III. DISSERTATION PROJECTS

The TMUS Dissertation Projects usually are undertaken after successful completion of the first semester of study at CU. Students must have passed all required Preliminary Examinations or have begun enrolling in remedial coursework before they are permitted to present their first recital. If a recital or project is not completed during the same semester as registration, an IP (“In Progress”) grade is recorded. The IP grade is later replaced with the letter grade assigned by the faculty advisory committee, and the student does not need to register again for the same TMUS project.

Although the Dissertation Projects are numbered sequentially below, students are strongly encouraged to begin work on one of the non-recital projects (TMUS 8259 or 8329) during their second year in residence. For each non-recital project, the student should select one member of the faculty advisory committee to serve as the main advisor (not necessarily the committee chair), who guides the student in preparing a written prospectus, which is then submitted to the faculty advisory committee for their suggestions and approval. Before the student proceeds with the project, two members of the committee must agree to serve as first and second readers, who will guide the project to the final draft, which is then presented to the committee as a whole. Research Lecture papers should be in their final form before the public presentation of each lecture.

Dissertation Project 1 (TMUS 8219) Solo Recital	3
Dissertation Project 2 (TMUS 8229) Solo Recital	3

Dissertation Project 5 (TMUS 8259) Research Lecture Original research resulting in a paper and a public lecture. The paper generated for TMUS 8259 will normally be a minimum of 30 pages in length.	3

**Repertoire Project:

Bowed Instruments - *Repertoire Examination. As one part of the Final Examination, the Repertoire Project is presented after all other degree work has been completed. The purpose of this examination is to show that the student can prepare at short notice a high-level public performance. Below are the steps to follow regarding this Examination:

1. Each student, with the advice of the studio teacher, will prepare a list of 4-5 hours of repertoire, providing an overview of the major literature (including works from each stylistic period, choosing from the solo & sonata literature, and choosing from repertoire that is new to the student as well as repertoire that has been previously performed).
2. The studio teacher will send the list to the student's advisory committee for approval. The committee may choose to approve this list as presented, or may make changes to this list. The student will then be advised of the approved list, in order to begin preparation.
3. The student will secure a pianist through the Collaborative Department and will secure a date and place for the Repertoire Project.
4. Prior to the 2 weeks before the Project date, the studio teacher will, upon the advice of the pianist and the Collaborative Department, select from the repertory list a program with a total playing time of 50-55 minutes. This proposed program will be sent to the student's advisory committee for final approval.

5. The student will be given notice of 2 weeks to review the selected repertoire before playing it for his/her committee. It is suggested that the student review this repertoire with little, or no, outside help. The Collaborative Department will determine the number of rehearsals with the pianist. As stated above, it is expected that the performance will be well enough prepared for a high-level public performance.

Guitar -- For TMUS 8319, guitar students may choose between:

1. An additional chamber music recital OR
2. The Repertoire Examination: Each student, with the approval of his/her committee, will prepare approximately 4 hours of repertoire. This repertoire may include all works presented in the two solo recitals, supplemented by other works of the student's choice. The supplementary repertoire should be chosen so as to help balance the DMA recital repertoire with styles not otherwise represented, but the overall list need not be historically comprehensive. As one part of the Final Examination, after all other degree work has been completed, the student's committee will select, from this repertoire, a program with a total playing time of 60 minutes (likely divided in three equal parts between the two DMA recitals and the supplementary repertoire). The student will be given notice of two weeks to review the selected repertoire before playing it for his/her committee. It is expected that the performance will be well enough prepared for a high-level public performance and will be played from memory except for complex modern works. The purpose of this examination is to show that the student can maintain and prepare at short notice enough repertoire for three recital programs.
