2022 FACULTY AWARDS

Faculty Research Award
Dr. Joanna Arch

Dr. Arch's research program integrates her expertise in both health and clinical psychology to develop, test, and implement state-of-the-art interventions for anxiety, including in adult survivors of cancer and individuals with metastatic cancer. Dr. Arch designs these innovative and novel interventions so that they can be delivered in person, through self-guided online applications, or through telehealth. These innovations allow her to conduct cutting-edge research in laboratory and community settings with local practitioners and researchers around the world. Dr. Arch has published numerous, highly cited peer-reviewed research articles and book chapters, and she has multiple federal and foundation grants with total direct costs of over $7 million.

Faculty Teaching Award
Dr. Lauren Chun

Dr. Chun has only been teaching in the department since Fall 2021 and has already developed a reputation for offering compelling and innovative courses. Dr. Chun's teaching approach fosters engagement through high-effort educational practices and leading-edge pedagogical strategies that include active learning participation questions, the creation of an inclusive classroom culture, and metacognitive exercises. Enthusiastic student evaluations confirm that she is a passionate educator with a gift for making difficult material understandable and who values a positive and collaborative learning environment that allows students to think critically about the subject matter. Dr. Chun has also established a reputation as a trusted and supportive mentor for her students; she developed a Career Day to provide resources and information that is particularly helpful for first-generation students as they consider careers in neuroscience.

2022 FACULTY AWARDS

Faculty Service Award

Dr. Eva Pietri

Dr. Pietri has provided significant leadership service to the department. Dr. Pietri co-chaired the department's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) committee, providing much needed expertise and guidance in this important domain. Dr. Pietri also contributed her extensive DEI expertise to help faculty make their syllabi more inclusive through a workshop for the Society for the Teaching of Psychology. Dr. Pietri provides extensive reviewer service for grant proposals and journal articles and served as a consulting editor for multiple journals. Dr. Pietri provides significant leadership in the Society for Personality and Social Psychology and for researchers who study attitudes and social influence.

Department Lifetime Achievement Award

Dr. Tina Pittman Wagers

Teaching Professor of Distinction Tina Pittman

Wagers received her Master's degree in Social Work (1986) and PsyD in Clinical Psychology (1993) from the University of Denver and joined the CU faculty as Instructor in 2005.

We honor her more than 15 years of outstanding teaching and service, during which time she was promoted to Senior

Instructor in 2010, Teaching Professor in 2019, and Teaching Professor of Distinction in 2021. Professor Pittman Wagers has taught a large number of undergraduates over the years in a variety of courses, including Psychopathology and Abnormal Psychology, and she was instrumental in developing and subsequently teaching two new undergraduate courses, Women's Mental Health and Psychological Treatment. In addition, she has served as a clinical and practicum supervisor for graduate students in the Clinical Psychology program. She is the past recipient of the department's Teaching Award and co-recipient of CU Boulder's Dorothy Martin Faculty Award. Professor Pittman Wagers has also served on a variety of committees in the department, including chairing the department's Awards Committee and the Education with Inclusive Practices subcommittee of the department's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion committee, as well as serving as the master of ceremonies for the department's commencement for many years. In addition to the multiple roles she serves in the department, Professor Pittman Wagers has contributed in numerous ways to the Renée Crown Wellness Institute, most notably on the development of the Alma peer mentoring program for perinatal depression, one of the Institute's signature research programs.

CHARGE TO THE CLASS UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO PRESIDENT, GEORGE NORLIN, 1935

“You are now certified to the world at large as alumni of the university. She is your kindly mother and you her cherished sons and daughters. This exercise denotes not your severance from her, but your union with her. Commencement does not mean, as many wrongly think, the breaking of ties and the beginning of life apart. Rather, it marks your initiation in the fullest sense into the fellowship of the university, as bearers of her torch, as centers of her influence, as promoters of her spirit.

The university is not the campus, not the buildings on the campus, not the faculties, not the students of any one time -- not one of these or all of them. The university consists of all who come into and go forth from her halls, who are touched by her influence and who carry on her spirit. Wherever you go, the university goes with you.

Wherever you are at work, there is the university at work.

What the university purposes to be, what it must always strive to be, is represented on its seal, which is stamped on your diplomas -- a lamp in the hands of youth. If its light shines not in you and from you, how great is its darkness! But if it shines in you today, and in the thousands before you, who can measure its power? With hope and faith, I welcome you into the fellowship. I bid you farewell only in the sense that I pray you may fare well. You go forth but not from us.

We remain but not severed from you. God go with you and be with you and us.”

ACADEMIC ROBIN

The origins of academic dress date back to the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities were taking form. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric. Long gowns were worn against the cold of unheated buildings, and hoods probably served to cover the tonsured head.

In the United States, an Intercollegiate Commission made up of representatives of leading institutions met in 1895 to establish a suitable system of academic apparel. They adopted a code of academic dress that regulated the cut, style and materials of the gowns, as well as the colors which were to represent the different fields of learning. While there have been subsequent minor revisions to the code, it remains essentially unchanged:

White, taken from the white fur trimming of the Oxford and Cambridge B.A. hoods, was assigned to arts and letters.

Red, one of the traditional colors of the church, went to theology.

Green, the color of medieval herbs, was adopted for medicine, and olive, because it was so close to green, was given to pharmacy.

Golden yellow, standing for the wealth which scientific research has produced, was assigned to the sciences.

Perhaps the most outstanding part of the academic regalia is the hood. The length of the hood indicates the degree attained, with longer hoods for more advanced degrees. The lining of the hood has the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the hood's edging indicates the subject matter studied, such as medicine, philosophy, or business.

As you embark on the next stage of your life and your career, keep in mind the centuries of tradition underlying your achievements.

Psychology and Neuroscience

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO BOULDER

A special thank you to the members of the Department of Psychology & Neuroscience who generously gave their time and assistance in the planning and execution of this ceremony.

GradImages is the official photographer at this graduation ceremony. Individual photos will be taken of each graduate and general photographs of the graduates before and after the ceremony will be taken. Proofs will be available for online ordering 48 hours after the ceremony at: www.gradimages.com

To the parents, relatives, and friends of each graduate: Thank you for the love and support of your student that has contributed to their successful graduation from CU.
