

Copyright and Fair Use

I was planning to write a lengthy post about how we often use and share copyrighted materials but then found this series from the horn professor at Arizona State University:

<http://hornmatters.com/2015/05/copyright-week-part-i-never-take-xerox-music-into-a-lesson/>

<http://hornmatters.com/2015/05/copyright-week-part-ii-are-you-a-pirate-or-a-thief/>

<http://hornmatters.com/2015/05/copyright-week-part-iii-the-inconvenient-truth/>

<http://hornmatters.com/2015/05/copyright-week-part-iv-so-where-can-you-legally-obtain-horn-excerpts-from-shostakovich-5/>

<http://hornmatters.com/2015/05/copyright-week-part-v-on-dissertations-exercises-and-other-closing-thoughts/>

And to get more official about Fair Use:

<http://copyright.gov/fair-use/more-info.html>

Please read all this as you consider photo-copying, sharing, scanning copyrighted materials, etc.