Course Objective

This course is an upper-level undergraduate course for students interested in the political economy of migration, including public attitudes toward immigration, special-interest politics of immigration policy making, and the dynamics between political institutions and international migration. We explore the politics of international migration across different receiving and sending states over the past two centuries with an emphasis on the current debates over immigration in the U.S. and Western Europe. Course assignments and lectures provide both a theoretical foundation and the substantive information necessary to understand and analyze critical policy issues in both immigrant-receiving and emigrant-sending countries. While this course has no formal prerequisites, students will benefit significantly from having taken PSCI 2223 or IAFS 1000 and a course in international macroeconomics. Students who have taken PSCI 4193: INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY are especially well-prepared to take this course. Students without this background may need to do some additional reading beyond the books assigned for this course.

We begin by asking why people choose to leave their home countries to better understand the historical context of immigration policy and politics. In the second part of the course, we examine some of the major theories in the literature for the formation of public attitudes toward immigration and the theories that seek to explain immigration policy formation. The third section of the course examines the effects of emigration and the political economy of emigration-related policies. Finally, we examine the human rights issues of migration, including government policy toward refugees, asylum seekers, and undocumented immigrants.

Attendance Policy

There is no penalty for missing class sessions. However, daily quizzes are heavily based on class materials, so I encourage everyone to attend class sessions in person.

Evaluation

Broadly speaking, your grade is made up of the following four components: (1) daily quizzes; (2) two take-home exams; (3) a final paper; and (4) side quests. The grade breakdown of these components, along with their respective dates, is shown below.

I. Take-home exams are non-cumulative. You are allowed to use any notes or books to write your exam answers.

- (a) Daily Quizzes (20,000 points) – You will take the quizzes on Canvas between 9:00 and 9:15 am.
- (b) Take-Home Exam 1 (25,000 points) – Due at 7:45 am on Tuesday, 10/25 via Canvas
- (c) Take-Home Exam 2 (25,000 points) – Due at 7:45 am on Thursday, 12/1 via Canvas
- (d) Final Evaluation (30,000 points) – 7:30–10:00 pm on Saturday, 12/10 via Canvas

II. Final Evaluation (30,000 points) – 7:30–10:00 pm on Saturday, 12/10 via Canvas

- [OPTION 1] Multiple-Choice Canvas Exam (7:30 pm–10:00 pm on Saturday, 12/10)
- [OPTIONS 2–4] Final Paper (Due at 10:00 pm on Saturday, 12/10)
 - [OPTION 2] Using The Center for Responsive Politics's <http://www.opensecrets.org> and other resources of your choice, you will write a paper about an interest group that lobbies lawmakers on immigration issues. You should explain clearly the nature of the interest group, the immigration issue(s) in which the group is interested and why, the intensity of the group's lobbying activity and the group's potential political influence, and whether the group's efforts have transformed one or more aspects of U.S. immigration policy.
 - [OPTION 3] You will study integration policy to study on the Migrant Integration Policy Index (<http://www.mipex.eu>). Students will describe the variation in countries, discuss possible arguments that explain the variation, and evaluate some of these arguments.
 - [OPTION 4] Write a paper or create a project on a topic of your choice. To select this option, you must get my approval by Thursday, 11/17.
 - You are encouraged to consult me during my office hours or make an appointment to discuss the topic of your choice.
 - Late papers will lose 3,000 points per calendar day. Late papers turned in after 10:00 pm on 12/12 will not be accepted.
 - Formatting Requirements:
 - * Maximum of 6 pages; references do not count toward the page limit.
 - * 1 inch margins for all
 - * Double-spaced
 - * Times New Roman, 12-point

- Non-compliant papers will lose 1,500 points per formatting violation.
- You must use quotation marks and provide proper citations when you use exact words of another author. You also need to cite an author whose argument you summarize or paraphrase in your papers. Your papers must provide citations and a list of references for the sources of facts you use in them. Appropriate sources for papers will be discussed in class.

III. Side Quests (Various Points): Throughout the semester, you will have a variety of opportunities to increase your points by completing extra assignments. The maximum possible reward for completing each quest will not exceed 1,000 points. Note that side quests have due dates. You will not be able to complete a side quest after its due date.

GradeCraft™

We will be using GradeCraft to keep track of your course progress. I will design side quests and make them available through the learning management system. More to follow in the coming weeks...

Points to Letter Grade Conversion

I will not be rounding up any points at the end of the semester. An excellent way to score more points is to complete the side quests on time.

A: $\geq 94,000$

A-: $\geq 90,000$

B+: $\geq 87,000$

B: $\geq 84,000$

B-: $\geq 80,000$

C+: $\geq 77,000$

C: $\geq 74,000$

C-: $\geq 70,000$

D+: $\geq 67,000$

D: $\geq 64,000$

F: $< 64,000$

E-mail Etiquette

I have posted some useful resources on Canvas about how to write e-mails to professors. This is a valuable skill to have as you navigate through college and prepare for your career. Please include a subject. I prefer something like "[PSCI 4283]" followed by something indicative about the purpose of your e-mail. For instance, if you want to discuss classroom accommodation due to your disability, the subject of your e-mail can be "[PSCI 4283] Disability Accommodation and Extra Exam Time."

Do not e-mail me for the following reasons:

1. You missed a class session and want notes from me.
 - Instead, consult your classmates.
2. You are going to miss a class session and want to let me know.
 - Letting me know does not make a difference.
3. You missed a quiz and want a make-up quiz.
 - There is no make-up quiz. I would look into completing side quests to get more points!

Course Outline

Students are required to complete the reading assignments by the associated date. The following questions can help you digest dense historical information from the reading assignments. Note that some reading assignments are purely historical, but you can still fit the content of each reading into some of the following five questions.

- (1) Puzzle: What puzzle is guiding the research? What is the article trying to explain?
- (2) Literature Review: What makes the puzzle so puzzling? Why do we need to care about the puzzle?
- (3) Theory: What is the author's explanation? What explanation would make the puzzle not so puzzling anymore?
- (4) Research Design: If the explanation is correct, what else should we observe? How would we know if the explanation was wrong?
- (5) Evidence: Do we observe such phenomena?

Day 1 8/23 (Tuesday): Course Introduction

- Read the syllabus.

Day 2 8/25 (Thursday): Why study migration?

University Policies

Classroom Behavior

Both students and faculty are responsible for maintaining an appropriate learning environment in all instructional settings, whether in person, remote or online. Those who fail to adhere to such behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Professional courtesy and sensitivity are especially important with respect to individuals and topics dealing with race, color, national origin, sex, pregnancy, age, disability, creed, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, veteran status, political affiliation or political philosophy. For more information, see the classroom behavior policy, the Student Code of Conduct, and the Office of Institutional Equity and Compliance.

Requirements for COVID-19

As a matter of public health and safety, all members of the CU Boulder community and all visitors to campus must follow university, department and building requirements and all public health orders in place to reduce the risk of spreading infectious disease. CU Boulder currently requires COVID-19 vaccination and boosters for all faculty, staff and students. Students, faculty and staff must upload proof of vaccination and boosters or file for an exemption based on medical, ethical or moral grounds through the MyCUHealth portal.

The CU Boulder campus is currently mask-optional. However, if public health conditions change and masks are again required in classrooms, students who fail to adhere to masking requirements will be asked to leave class, and students who do not leave class when asked or who refuse to comply with these requirements will be referred to Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution. For more information, see the policy on classroom behavior and the Student Code of Conduct. If you require accommodation because a disability prevents you from fulfilling these safety measures, please follow the steps in the “Accommodation for Disabilities” statement on this syllabus.

If you feel ill and think you might have COVID-19, if you have tested positive for COVID-19, or if you are unvaccinated or partially vaccinated and have been in close contact with someone who has COVID-19, you should stay home and follow the further guidance of the Public Health Office (contacttracing@colorado.edu). If you are fully vaccinated and have been in close contact with someone who has COVID-19, you do not need to stay home; rather, you should self-monitor for symptoms and follow the further guidance of the Public Health Office (contacttracing@colorado.edu).

Accommodation for Disabilities

If you qualify for accommodations because of a disability, please submit your accommodation letter from Disability Services to your faculty member in a timely manner so that your needs can be addressed. Disability Services determines accommodations based on documented disabilities in the academic environment. Information on requesting accommodations is located on the Disability Services website. Contact Disability Services at 303-492-8671 or dsinfo@colorado.edu for further assistance. If you have a temporary medical condition, see Temporary Medical Conditions on the Disability Services website.

Preferred Student Names and Pronouns

CU Boulder recognizes that students' legal information doesn't always align with how they identify. Students may update their preferred names and pronouns via the student portal; those preferred names and pronouns are listed on instructors' class rosters. In the absence of such updates, the name that appears on the class roster is the student's legal name.

Honor Code

All students enrolled in a University of Colorado Boulder course are responsible for knowing and adhering to the Honor Code. Violations of the Honor Code may include, but are not limited to: plagiarism, cheating, fabrication, lying, bribery, threat, unauthorized access to academic materials, clicker fraud, submitting the same or similar work in more than one course without permission from all course instructors involved, and aiding academic dishonesty. All incidents of academic misconduct will be reported to Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution honor@colorado.edu; 303-492-5550). Students found responsible for violating the Honor Code will be assigned resolution outcomes from the Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution as well as be subject to academic sanctions from the faculty member. Additional information regarding the Honor Code academic integrity policy can be found on the Honor Code website.

Sexual Misconduct, Discrimination, Harassment and/or Related Retaliation

CU Boulder is committed to fostering an inclusive and welcoming learning, working, and living environment. University policy prohibits sexual misconduct (harassment, exploitation, and assault), intimate partner violence (dating or domestic violence), stalking, protected-class discrimination and harassment, and related retaliation by or against members of our community on- and off-campus. These behaviors harm individuals and our community. The Office of Institutional Equity and Compliance (OIEC) addresses these policies, and individuals who believe they have been subjected to misconduct can contact OIEC at 303-492-2127 or email cureport@colorado.edu. Information about university policies, , and support resources can be found on the OIEC website.

Please know that faculty and graduate instructors have a responsibility to inform OIEC when they are made aware of any issues related to these policies regardless of when or where they occurred to ensure that individuals impacted receive information about their rights, support resources, and resolution options. To learn more about reporting and support options for a variety of concerns, visit Don't Ignore It.

Religious Holidays

Campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to deal reasonably and fairly with all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled exams, assignments or required attendance. See the campus policy regarding religious observances for full details.
