

March Newsletter

EBIO
GREENHOUSE

March 2026

Coelogyne laurenceana

by Rich Ellis

Theobroma cacao

by Rich Ellis

Spring Cleaning!

March in the Greenhouse

March was a busy month for us at the greenhouse. Although we took a break from classes and volunteers over spring break, staff was hard at work doing some spring cleaning.

We had multiple successful tours with a lot of excitement surrounding our upcoming propagation day on April 11th in partnership with the Boulder Apple Tree Project.

As we head into April, we will say goodbye to Spartak, our longtime greenhouse assistant at the end of the month. We put out the call for applicants and are in the process of hiring a new student.

This month was also full of a lot of backend meetings. We are working with the CU Libraries, EBIO researchers and Center for Research Data & Digital Scholarship on some exciting upcoming projects.

Finally, Graduate student Seth Raynor helped us finish the in-person portion of the greenhouse inventory and we will be launching that very soon!

Clickable: Link to donate

Scan to Donate:

Follow our Instagram:
@CUBoulderEBIOGreenhouse