PSCI 3155-001

Survey Design and Analysis

by Carey Stapleton

T&TH 11:00-12:15 @KTCH1B71

In this course you will learn.....

- how to develop quality survey questionnaires
- how to implement a survey in the field
- how to effectively analyze and discuss survey results

For this course you will participate in the process of fielding an actual survey — the Colorado Political Climate survey. The skills you will learn are highly sought after for professional and political careers allowing you to build your resume while learning the finer points of effective survey design and analysis.

This course will meet the second methods requirement for a PSCI Major.
