew well...

HDC 11.50 21 The man of the woods might well draw on himself the compassion of the plantation.

HDC 11.59 4 ...when [King Philip] he was told that his sentence was death, he said he liked it well that he was to die before his heart was soft...

HDC 11.68 11 ...in answer to letters received from the united committees of correspondence...the town [of Concord] say: We cannot possibly view with indifference the...endeavors of the enemies of this, as well as the mother country, to rob us of those rights, that are the distinguishing glory and felicity of this land...

HDC 11.72 15 A large amount of military stores had been deposited in this town [Concord], by order of the Provincial Committee of Safety. It was to destroy those stores that the troops who were attacked in this town, on the 19th April, 1775, were sent hither by General Gage. The story of that day is well known.

HDC 11.76 18 ...you, my fathers [veterans of battle of Concord]...may well bear a chief part in keeping this peaceful birthday of our town.

HDC 11.84 12 ...for the most part, [our fathers]...provide well for the schools and the poor.

SMC 11.357 23 One of our later volunteers...said, I go because I shall always be sorry if I did not go when the country called me. I can go as well as another.
II 12.72 21 It is this employment of new means...that denotes the inspired man. This is equally obvious...in action as well as in fine arts.

Mem 12.100 10 ...men of great presence of mind...can think in this moment as deeply and as in the next.

Mem 12.102 22 The memory is one of the compensations which Nature grants to those who have used their days well.

Mem 12.108 20 The divine is...the life that can well bury the old in the ostentation with which it is new.

Mem 12.118 27 The memory is one of the compensations which Nature grants to those who have used their days well.

CInt 12.119 12 I value dearly the poet who knows his art so well that, when his voice vibrates, it fills the hearer with sympathetic song...

CInt 12.121 1 Need enough there is of such a band of priests of intellect and knowledge; and great is the office, and well deserving and well paying the last sacrifices and the highest ability.

CInt 12.127 12 You all well know the downward tendency in literature...

CInt 12.128 18 I would nearly see in nature ever,—wise, omnipotent, thousand-handed Nature—which can do very well without colleges...

CL 12.133 1 The air is wise, the wind thinks well./ And all through which it blows/...

CL 12.144 20 We may well enumerate what compensating advantages we have over that country [Illinois]...

CL 12.154 13 We may well yield us to a time for [the sea's] lessons.

CL 12.162 18 Sometimes the farmer withstands [the true naturalist] in crossing his lots, but 'tis to no purpose; the farmer could as well hope to prevent the sparrows or tortoises...

CL 12.164 15 ...it is the best part of poetry, merely to name natural objects well.

CL 12.165 3 Agassiz studies year after year fishes and fossil anatomy of saurian, and lizard, and pterodactyl. But whatever he says, we know very well what he means.

CL 12.165 6 [Agassiz] pretends to be only busy with the foldings of the yolk of a turtle's egg. I can see very well what he is driving at; he means men and women.

CW 12.174 17 in the arboretum you should have things...which people who read of them are hungry to see. Thus plant the Sequoia Gigantea...and set it on its way of ten or fifteen centuries. Bayard Taylor planted two — one died but I saw the other looking well...

CW 12.190 10 ...when the Venus epitome...number of leaves, the love tapestry of June, he may well ask himself the special meaning of the hieroglyphic, as well as the sense and scope of the whole...

Bost 12.185 21 Give me a climate where people think well and construct well—I will spend six months there, and you may have all the rest of my years.

Bost 12.185 22 Give me a climate where people think well and construct well,—I will spend six months there, and you may have all the rest of my years.

Bost 12.189 23 John Smith writes (1624): Of all the four parts of the world that I have yet seen not inhabited, could I but have means to transplant a colony, I would rather live here [in New England] than anywhere; and if it did not maintain itself, were we but once indifferent well fitted, let us starve.

MAngl 12.219 21 [Michelangelo] knew well that only by an understanding of the internal mechanism can the outside be faithfully delineated. MAngl 12.238 11 ...just here [said Vasari's servant to Michelangelo], before your door, is a spot of soft mud, and [the candles] will stand upright in it very well, and there I will light them all.

MAngl 12.240 27 [Condici wrote] As for me...this I know very well, that in that same biography, I never heard from [Michelangelo's] mouth a single word that was not perfectly decorous...

MAngl 12.242 4 In conversing upon this subject [death] with one of his friends, that person remarked that Michael [Angelo] might well grieve that one who was incessant in his creative labors should have no restoration. MAngl 12.242 18 Michael [Angelo] admonishes [Vasari]...that we ought not to show that joy when a child is born, which should be reserved for the death of one who has lived well.

Milt 12.250 5 Well we could well content if the flames to which [Milton's Defence of the English People] was condemned at Paris, at Toulouse, and at London, had utterly consumed it.

Milt 12.251 12 ...[Milton's Areopagitica] cheers as well as teaches. Milt 12.259 9 [Milton] in last month as well heffer in laudable things, ought himself to be a true poem;...

Milt 12.259 5 ...as far as possible [writes Milton], I aim to show myself equal in thought and speech to what I have written, if I have written anything well.

Milt 12.260 25 [Milton's] mastery of his native tongue was more than to use it as well as any other;....
The secret of culture is to learn that a few great points steadily reappear...and that these few are alone to be regarded;...these are the essentials,—these, and the wish...to add somewhat to the well-being of men.

_Milton_ 12.27 [The citizen’s] house ought to show us his honest opinion of what makes his well-being when he rests among his kindred..._DL_ 11.20...our idea of domestic well-being now needs wealth to execute it.

OA 7.327 Under the general assertion of the well-being of age, we can easily count particular benefits of that condition.

_Imlnl_ 8.3814 Hear the opinion of Montesquieu:...Independently of revealed ideas, metaphysical ideas give me a vigorous hope of my eternal well-being, which I would never renounce.

Suppl 10.174...these raptures of fire and frost, which...make the speech salt and biting, would cost me the days of well-being which are now so cheap to me, yet so valued.

_Shir_ 10.445...the vigor of [Samuel Hoar’s] understanding was directed on the ordinary domestic and municipal well-being.

_LS_ 11.72...that for which Jesus gave himself to be crucified;...was to...teach how to seek our well-being in the formation of the soul.

_EWI_ 11.118...We sometimes observe that spoiled children...seem to measure their own sense of well-being, not by what they do, but by the degree of reaction they can cause.

EWI 11.143 1 [The blacks] won the pity and respect which they have received [in the West Indies], by their powers and native endowments. I think this a circumstance of the highest importance. Their whole future is in it.

EWI 11.144 13 ...now, the arrival of such men as Toussaint outweighs in good omen all the English and American humanity. The anti-slavery of the whole world is dust in the balance before this...

War 11.152 22 On its own scale, on the virtues it loves, [war...shakes the whole society until every atom falls into the place its specific gravity assigns it.

War 11.158 13 The celebrated Cavendish...wrote thus...on his return from a voyage round the world: Sept. 1588. It hath pleased Almighty God to suffer...

FSLC 11.180 4 There are men who are as sure indexes of the equity of legislation...as the barometer is of the weight of the air, and it is a bad sign when their voices are disregarded, for through them a snuff of oppression and dishonor at a distance, it is because they are more important: the whole population will in a short time be as painfully affected.

FSLC 11.180 16 ...The Boston of the American Revolution, which figures so proudly in John Adams’s Diary, which the whole country has been reading on Boston—how this ancient honor has passed...

FSLC 11.185 8 Because of this preoccupied mind, the whole wealth and power of Boston...are thrown into the scale of crime...

FSLC 11.196 17 But worse, not the officials alone are bribed [by the power of Boston...are thrown into the scale of crime...

FSLC 11.200 2 When a moral quality comes into politics...general principles are laid bare, which cast light on the whole frame of society.

FSLC 11.203 16 ...very unexpectedly to the whole Union, on the 7th March, 1850...[Webster] crossed the line, and became the head of the slavery party in this country.

FSLN 11.221 23 I remember [Webster’s] appearance at Bunker’s Hill. There was the Monument, and here was Webster. He knew well that...he was only to say plain and equal things...and the whole occasion was answered by his presence.

FSLN 11.224 12 Four years ago to-night...Mr. Webster, most unexpectedly, threw his whole weight on the side of Slavery...

FSLN 11.227 22 ...Mr. Webster and the country went for the application to these poor men [negroes] of quadruped law. People were expecting a totally different course from Mr. Webster. If any man had in that hour possessed the weight with the country which he had acquired, he could have brought the whole country to its senses.

FSLN 11.232 4 Each [party] wishes to cover the whole ground:...AsSu 11.248 4 Many years ago, when Mr. Webster was challenged in Washington to a discussion by one of these [Southern] madcaps, his friends came forward with prompt good sense and said such a thing was not to be thought of; Mr. Webster’s life was the property of his friends and of the whole country.

AsSu 11.248 6 The whole state of South Carolina does not now offer one or any number of persons who are to be weighed for a moment in the scale with such a person as the meanest of them all has now struck down.

AKan 11.257 24 ...I submit that, in a case like this, where...the whole world knows that this is no accidental brawl...I submit that the governor and legislature should neither slumber nor sleep till they have found out how to send effectual aid and comfort to these poor farmers [in Kansas]...

AKan 11.261 12 The President told the Kansas Committee that the whole difficulty grew from the facts of the Kansas people...

JBB 11.268 22 [John Brown] believes in two articles,—two instruments which shall I say?—the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence; and he used this expression in conversation here concerning them, Better that a whole generation of men, women and children should pass away by a violent death than that one word of either should be violated in this country.

JBB 11.269 20 Nothing can resist the sympathy which all elevated minds...will in a short time be as painfully affected.

ACiv 11.304 6 [Emancipation] is a progressive policy, puts the whole people in healthy, productive, amiable position...

ACiv 11.306 12 There does exist, perhaps, a popular will...that our trade, and therefore our laws, must have the whole breadth of the continent...

ACiv 11.306 20 ...what kind of peace shall at that moment be easiest attained, [the people] will make concessions for it,—will give up the slaves, and the whole torrent of the past half-century will come back to be endured anew.

ACiv 11.307 20 ...whilst Slavery makes and keeps disunion, Emancipation removes the whole objection to union.

EPro 11.323 27 The [Civil war...brought with it the immense benefit of...preventing the whole force of Southern connection and influence throughout the North from distorting every city with endless confusion...

EPro 11.324 13 If you could add, say [foreign critics], to your strength the whole army of England, of France and of Austria, you could not coerce eight millions of people to come under this government against their will.

ALin 11.332 21 ...how this good nature become a noble humanity, in many a tragic case which the events of the war brought to him, every one will remember; and with what increasing tenderness he dealt when a whole race was thrown on his compassion.

HC 11.340 19 With such a force made whole with deed! Breaths its awakening breath/ Into the lifeless creed./ They saw [Truth] plummed and mailed./ With sweet, stern face unveiled,/ And all-repasting eyes, look...to come to a death for men...

SMC 11.352 16 ...this one violation [slavery] was a subtle poison, which in eighty years corrupted the whole overgrown body politic...

SMC 11.364 26 [George Prescott writes] I told Lieutenant Bowers, this morning, that I could afford to be sick from bringing the tent-poles, for it saved the whole regiment of the Metropolitan Police...

SMC 11.365 6 [George Prescott] had the satisfaction to see the whole regiment enjoying the protection of these tents.

SMC 11.371 26 Every day, for the last eight days, there has been a terrible struggle for the whole length of the line.

SMC 11.373 21 One of [George Prescott’s] townsmen and comrades...uses these words: He was one of the few men who fight for principle. He did not fight for glory, honor, nor money, but because he thought it his duty. These are not the feelings only, but of the whole regiment.

Koss 11.396 26 As you [Kossuth] see, the love you win [from Americans] is worth something; for it has been argued through...it has proved sound and whole:...

Wom 11.407 13 ...[women] give entirely to their affections, set their whole fortune on the die...

Wom 11.419 15 ...perhaps it is because these people [advocates of women’s rights] have been deprived of...opportunities, such as they wished...that they have been stung to say, that...it is too late for us...but, at least, we will see that the whole race of European women has suffered.

ShakI 11.449 22 ...we pause expectant before the genius of Shakspere— as if his biography were not yet written; until the problem of the whole English race is solved.

Hum 11.457 13 ...a whole French Academy, travelled in [Humboldt’s] shoes.

ChiE 11.474 18 ...Sir Frederic Bruce attributed to Mr. Burlingame the merit of the happy reform in the relations of foreign governments to China. I am quite sure that I heard from Mr. Burlingame in New York...that the whole merit of it belonged to Sir Frederic Bruce.

CPL 11.498 12 [Peter Bulkeley said] If we look to number, we are the fewest;...to wealth and riches, we are the poorest of all the people of God through the whole world.

CPL 11.508 23 ...the whole assembly to whom I speak entirely sympathize in the feeling of this town [Concord] in regard to the new Library...

FRep 11.513 6 ...it is not...the whole magazine of material nature that can give the sum of power...

FRep 11.513 23 Our sleepy civilization, ever since Roger Bacon and Monk Schwartz invented gunpowder, has built its whole art of war...on that one compound...

FRep 11.521 14 John Quincy Adams was a man of an audacious independence that always kept the public curiosity alive in regard to what he might do. None could predict his word, and a whole congress could not gainays it when it was spoken.

FRep 11.537 21 The new times need a new man...whom plainly this country must furnish. Freer swing his arms;...more forward and forthright

PLT 12.9 23 Ever since the Norse heaven made the stern terms of admission that a man must do something excellent with his hands or feet, or with his voice, eyes, ears, or with his whole body, the same demand has been the same.

PLT 12.15 16 We figure to ourselves Intellect as an ethereal sea...carrying its whole virtue into every creek and inlet which it bathes.

PLT 12.27 12 These views of the source of thought and the mode of its communication lead us to a whole system of ethics...

PLT 12.31 19 [A man’s aptitude] is...an organic sympathy with the whole frame of things.

PLT 12.35 8 Instinct is a shapeless giant in the cave...Behemoth...always...how...to come to a death for men...
12.69 The whole art of man has been an art of excitation...
12.79 The whole ethics of thought is of this kind, flowing out of reverence of the source...
12.82 The whole moral of modern science is the transference of that trust which is felt in Nature’s admired arrangements, to the sphere of freedom and of rational Method.

12.182 As if [the scholar] have this twofold goodness,—the drill and the inspiration...then he is a whole, and not a fragment;... MN 1.204 As the spirit and peculiarity of that impression nature makes on us is this, that... the whole is oppressed by one superincumbent tendency... MN 1.211 As this estatual state seems to direct a regard to the whole, and not to the parts;... MR 1.248 As we are to revive the whole of our social structure...

1.299 As it may be safely affirmed of these two metaphysical antagonists [Conservatism and Reform], that each is a good half, but an impossible whole.

1.310 As existing institutions really have so much flexibility as to afford your talent and character, on the whole, the same chance of demonstration and success which they might have if there was no law and no property.

1.316 As your words are excellent, but they do not tell the whole.

1.322 As if it still be asked in this necessity of partial organization, which party, on the whole, has the highest claims on our sympathy,—I bring it home to the private heart...

YA 1.373 As this Genius or Destiny may be styled a cruel kindness, serving the whole even to the ruin of the member;...

YA 1.384 As on the whole one may say that aims so generous and so forced on [the Communities] by the times, will not be relinquished, even if these attempts fail...

Hist 2.4 As if the whole of history is in one man, it is all to be explained from individual experience.

Hist 2.18 As the whole of heraldry and of chivalry is in courtesy.

Mrs 1.312 27 The word gentleman...is a homage to personal and incommunicable properties.
Mrs 1.312 1 The word gentleman, which, like the word Christian, must hereafter characterize the present and the few preceding centuries by the importance attached to it, is a homage to personal and incommunicable properties.
Mrs 1.312 8 The word gentleman has not any correlative abstract to express the quality.
Mrs 1.312 12 ...we must keep alive in the vernacular the distinction between fashion, a word of narrow and often sinister meaning, and the heroic character which the gentleman imports.
Mrs 1.312 23 ...the word [gentleman] denotes good-nature or benevolence.
Mrs 1.314 9 A man who is not happy in the company cannot find any word in his memory that will fit the occasion.

PI 8.39 3 [The poet] reads in the word or action of the man its yet untaught results.

PI 8.54 20 In reading prose, I am sensitive as soon as a sentence drags; but in poetry, as soon as one word drags.

PI 8.59 2 [Taliesen says] To another,—When I lapse to a sinful word:/ May neither you, nor others hear./

SA 8.380 13 This a wapiti figure in novels is the man—who sits, among the young aspirants and desperates—and, never sharing their affections or debilities, hurds his word like a bullet when occasion requires.—

SA 8.87 15 ...one word or two in regard to dress,...

Elo 8.110 13 Self-centred, when [a patriot] launched the genuine word/ It shook or catapulted all who heard/...

Elo 8.115 25 [The orator's speech] is action, as the general's word of command or chart of battle is action.

Elo 8.130 3 Speak what you do know and believe....and are answerable for every word....

Elo 8.131 5 [Eloquence] is...the unmistakable sign, never so casually given, in tone of voice, or manner, or word, that a greater spirit speaks from you than is spoken in him.

Res 8.140 4 See...how every impatient boss who sharply shortens the phrase or the word to give his order quicker...improves the national tongue.

Come 8.164 5 ...the occasion of laughter is some seeming, some keeping of the word to the ear and eye, whilst it is broken to the soul.

Come 8.164 11 ...as the religious sentiment is the most vital and sublime of all our sentiments...so is it abhorrent to our whole nature, when, in the absence of the sentiment, the act or word or officer volunteers to stand in its stead.

QO 8.182 12 The Bible itself is like an old Cremona [violin]; it has been played upon by the devotion of thousands of years until every word and particle is public and tunable.

QO 8.183 4 A great man...will not draw on his invention when his memory serves him with the larger good.

QO 8.192 27 Whoever expresses to us a just thought makes ridiculous the pains of the critic who should tell him where such a word had been said before.

QO 8.193 18 Every word in the language has once been used happily.

QO 8.193 22 Every word in the language has once been used happily. The ear, caught by that felicity, retains it, and it is used again and again, as if the charm belonged to the word and not to the life of thought which so enforced it.

QO 8.199 22 Our benefactors are as many as the children who invented speech, word by word.

QO 8.201 13 To all that can be said of the preponderance of the Past, the single word Genius is a sufficient reply.

QO 8.202 13 A phrase or a single word is adduced, with honoring emphasis, from Pindar, Hesiód or Eurípides, as precluding all argument, because thus had they said...

PC 8.234 2 ...when I say the educated class, I know what a benignant... PC 8.234 2...when I say the educated class, I know what a benignant...

PPo 8.236 9 [poets] have no toleration for literature; art is only a fine word for appearance in default of matter.

PPo 8.236 10 ...poets are never over their stoves, and talk themselves hoarse over the...the efficacity of book-makers. But...at the sound of some subtle word that falls from the lips of an imaginative person...this grave conclusion is blown out of memory:...

Plu 10.308 27 T is a temperance, not an eclecticism, which makes [Plutarch] adverse to the Johnsonic, or the Gymnosophist, or Diogenes, or any other extremist. That vice of theirs shall not hinder him from citing any good word they chance to drop.

LLNE 10.331 14 The word that [Everett] spoke, in the manner in which he spoke it, became current in New England.

LLNE 10.339 27 We could not then spare a single word [Channing] uttered in public...

MMEm 10.401 21 Every word [Mary Moody Emerson] writes about this farm (Elm Vale, Waterford)...interest like a romance.

Thor 10.460 16 Before the first friendly word had been spoken for Captain John Brown, [Thoreau] sent notices to most houses in Concord that he would speak in a public hall on the condition and character of John Brown.

Thor 10.460 22 [Thoreau] sent notices to most houses in Concord that he would speak in a public hall on the condition and character of John Brown, on Sunday evening, and invited all people to come. The Republican Committee, the Abolitionist Committee, sent him word that it was premature, and not advisable.

Thor 10.479 10 A certain habit of antagonism defaced [Thoreau's] earlier writings,—a trick of rhetoric...of substituting for the obvious word and thought its diametrical opposite.

Carl 10.495 27 [Carlyle] says, There is properly no religion in England. Their idle nobles at Tattersall's—there is no work or word of serious purpose in them;...

LS 11.2 2 The word unto the prophet spoken/ Was writ on tables yet unbroken;/

LS 11.2 2 ...The word by seers or sibyls told./ In groves of oak, or fanes of gold./ Still floats upon the willing wind./ Still whispers to the willing mind./

LS 11.22 27 ...the Almighty God was pleased to qualify and send forth a man to teach men...that sacrifice was smoke, and forms were shadows. This man lived and died true to this purpose; and now, with his blessed word and life before us, Christians must contend that it is a matter of vital importance,—really a duty, to commemorate him by a certain form [the Lord's Supper].

HDC 11.39 24 The light struggled in through windows of oiled paper, but [the settlers of Concord] read the word of God by it.

HDC 11.51 16 In 1644, Squaw Sachem, the widow of Nanepashemet...with two sachems of Wachusett...intimated their desire...to learn to read God's word and know God aright.;

HDC 11.53 8 ...[Tahtawtan] was asked, why he desired a town so near, when there was more room for them up in the country? The sachem replied that he knew if the Indians dwelt far from the English, they would not so much as look upon their food, nor could they be so ready to hear the word of God...

HDC 11.67 7 ...[Mr. Daniel] Bliss replied...I was filled with wonder, that such a sinful and worthless worm as I, was allowed to represent Christ...and used the word Mediator in some differing light from that you have given it.

Exp 3.85 11...I have not found that much was gained by manipulative attempts to realize the world of thought. Many eager persons successfully make an experiment in this way, and be shown to the inquiry, Why not realize your world?

Exp 3.85 11...A phenomenon which the world exists to realize will be the transformation of generation into spiritual power.

Chr1 3.90 25 Man, ordinarily...only half attached, and that awkwardly, to the world he lives in, in these examples [of men of character] appears to share the life of a city.

Chr1 3.93 20 I see in [the natural merchant]...the consciousness of being an agent and playfellow of the original laws of the world.

Chr1 3.96 12 [A man] encloses the world...as a material basis for his character.

Chr1 3.110 6 I find it more credible, since it is anterior information, that one man should know heaven, as the Chinese say, than that so many men should know the world.

Chr1 3.112 12 It was a tradition of the ancient world that no metamorphosis could hide a god from a god.

Chr1 3.113 18 Men write their names on the world as they are filled with [the force of character].

Chr1 3.117 2 The glory of those gods and saints which the world has written and then worshipped, are documents of character.

Chr1 3.115 24...when that love...which has vowed to itself that it will be a wretch and also a fool in this world sooner than soil its white hands by any compliances, comes into our streets and houses,—only the pure and aspiring can know its face.

Mrs1 3.119 1 Half the world, it is said, knows not how the other half live.

Mrs1 3.121 22 Comme il faut, is the Frenchman's description of good society: as we must be. It is a spontaneous fruit of talents and feelings of that class...who take the lead in the world at this hour...

Mrs1 3.123 7...that is a natural result of personal force and love, that they should possess and dispense the goods of the world.

Mrs1 3.124 17 The rulers of society must be up to the work of the world.

Mrs1 3.125 17 A plentiful fortune is reckoned necessary...to the completion of this man of the world;...

Mrs1 3.131 11 We content in turn every other gift of men of the world;...

Mrs1 3.132 22...any deference to some eminent man or woman of the world, forfeits all privilege of nobility.

Mrs1 3.133 12 There will always be in society certain persons...whose glance will at any time determine for the curious their standing in the world.

Mrs1 3.135 26...Napoleon...as all the world knows from Madame de Stael, was wont, when he found himself observed, to discharge his face of all expression.

Mrs1 3.138 27 Moral qualities rule the world.

Mrs1 3.141 23 England...furnished, in the beginning of the present century, a good model of that genius which the world loves, in Mr. Fox;

Mrs1 3.145 10 What if the false gentleman almost bows the true out of the world?

Mrs1 3.149 11...by the moral quality radiating from his countenance [a man] makes all...compositions of magnitude, and in his manners equal the majesty of all the world.

Gts 3.159 1 It is said that the world is in a state of bankruptcy;...

Gts 3.159 2 It is said...that the world owes the world more than the world can pay.

Gts 3.159 3 It is said...that the world owes the world more than the world can pay...

Gts 3.159 17...flowers...are a proud assertion that a ray of beauty outvalues all the utilities of the world.

Nat2 3.167 1 The rounded world is fair to see/...the world reaches its perfection;...

Nat2 3.169 2 At the gates of the forest, the surprised man of the world is...in the world, and the sufferer goes joyfully through life.

Nat2 3.174 1 Only as far as the masters of the world have called in nature to their aid, can they reach the height of magnificence.

Nat2 3.181 20 Plants are the young of the world.

Nat2 3.183 14 Man carries the world in his head.

Nat2 3.185 2 Nature sends no creature, no man into the world, without adding a small excess of his proper quality.

Nat2 3.187 10...the craft with which the world is made, runs also into the mind and character of men.

UGM 4.34 3 Once you saw phoenixes: they are gone; they are not therefore disenchanted.
UGM 4.34 18 The men in which you read sacred emblems turn out to be common pottery; but the sense of the pictures is sacred, and you may still read them transferred to the walls of the world.
PPh 4.47 25 Philosophy is the account which the human mind gives to itself of the constitution of the world.
PPh 4.49 24 You will still find (says the supreme Krishna to a sage) to apprehend that you are not distinct from me. That which I am, thou art, and that also is this world.
PPh 4.50 19 The whole world is but a manifestation of Vishnu [said Krishna].
PPh 4.56 14 ...the physical philosophers had sketched each his theory of the world;...theories mechanical and chemical in their genius. Plato...feels these...to be no theories of the world but bare inventories and lists.
PPh 4.57 2 Exempt from envy, [the Supreme Ordainer] wished that all things should be as much as possible like himself. Whosoever, taught by wise men, shall admit this as the prime cause of the origin and foundation of the world, will be in the truth.
PPh 4.61 14 [Plato] has reason, as all the philosophic and poetic class have: but he has also what they have not,—this strong solving sense to reconcile his poetry with the appearances of the world...
PPh 4.68 18 After [Plato] has illustrated the relation between the absolute good and true and the forms of the intelligible world, he says: Let there be a line cut in two unequal parts.
PPh 4.68 22 ...Let there be a line cut in two unequal parts. Cut again each of these two main parts,—one representing the visible, the other the intelligible world...
PPh 4.68 25 You will have, for one of the sections of the visible world, images, that is, both shadows and reflections;...PPh 4.69 2 You will still have, for one of the sections of the visible world, images,...for the other section, the objects of these images, that is, plants, animals, and the works of art and nature. Then divide the intelligible world in like manner; the one section will be of opinions and hypotheses, and the other section of truths.
PPh 4.70 6 ...the Banquet [of Plato] is a teaching in the same spirit [of ascension], familiar now to all poetry and to all the sermons of the world, that the love of the sexes is initial, and symbolizes at a distance the passion for the soul, and the soul for the beauty of the soul, which exists to seek the beauty.
PPh 4.75 4 The name of this prison [of Socrates], the name of the discourses there and the drinking of the hemlock are one of the most precious passages in the history of the world.
PPh 4.76 25 Here is the world, sound as a nut...PPh 4.77 2 Here is the world...perfect...not a mark of haste, or botching, or second thought; but [Plato’s] theory of the world is a thing of shreds and patches.
PPh 4.77 5 Plato would willingly have a Platonism, a known and accurate expression for the world;...PPh 4.77 6 [Plato’s Platonism] shall be the world passed through the mind of Plato. PPh 4.77 19 [Plato] has clapped copyright on the world.
PPh 4.77 24 ...the bitter world holds the bitterer by his own teeth. PNR 4.85 1 [Plato] saw...that the world was throughout mathematical;...PPh 4.86 2 [Plato’s] definition of ideas...marks an era in the world.
PPh 4.87 8 The gods are [to Plato] the ideas. ... Venus is proportion; Calliope, the soul of the world;...SwM 4.93 11 A higher class...are the poets, who—feed the thought and imagination with ideas and pictures which raise men out of the world of common pottery; but the sense of the pictures is sacred, and you may still read them transferred to the walls of the world.
SwM 4.117 19 ...Correspondence] required such rightness of position that the poles of the eye should coincide with the axis of the world. SwM 4.118 22 ...Swedenborg was not content with the culinary use of the world.
SwM 4.119 3 ...[Swedenborg’s] ecstasy connected itself with just this office of explaining the moral import of the sensible world.
SwM 4.122 19 [Swedenborg] attempts to give some account of the modus of existence of the state, affirming that his presence in the spiritual world is attended with a certain separation, but only as to the intellectual part of his mind, not as to the will part;...
SwM 4.129 27 ...[Swedenborg] affirms that he sees, with the internal sight, the things that are in another life, more clearly than he sees the things which are here in the world.
SwM 4.129 24 This design of exhibiting such correspondences [between heaven and earth], which, if adequately executed, would be the poem of the world,...was narrowed and maimed by the exclusively theologic direction which [Swedenborg’s] inquiries took.
SwM 4.122 26 Instead of a religion which visited [Swedenborg] diplomatically three or four times...here was a teaching which accompanied him into natural objects...and opened the future world by indicating the continuity of the same laws.
SwM 4.124 17 The world has a sure chemistry...
SwM 4.126 5 [To Swedenborg] The marriages of the world are broken up.
SwM 4.129 14 [To Swedenborg] The marriages of the world are broken up. Interiors associate all in the spiritual world.
SwM 4.125 14 [To Swedenborg] We have come into a world which is a living poem.
SwM 4.127 19 ...in the real or spiritual world the nuptial union is not momentary [to Swedenborg], but incessant and total;...
SwM 4.129 11 In fact, in the spiritual world we change sexes every moment.
SwM 4.133 1 Swedenborg’s system of the world wants central speculation;...
SwM 4.139 15 For the anomalious pretension of Revelations of the other world,—only [Swedenborg’s] probity and genius can entitle it to any serious regard.
SwM 4.139 21 If a man say that the Holy Ghost has informed him...that the Dutch, in the other world, live in a heaven by themselves...I reply that the Spirit which is holy is reserved, taciturn, and deals in laws.
SwM 4.141 18 [Swedenborg’s] spiritual world bears the same relation to the humanities and joys of life of which human souls have already made us cognizant, as a man’s bad dreams bear to his ideal life.
SwM 4.142 16 [Swedenborg] goes up and down the world of men, a modern Rhasamanthus in gold-headed cane and peruke...SwM 4.142 20 The warm, many-weathered, passionate-peopled world is to [Swedenborg] a grammar of hieroglyphs...
MoS 4.151 19 On the other part, the men of toil and trade and luxury,—the animal world...and the practical world...weigh heavily on the other side. MoS 4.151 21 On the other part, the men of toil and trade and luxury,—the animal world...and the practical world...weigh heavily on the other side. MoS 4.152 4 To the men of this world...the man of ideas appears out of his reach.
MoS 4.152 25 Spence relates that Mr. Pope was with Sir Godfrey Kneller one day, when his nephew, a Guinea trader, came in. Nephew, said Sir Godfrey, you have the honor of seeing the two greatest men in the world.
MoS 4.154 16 There is so much trouble in coming into the world, said Lord Botetroke, and so much truth of which human souls have already made us cognizant, as a man’s bad dreams bear to be here at all.
MoS 4.154 24 I knew a philosopher of this kidney who was accustomed briefly to sum up his experience of human nature in saying; Mankind is a damned rascal: and the natural corollary is pretty sure to follow, The world lives by humbug, and so will I.
MoS 4.155 12 You that will have all solid, and a world of pig-lead, deceive yourselves grossly.
MoS 4.157 18 Is not marriage an open question, when it is alleged, from the beginning of the world, that such as are in the institution wish to get out, and such as are out wish to get in?
MoS 4.159 15 A world in the hand is worth two in the bush.
MoS 4.162 2 ...some stark and sufficient man, who is—sufficiently related to the world to do justice to Paris or London...is the fit person to occupy this ground of speculation.
MoS 4.168 23 Montaigne...knows the world and books and himself...MoS 4.169 25 This book of Montaigne the world has endorsed by translating it into all tongues and printing seventy-five editions of it in Europe; and that, too, a circulation somewhat chosen, namely among courtiers, soldiers, princes, men of the world and men of wit and generosity.
MoS 4.173 3 It stands in [the wise skeptic’s] mind that our life in this world is such an easy interpretation as churches and school-books say.
MoS 4.177 5 The word Fate...expresses the sense of mankind...that the laws of the world do not always befriend us.
MoS 4.178 17 The Eastern sages owned the goddess Yogandira, the great illusory energy of Vishnu, by whom, as utter ignorance, the whole world is beguiled.

ShP 4.210 20 Had [Shakespeare] been less, we should have had to consider now, how good a dramatist he is the best in the world.
ShP 4.214 8 Here [in Shakespeare] is perfect representation, at last; and now let the world of figures sit for their portraits.
ShP 4.215 25 ...[the poet] delights in the world, in man, in woman, for the lovely truth that sparkles from them.
ShP 4.216 26 Shakespear, Homer, Dante, Chaucer, saw the splendor of meaning that plays over the visible world. ...
ShP 4.218 2 As long as the question is of talent and mental power, the world of men has not [Shakespeare's] equal to show.
ShP 4.219 13 The world still wants its poet-priest.

NMW 4.233 10 Napoleon had been the first man of the world, if his ends had been purely public.
NMW 4.246 16 The shore of Potemkina, gigantic projects agitated [Napoleon] Had Acre fallen, I should have changed the face of the world.
NMW 4.247 25 ...it is at all times the belief of society that the world is used up.

NMW 4.248 5 The world treated [Napoleon's] novelties just as it treats everybody's novelties.
NMW 4.250 3 One day [Napoleon] asked whether the planets were inhabited? On another, what was the age of the world?
NMW 4.252 15 I call Napoleon the agent or attorney...of the throne who fills the markets, shops, counting-houses, manufactories, ships, of the modern world.
NMW 4.253 21 The highest-placed individual in the most cultivated age and population of the world,—[Napoleon] has not the merit of common truth and honesty.

ET1 5.15 8 Carlyle was...as absolute a man of the world, unknown and exiled on that hill-farm, as if holding on his own terms what is best in London.
ET1 5.17 2 Gibbon [Carlyle] called the splendid bridge from the old world to the new.

ET1 5.18 20 London is the heart of the world, [Carlyle] said...
ET3 5.35 7 ...the traveller [in England] rides as on a cannon-ball...and reads quietly the Times newspaper, which, by its immense correspondence and reporting seems to have machinized the rest of the world for his occasion.
ET3 5.41 6 ...England is anchored...right in the heart of the modern world.

ET3 5.41 8 The sea, which, according to Virgil’s famous line, divided the poor Britons utterly from the world, proved to be the ring of marriage with all nations.
ET3 5.43 24 For the English nation, the best of them are in the centre of all Christians, because they have interior intellectual light. This appears conspicuously in the spiritual world.
ET4 5.45 27 The spawning force of the [English] race has sufficed to the colonization of great parts of the earth.

PLT 12.63 11 We need all our resources to live in the world which is to be used and decorated by us.

II 12.72 24 Five hundred are held here with all our world of facts and experience...all ready to be uttered, if only we could be set aglow.

II 12.72 13 One master could so easily be conceived as writing all the books of the world.

II 12.72 24 The reformer comes with many plans of melioration, and the basis on which he wishes to build his new world, a great deal of money.

II 12.77 26...one day, though far off, you will attain the control of these [higher] states...you will do what now the muses only sing. That is the nobility and high prize of the world.

II 12.80 16 We must not trust the unknown powers of thought. The whole world is nothing but an exhibition of the powers of this principle, which distributes men.

II 12.80 20 Whence came all these tools, inventions, books, laws, parties, kingdoms? Out of the invisible world, through a few brains.

II 12.83 23 Whether Whiggery, or Chartism, or Church, or a dream of Wealth, fashioned all these resolute bankers, merchants, lawyers, landlords, who administer the world of to-day...an idea fashioned them.

II 12.82 9 The world is intellectual...

II 12.82 17 [A man] is strong by his genius, gets all his knowledge only through that aperture. Society is unanimous against his project. He never hears it as he knows it. Nevertheless he is right; right against the world.

II 12.83 8 The dream which lately floated before the eyes of the French nation, that every one should have three francs a day for doing that—is the real law of the world.

II 12.84 14 Men go through the world each musing on a great fable dramatically pictured and rehearsed before him.

Memb 12.93 4 [Memory] is a scripture written day by day from the birth of the child. It is full of meanings which open as he lives on, explaining each other, explaining the world to him...

Memb 12.96 21...another man’s memory is the history of science and art and civility and thought; and still another deals with laws and perceptions that are the theory of the world.

Memb 12.99 11...there is a wild memory in children and youth which makes what is early learned impossible to forget; and perhaps in the beginning of the world it had most vigor.

Memb 12.100 3 A principle of the reason will thrill and magnetize and redissipate the whole world...

Memb 12.107 19 Thoreau said, Of what significance are the things you can forget. A little thought is sexton to all the world.

Cint 12.121 5 The order of the world educates with care the senses and the understanding.

Cint 12.121 20 And yet the world is not saved.

Cint 12.122 26 We feel as if one man wrote all the books...in dark ages, and we are sure we can do more than ever was done. It was the same mind that built the world.

Cint 12.123 3 [The Understanding] is the power which the world of men adopt and educate.

Cint 12.126 25...here [in the college], if nowhere else in the world, genius should find its home.

Cint 12.128 10 Now if be genius in the scholar, a delicate sensibility to the laws of the world...he is made to find his own way.

Cint 12.131 13...your conditions, the invisible world, are the interrogators.

CL 12.139 11 We have the finest climate in the world, for this purpose [Inhabitants of New Hampshire].

CL 12.143 7 The light which resides in [Wordsworth’s eyes]...under favorable accidents...is more truly entitled to be held the light that never was on land or sea, a light radiating from some far spiritual world, than any that can be named.

CL 12.151 19 Man...pumps the sap of all this forest through his arteries;...and the immensity of life seems to make the world deep and wide.

CL 12.151 24 The world has nothing to offer more rich or entertaining than the days which October always brings us.

CL 12.153 1 The history of the world...what is it but the doings about the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, and the Atlantic?

CL 12.154 18...the variety of our moods has an answering variety in the face of the world.

CL 12.155 20...after having climbed the Alps, whilst [I Linnaeus], a youth of twenty-five years...lay down as if to die in those ends of the world, these two old [Lap] men, one fifty, one seventy...felt none of the inconveniences of the road.

CL 12.156 7...we are glad to see the world, and what amplitudes it has. .

CL 12.156 10...we are glad to see the world, and what amplitudes it has, of meadow, stream, upland, forest and sea, which yet are lanes and crevices to the great space in which the world shines like a cockpit in the sea.

CL 12.165 25 [The principle of levity] is related to the purest of the world ...

CL 12.165 16...it is only our ineradicable belief that the world answers to man, and part to part, that gives any interest in the subject.

CL 12.166 11...of the two facts, the world and man, is man by much the larger half.

CW 12.177 23...the naturalist has no barren places, no winter, and no night, pursuing his researches...in the night even, because the woods exhibit a whole new world of nocturnal animals...

ET11 5.178 20 Wrrxall says that in 1781, Lord Surrey, afterwards Duke of Norfolk, told him that when the year 1783 should arrive, he meant to give a great dinner in honor of the new dukedom which he had purchased.

ET11 5.178 6 [The English] proverb is, that fifty miles from London, a family will last a hundred years; at a hundred miles, two hundred years; and so on...

ET11 5.178 7 The English Channel was swept and London threatened by the Dutch fleet, manned too by English sailors, who, having been cheated of their pay for years by the king, enlisted with the enemy.

ET11 5.179 7 The fiction with which the noble and the bystander equally pleased themselves [in England] is that the former is of unbroken descent from the Norman, and so has never worked for eight hundred years.

ET12 5.203 26 The oldest building here [at Oxford] is two hundred years younger than the frial manuscript brought by Dr. Clarke from Egypt.

ET12 5.204 24 Seven years' residence [at Oxford] is the theoretic period for a master's degree. In point of fact, it has long been three years' residence, and four years more of standing.

ET12 5.204 25 Seven years' residence [at Oxford] is the theoretic period for a master's degree. In point of fact, it has long been three years' residence, and four years more of standing. This three years is about twenty-one months in all.

ET12 5.206 7 ...the expenses of private tuition [at Oxford] are reckoned at from 50 pounds to 70 pounds a year, or 1000 dollars for the whole course of three years and a half.

ET12 5.212 6 ...the rich libraries collected at every one of many thousands of houses [in England], give an advantage not to be attained by a youth in this country, when one thinks how much more and better may be learned by a scholar who, immediately on hearing of a book, can consult it, than by one who is on the quest, for years, and reads inferior books because he cannot find the best.

ET13 5.215 9 In seeing old castles and cathedrals, I sometimes say, as to-day in front of Dunvegan Church tower, which is eight hundred years old, this was built by another and a better race than any that now look on it.

ET14 5.232 3 A strong common sense...marks the English mind for a thousand years...

ET16 5.161 7 In Egypt, [steam] can plant forests, and bring rain after three thousand years.

ET16 5.162 25 The creation of wealth in England in the last ninety years is a main fact in modern hist.

F 6.3 10 ...the fine organs of [the digger’s] brain have been pinched by overwork and squallid poverty from father to son for a hundred years.

F 6.13 14 In England there is always some man of wealth and large connection, planting himself, during all his years of health, on the side of progress.

F 6.14 14 ...after five hundred years you get a better observer or a better glass, he finds, within the last [egg] observed, another [vesicle].

Pow 6.57 17 If Eric...is at the top of his condition, and thirty years old, at his departure from Greenland he will steer west, and his ships will reach Newfoundland.

Pow 6.67 11 knew a burly Boniface who for many years kept a public-house in one of our rural capitals.

Pow 6.28 7Stamping it through England for seven years made Cobden a consummate debater.

Wth 6.86 14 Stearn is no stronger now than it was a hundred years ago; but is put to better use.

Wth 6.90 11 the Saxons are the merchants of the world; now, for a thousand years, the leading race...

Wth 6.99 13 ...in America, where democratic institutions divide every estate into small portions after a few years, the public should step into the place of these [European] proprietors, and provide this culture and inspiration for the citizens.

Wth 6.99 23 An infinite number of shrewd men, in infinite years, have arrived at certain best and shortest ways of doing.

Wth 6.102 17 In California, the country where [the dollar] grew,...what would it buy? A few years since, it would buy a shanty, dysentery, hunger, bad companions and all.

Wth 6.102 22 Forty years ago, a dollar would not buy much in Boston.

Wth 6.112 16 Profligacy consists not in spending years of time or chests of money,—but in spending them off the line of your career.

Wth 6.114 22 We had in this region, twenty years ago, among our educated men, a sort of Arcadian fanaticism...

Ctr 6.136 12 Bring any club or company of intelligent men together again after ten years, and if the presence of some penetrating and calming genius could dispose them to frankness, what a confession of insanities would come out.

Ctr 6.140 15 There are people who...remain literalists, after hearing the music and poetry and rhetoric and wit of seventy or eighty years.

Ctr 6.141 7 Our arts and tools give to him who can handle them much the same advantage over the novice as if you extended his life, ten, fifty, or a hundred years.

Ctr 6.141 9 ...I think it the part of good sense to provide every fine soul with such culture that it shall not, at thirty or forty years, have to say, This is the end of eloquence is...to alter...perhaps in a half hour’s discourse, the convictions and habits of years.

DL 7.111 4 [The citizen] brings home whatever commodities and ornaments have for years allured his pursuit...

DL 7.124 12 In men, it is their...removal to the East or to the West, or some other magnified trifle which it takes the meridian movement, and all the after years and actions only derive interest from their relation to that.

DL 7.124 20 I have seen finely endowed men at college festivals, ten, twenty years after they had left the halls, returning, as it seemed, the same boys that went away.

DL 7.127 17 We read in [our companion’s] brow, on meeting him after many years, that he is where we left him...

DL 7.131 8 ...in the Sistene Chapel I see the grand sibyls and prophets, painted by Michel Angelo,—which have every day now for three hundred years inflamed the imagination...of what vast multitudes of men of all nations!

Farm 7.147 6 Plant fruit-trees by the roadside, and their fruit will never be allowed to ripen. Draw a pine fence about them, and for fifty years they remain for the owner their delicate fruit.

Farm 7.149 27 The selectmen [of Concord] have once in every five years perambulated the boundaries....

WD 7.158 23 ...one might say that the inventions of the last fifty years counterpose those of the fifty centuries before them.

WD 7.160 21 Egypt, where no rain fell for three thousand years, now, it is said, thanks Mehemet Ali’s irrigations and planted forests for late-returning showers.

WD 7.169 6 In college terms, and in years that followed, the young graduate, when the Commencement anniversary returned, though he were in a swamp, would see a festive light...

WD 7.169 14 The old Sabbath...white with the religions of unknown thousands of years, when this hallowed hour dawns out of the deep...the cathedral music of history breathes through it a psalm to our solitude.

WD 7.173 22 ...as soon as the irrecoverable years have woven their blue glory between to-day and us these passing hours shall glitter and draw us as the wildest romance and the homes of beauty and poetry?

WD 7.183 23 There are people who...after years of activity, say, We knew all this before;...

Boks 7.190 15 A company of the wisest and wittiest men that could be arrived at certain best and shortest ways of doing...

Boks 7.193 14 ...the stuff of tragedy and of romances is in a moral union of two superior persons whose confidence in each other for long years...is at last justified by victorious proof of probity...

instances and examples which you have been seeking in vain for years;
Clbs 7.248 26 ...it was when things went prosperously, and the company
...was full of honor, at the banquet of the Cid, that the guests all...agreed in
...one thing,—that they had not eaten better for three years.
Clbs 7.256 3 What an ado we make through two thousand years about Thermopylae and Salamis!
Suc 7.292 14 The gravest and learnedest courts in this country...will wait months and years for a case to occur that can be tortured into a precedent...
Suc 7.292 29...few years will show the advantage of the real master over the short popularity of the showman.
OA 7.317 21 Don’t be deceived by dimples and curls. I tell you that babe is a thousand years old.
OA 7.317 27 Saadi found in a mosque at Damascus an old Persian of a hundred and fifty years.
OA 7.320 12 We do not count a man’s years, until he has nothing else to count.
OA 7.322 7 ...if the life be true and noble, we have quite another sort of senators than the...dators who are falsely old,—namely, the men...who ...appearing in any street, the people empty their houses to gaze at and obey
...them;...as blind old Dandolo, elected doge at eighty-four years.
OA 7.324 22 We still feel the force...of Newton, who made an important

OA 7.326 1 The best time to meet the poet Wordsworth, then sixty-three years old, he told me that he had just had a fall and lost a tooth, and ...when his companions were much concerned for the mischance, he had replied that he was glad it had not happened forty years before.
OA 7.325 23 ...Nature takes care that we shall not lose our organs forty years too soon.
OA 7.325 26 Thirty years ago it was a serious concern to [the lawyer] whether his pleading was good and effective.
OA 7.327 19 ...at the end of fifty years, [a man’s] soul is appeased by seeing some sort of correspondence between his wish and his possession.
OA 7.329 1 Our instincts drove us to live innumerable experiences...which we may keep for twice seven years before they shall be wanted.
OA 7.329 18 An old scholar finds keen delight in verifying the impressive anecdotes and citations he has met with in miscellaneous reading and resident Professor of Rhetoric and Oratory in Harvard College.

Elo2 8.127 9 Dr. Charles Chauncy was, a hundred years ago, a man of marked ability among the clergy of New England.
Res 8.141 16 Life is always rapid here [in America], but what acceleration to its pulse in ten years...—what in the four years of the war!
Res 8.142 5 It was thought a fable, what Guthrie...told us, that in Taurida, in any piece of ground where springs of naphtha (or petroleum) obtain, by merely sticking an iron tube in the earth and applying a light to the upper end, the mineral oil will burn...for a vast number of years.

QO 8.179 14 ...the invention of yesterday of making wood indestructible by means of vapor of coal-oil or paraffine was suggested by the Egyptian method which has preserved its mummy-cases four thousand years.
QO 8.179 24 In a hundred years...not a hundred lines of poetry...
QO 8.185 4 A pleasantry which ran through all the newspapers a few years since...was only a theft of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu’s mot of a hundred years ago...
QO 8.185 8 A pleasantry which ran through all the newspapers a few years since...was only a theft of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu’s mot of a hundred years ago...
QO 8.187 16 ...now it appears that [English and American nursery-tales]
