Clinical Approach

As an intern counselor serving the CU-Boulder population I use a collaborative approach in which we work together to define and work towards personal goals for health and wellness. I work from a culturally sensitive lens, and aim to understand your various identities and communities within your lived context. I am trained in body psychotherapy which seeks to find paths of wellness through the whole person—thoughts, feelings, and body. My therapeutic techniques will draw from humanistic therapy, somatic counseling, mindfulness techniques as well as cognitive approaches.

As an intern counselor, I will be receiving supplementary supervision from the licensed therapists at FSAP as well as from my clinical internship supervisor at Naropa University. In order to receive ample and useful feedback, I might ask for your permission and consent to video and/or audio record sessions to be reviewed with my clinical supervisors. I am available to meet with you for six sessions per year free of charge (in addition to the initial intake session) and will provide you with external referrals if additional therapy is desired or recommended. Additionally, as FSAP’s counselor intern, I have the unique opportunity to offer additional sessions to some clients in some cases if it is deemed beneficial to both the client and counselor. These long-term session opportunities must be approved by FSAP’s intern supervisor. If at any point you would like additional information, or have questions about any aspect of your therapy with me, please feel free to ask.

REGULATORY AGENCY

The practice of licensed or registered persons in the field of psychotherapy is regulated by the Mental Health Licensing Section of the Division of Professions and Occupations. The Boards of Unlicensed Psychotherapists, Licensed Professional Counselor Examiners, Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist Examiners, Social Work Examiners, and Psychologist Examiners can be reached at:

State of Colorado Department of Regulatory Agencies
Division of Professions and Occupations Mental Health Licensing Section
1560 Broadway, Suite #1350, Denver CO 80202
Phone (303) 894-7800 • Fax (303) 894-7693 • http://www.dora.state.co.us/registrations

As to the regulatory requirements applicable to mental health professionals:

- An Unlicensed Psychotherapist is a psychotherapist listed in the State’s database and is authorized by law to practice psychotherapy in Colorado, but is not licensed by the state and is not required to satisfy any standardized educational or testing requirement to obtain a registration from the state.
- A Certified Addiction Counselor I (CAC I) must be a high school graduate, complete required training hours, and 1000 hours of supervised experience. A Certified Addiction Counseling II (CAC II) must complete additional required training hours and 2,000 hours of supervised experience. A CAC III must have a bachelor’s degree in behavioral health, complete additional required training hours, and 2,000 hours of supervised experience. A Licensed Addiction Counselor must have a clinical masters degree and meet the CAC III requirements.
- A Licensed Social Worker must hold a masters degree in social work.
- A Psychologist Candidate, a Marriage and Family Therapist Candidate, and a Licensed Professional Counselor Candidate must hold the necessary licensing degree and be in the process of completing the required supervision for licensure.
A Licensed Clinical Social Worker, a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist, and a Licensed Professional Counselor must hold a masters degree in their profession and have two years of post-masters supervision.

A Licensed Psychologist must hold a doctorate degree in psychology and have one year of post-doctoral supervision.

CLIENT RIGHTS AND IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- You are entitled to receive information from me about my methods of therapy, the techniques I use, the duration of your therapy with me (if known), and my fee structure. Please ask if you would like to receive this information.
- You can seek a second opinion from another therapist or terminate therapy at any time.
- In a professional relationship such as ours, sexual intimacy between a therapist and a client is never appropriate. If sexual intimacy occurs, it should be reported to the board that licenses, registers, or certifies the licensee, registrant, or certificate holder.
- Generally speaking, the information provided by and to a client during therapy sessions is legally confidential and cannot be released without the client’s consent. There are exceptions to this confidentiality, some of which are listed in Section 12-43-218 of the Colorado Revised Statutes (CRS) and the HIPAA Notice of Privacy Rights you were provided as well as other exceptions in Colorado and Federal law. For example, mental health professionals are required to report suspected child abuse to authorities. Mental health professionals are also required to report situations where there is imminent danger to you, someone else by you, or a grave disability you might experience. If a legal exception arises during therapy, if feasible, you will be informed accordingly. The Mental Health Practice Act (CRS 12-43-101, et seq.) is available at: http://www.dora.state.co.us/mental-health/Statute.pdf.
- In situations where imminent threat or harm to self or others is a concern of your counselor, your personal information and details of the situation/concern will be provided to the CU-Boulder faculty/staff-specific Threat Assessment Team.
- Your records will be kept for up to 7-years, following which they will be destroyed.

By signing below you are agreeing that you have read the preceding information, it will also be provided verbally, and that you understand your rights as a client or as the client’s responsible party.
