Identification

Description

Valves are clavate, with a broadly rounded basal end and narrow apical end. The valve axis is very narrow, straight, and broadening at the center by being invaginated bootstrap area. Four isolated, irregularly arranged, flat, rhombic, and elongated chloroplasts. Show appear rounded without noticeable points, apical pores likely.

Autecology

Size Range, yold
Maturity
Photosynthetic
Habit
BCS
Distribution

Original Description

Author
Tad Xoo

Original Images

Citations

Guide to Gomphoneis pseudo-okunoi

Links

- Values are clavate
- Isolated subapices, four in the central area
- 8 lateral without noticeable subapices

Values are clavate. The axial area is narrow, straight, and has a ribbion shape. The central area is soronged with four isolated abapices. Aosites are typically not received in UIU.