May in the Greenhouse

May was an especially busy month for us. It began with EBIO graduation. The greenhouse contributed small succulents as gifts for the graduates. This was positively received, and it was wonderful to see some familiar greenhouse faces cross the stage.

Last week, our good friends from the grounds crew pointed out baby Great Horned Owls right off the bike path near the greenhouse.

As usual, we hosted some public tours with new guests to the space in addition to a Northern New Mexican high school class visit.

Behind the scenes we are coordinating with more groups on campus to increase engagement.

Additionally, we would like to welcome Andrew, our new Greenhouse Assistant. Andrew will be taking over for Spartak. We are very happy to welcome him to the greenhouse team!

Water lotus seed starts

In June, we hope to assemble our newest greenhouse addition; an aquatic scape with aquatic and semi aquatic plants. This is an exciting addition to the teaching collection.
