

PSCI 2075-100 Quantitative Research Methods- Phillips

This main lecture in this course will be taught in a hybrid remote/online format. Lectures are pre-recorded to watch asynchronously. Much of this course involves working with software in small teams, which will be done remotely. Class days will likely be 'office-hour' style drop in sessions to assist with these small team projects. Recitation sections for this class either meet remotely or are in-person, depending on the section.
